NEAR TO DEATH FROM A FALL

Earl Brunt, Aged 14, Thrown to the Pavement From His Bycicle.

WAS PICKED UP FOR DEAD

SKULL FRACTURE FEARED

While enjoying a bicycle ride on Fifth street above Jackson street last evening between the hours of 8 and 9 Earl Brunt, aged 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wililam H. Brunt, of Fifth street, met with a most deplorable accident, and it is feared that his life hangs in the balance.

Just how the accident occurred the unfortunate boy has been unable to tell, but Carl Cripps, a companion, who had been riding with him and who was near at the time, states that a rock in the street turned the front wheel abruptly and threw both the boy and the wheel to the bricks very forcibly.

Passersby were attracted to the boy and found him lying motionless on his right side and in a cramped position. For the time being it was thought that he was dead, he being unconscious. However, he was carried into the residence of Charles Craft, and his father and three physicians, Drs. Hobbs, Laughlin and Harrison, were summoned. The physicians were at the boy's side in a short time, and immediately pronounced him not dead, but recommended that he be taken to his home in a carriage. This done, a more rigid examination was made, and it was found that he was hurt seriously.

Dr. Laughlin stated this morning that although the wound, which is located on the back of the boy's head near the ear, may not prove fatal, the fact is not by any means assured. If his skull is fractured his chances for recovery are meager. This cannot be ascertained for a few days, owing to the flesh being badly swollen and it being impossible to make the examination desired.

Through the night and today the sufferer rested as easily as could be expected, and if he undergoes no changes for the worse within the next 24 hours, it is thought that he will speedily recover.

Dr. Hobbs stated this afternoon that he had detected no fracture of the skull and that he had reason to believe that the boy would recover in a few days.

CARS RAN AWAY

BRAKEMAN STANDING ON TOP OF ONE AT THE TIME.

He Jumped And the Cars Dashed Wildly Down the Horn Switch.

Two freight cars, one loaded with clay, got away from the shifting crew of engine No. 693 this morning at 10 o'clock near the brewery and began a chase down the Horn switch. A brakeman was riding the cars down, but lost control on account of defective brakes. When he saw he could not stop the runaway cars he jumped for safety and escaped injury.

The cars continued on down the switch and at the junction of the switch and the main line of the C. & P., in the rear of the base ball grand stand, jumped the tracks, landing sideways across them. Traffic was blocked for a few hours until the wreck train from Wellsville arrived and succeeded in clearing away the wrecked cars. The loaded clay car was the worst smashed of the two, and the tracks were torn up to some extent.

BIDS FOR SEWERS

Received By the Commission and One of Them Accepted.

The sewer commission got together yesterday and disposed of the business which had accumulated during the past few weeks. The bids submitted on Tuesday for the sewering of Rural lane, Thompson avenue and Ravine street were carefully considered, but only one contract was awarded. J. N. George had the lowest bid on the Rural lane work, and was given the contract. Harrison Rinehart and Mr. George differed so little in their bids on the other streets that the commission decided to further consider both bids before letting the contract.

Petitions from the property owners along Green lane, East Seventh and West Market streets, asking that sewers be laid, were accepted, and the clerk ordered to present them to council with the recommendation that the work be done.

CLEVELAND ATTORNEY

TO BE ARRESTED ON RINEHART'S AFFIDAVIT.

Another Sensational Chapter in the Salineville Minister's Suit.

Constable P. E. Spires, of Wellsville, went to Cleveland this morning. He had in his possession a warrant for the arrest of C. R. Penney, a prominent Cleveland attorney, who is charged by Rev. E. W. Rinehart, of Salineville, with writing slanderous letters to members of the Disciples church, of which he was pastor. The reverend gentleman alleges the letters were written for the sole purpose of blackening his character and that of his wife. It is claimed Penney wrote a letter to Rodney Griffith, who has been arrested. Rinehart, it is said, blames Penney more than Griffith.

The trouble between Penney and Rinehart is said to date back to their youth, when both were lovers of one young woman. Before Dr. Rinehart removed to this part of the state, he was arrested, tried and acquitted on charges preferred by Penney.

The minister himself vouches for the motives of Penney in bringing dishonor on his name. Both Griffith and Rinehart have arranged to have a number of witnesses on hand at next Monday's trial.

Both Dr. Rinehart and Mr. Griffith were in Wellsville yesterday. Griffith stated that he had given out a statement for publication, but was making an effort to have it withdrawn, as he had since decided to say nothing of the matter. Dr. Rinehart arrived on the noon train from Salineville and at once repaired to the office of his attorney, where they held a consultation. He had nothing to say for publication.

Among the witnesses for the plaintiff are: Theodore Kellogg, Mary Moore, William Randolph, W. F. Morrow, John Elliott, William Hoopes, Mitchell Brown and many others.

BALL GAME AT OAK GROVE

The Tombstones Defeated the C. A. C. By a Score of 12 to 4.

The C. A. C. base ball team might have defeated the Tombstones at Oak Grove camp grounds last evening had it played as fast in the first part of the game as in the last inning. But it did not, and is now lamenting over the fact. The final score stood 12 to 4, and it is said that the former made all of its runs in the ninth when the Tombstones gave up trying to field the balls, owing to the near approach of darkness.

Errors were numerous on the defeated side and hits were plentiful on the victorious side. The batteries were: Jarvis and Cripps, Deitz and Firth.

A QUEER GENIUS

Came From Ravenna, and Caused no End of Amusement on the Streets.

Charles Keppler, of Ravenna, who has been in East Liverpool for the past two weeks, is a queer genius. He appeared on the streets with a gaudily decorated cap, and attracted great attention on the Diamond last night by appearing in a ladies' hat. He has been treating the girls to all the delicacies of the season and sending his money in a most careless, trifling way.

The boys treated him to a dose of goose pasture, and gave him a good time generally. He appeared well satisfied with his reception in the city on taking his departure last evening.

EXAMINING ENGINEERS

District Deputy Miller Questions Candidates for Licenses.

Elmer E. Miller, district state examiner of stationary engineers, with headquarters at Canton, was conducting his regular examination at the Metropole hotel, Wellsville, today. Engineers were present from Wellsville, East Liverpool and Salineville.

Among those who took the examination are: John A. Forner, Lewis H. Morse, George W. Wright, N. P. Kerr, N. F. Warden and Michael McNewell.

YOUNG WOMAN CAME HOME

And Although She Had not Been Within Seven Miles of a Smallpox Patient Neighbors Had Heard That She Had the Disease.

When Miss Mary Kline arrived in the city yesterday afternoon on the steamer Lorena and proceeded to her home in Dry Run, East End, a most exciting scene was witnessed. Hardly had she been seated under her parents' roof before the telephone bells were fiercely ringing and the wires were burning, a dozen or more making an attempt, all at the same time, to talk with Health Officer Burgess at the city hall.

The cause of the unusual proceedings was that, Miss Kline, while visiting at Friendly, W. Va., had written to her mother and told of a town nearby being afflicted with smallpox, and that she was afraid she would become a victim. The report was immediately circulated among the Dry Run neighbors, and of course when the young lady appeared in the vicinity all were up in arms. They wanted her arrested and placed in a pest house.

Officer Burgess went with all haste to the home and found that the girl had no symptoms of the disease and that she had not been within seven miles of the locality in which it is raging.

THE ELKS' CARNIVAL

PROPOSITION TO HOLD ONE FAVORABLY RECEIVED.

Lodge Discusses the Question and Will Decide It Later.

The proposition to have a carnival at Rock Springs park in September or some other time in the fall, was given its first consideration at a meeting of East Liverpool lodge, No. 258, B. P. O. E., last evening.

It is stated that while the main promoters of the idea were absent from the meeting the proposition was favorably received. At the next meeting, which will be held on Thursday of next week, it is likely some definite action will be taken regarding the carnival.

As it is known that the local lodge never does things by halves, if it decides to hold another carnival in the fall, it will be even better than the first and last one they held. The holding of a carnival means an immense amount of work, but as that is what some of the members are noted for, the carnival, if held, is an assured success.

TO CINCINNATI BY BOAT

Party of Glass Workers From Pennsylvania Here on a Pleasant Voyage.

A party of glass workers from Breckinridge, Pa., 20 miles up the Monongahela river, captained by Michael Haumer, arrived by houseboat at the wharf this morning. They are making a floating trip to Cincinnati, and have already been on the way two weeks.

The boat is cosily fitted up with berths and household furnitrue, and they have an organ on board. They will fish and hunt along the way. They are thoroughly enjoying the trip thus far.

HUSBAND MADE THREATS

And Also Struck Her, She Says, And Sues for a Divorce.

Lisbon, July 18. — (Special.) — Mrs. Jennie Croft, of Lisbon, has entered suit for divorce against Oliver Croft, of Wellsville. They were married in 1895. She claims that on June 17, 1901, he struck her, called her vile names and threatened to choke her to death.

Took a Fit on the Street.

An unknown man took a fainting fit near the Diamond fountain last night at 9 o'clock. A physician who happened to be in the vicinity attended him and brought him around all right. He was unconscious for a time. A big crowd was attracted to the scene.

SUIT FOR $344,000 OVER MINING LEASE

C. A. Smith Defendant in an Action For a Large Amount.

Their Claims as Presented In a Petition to Court—The Defendant Makes Denial of the Allegations.

Lisbon, July 18. — (Special.) — J. G. English, of Danville, Ill., and J. F. English, of Sumter, Ore., have filed suit in common pleas court against C. A. Smith, of East Liverpool and Pittsburg, for $343,907.12 damages. The plaintiffs allege in their petition that Smith took an option on 980,000 shares of the Golconda Mining company, of Sumter, Ore., and that he agreed to pay for the stock $400,000. When he took this option the company was reorganized in Smith's interest and he elected president.

The agreement was that Smith was to contribute to the mining company the sum of $3,500 per month for one year from January 29, 1901, to be used in sinking the shaft 100 feet deeper and otherwise developing the mine.

The plaintiffs' claims are that he sunk the shaft only 90 feet and left the mine in a greatly damaged and unsafe condition; that Smith used the receipts from the sale of gold to develop the mine instead of declaring a dividend and that he did not contribute $3,500 per month to the company; that he carried away assay certificates and machinery belonging to the company; that he never formally surrendered the option, but abandoned the mine on December 1, 1901, and that they took charge of the mine and declared the option at an end on March 5, 1902. They were put to much expense and were unable to sell the stock to as good advantage as they otherwise might and claim that they were damaged by Smith's failure to comply with the agreement.

Mr. Smith, on being interviewed, denied that the plaintiff had sustained any considerable damage and said that he had offered to reimburse them for their loss, but was unable to make a settlement.

SUDDEN INSANITY

Developed By a Well Known Wellsville Man in Pittsburg Yesterday.

W. A. Christy, who up to yesterday was employed in the department of maintenance of way in the C. & P. passenger station on Third street, Wellsville, went suddenly insane yesterday at Pittsburg, where he had evidently fled when the mania seized him.

Mr. Christy's home is in Cleveland. While in Wellsville he made many friends who highly respected him. He walked into the Pittsburg central police station yesterday and asked the authorities to protect him, as a score of men were seeking his life. The department of charities and correction furnished him transportation to Cleveland, and he arrived there this morning.

A DEMENTED GIRL

Arrested and Placed in Jail at New Cumberland—People Thought Her Dead.

Policeman Cameron arersted Maria Reynolds, demented girl from Penrith, below New Cumberland, who has become a nuisance on the street, and put her in jail. During the afternoon Maria went to sleep on a cot in one of the cells, and could not be aroused. People about the court house thought she was dead, as she seemed to be almost rigid.

Dr. Cramer was sent for and administered some remedies, and later Maria was restored to her usual energy and hilarity. It seems she had gotten hold of some opium or some kind of drug that put her into a sort of cataleptic state.

THE JAIL IS EMPTY

Duff Call Taken to Canton Workhouse—Gaskill's Fine Paid.

There was little doing around the city hall this morning. Every cell was empty and the mayor and other officials were enjoying themselves by the spinning of yarns. Officer McDermott left on the morning train for Canton in charge of Duff Call, who will visit the Stark county workhouse for several months. A friend of his appeared last evening and wanted to get him released by promising to pay 50 cents per day until the fine was eliminated, but it was thought best to give the young desperado a taste of soldier life.

Albert Gaskill, the young man who so brutally cut and beat James Johnston on Wednesday night, was spared the trip. His mother procured the $50 and costs and got his release.

WARRANTS ISSUED

PARK OFFICIALS CHARGED WITH SABBATH BREAKING.

Nowling's Orchestra Also Included. Interesting Case to Be Decided.

The warrants have been issued in the park cases. They are for Manager Smith, Supt. Maxwell, Ticket Seller Dorff and Collector Good, and Nowling's orchestra, the cases to be heard before 'Squire Johnston.

The warrants were sworn out based on the statutes of West Virginia, section 16 of the law against offenses against morality and decency, as: "If a person be found laboring on the Sabbath day, at any trade or calling, or has servants in other business, except of necessity, he shall be fined not less than $5 for each offense."

The cases will be heard in Squire Johnston's court tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

The warrants read "that one Roy Young et al., did unlawfully labor on the Sabbath day and not of necessity, etc."

RINEHART RELEASED

'Squire Johnston Dismissed the Suit Brought By J. S. Paulley.

John Rinehart through his attorneys, Brookes & Thompson, argued a motion before 'Squire Johnston in Chester this afternoon to quash the charge against him filed by J. S. Paulley, general manager of the bridge. Attorney Ingram argued the case for Paulley. Attorney Jason Brookes filed in his motion to dismiss because there was not enough in the charge to constitute a misdemeanor.

The case was dismissed this afternoon by Squire Johnston, the plaintiff, J. S. Paulley, not appearing to prosecute.

ABOUT TO BE SETTLED

Pottery Manufacturers' Dispute With Auditor Adams Likely to be Adjusted.

The dispute between the manufacturing potters of this city, at least a certain few, with the county auditor, bids fair to be settled in a very short time. Such was the information given out today, after a meeting of some of the manufacturers, held last evening. The proposed terms of settlement are not made known. It is said no cases will be presented to the courts.

The committee of manufacturers having this matter in charge is composed of W. E. Wells, H. N. Harker and W. L. Smith.

A LICENSE TO MARRY

Will Probably End John Prudence's Stay In Jail at Lisbon.

Lisbon, July 18. — (Special) — A license to marry has been granted to John Prudence and Nora Halfhill, both of East Liverpool. Prudence is confined to the county pail on a charge of a delicate nature, preferred by Miss Halfhill. An effort is being made by his father to have him released from jail and marry the girl.

Judge Hole will probably consent to the agreement if she will sign a release of the action and he can secure $12.65 to pay the costs.

WORTH OVER $1,000

Is the Appointment Received by Ex-Deputy Sheriff Lawrence Allison.

Lawrence Allison, formerly deputy sheriff of Columbiana county, has been appointed yard master at Dennison, on the main branch of the Panhandle, and assumes his new duties tomorrow. The position is worth over $1,000 per annum.

Appealed to Common Peas.

Lisbon, July 18. — (Special.) — Albert Dinerstein sued F. J. Livingston in the court of Justice Daniel McLane, of East Liverpool, for $12, claimed to be due for labor and was given judgment for $5. The defendant has appealed to common pleas court.

AN AWFUL FALL FROM WINDOW

Young Lady Walked in Her Sleep and Was Very Badly Hurt.

HER INJURIES ARE INTERNAL

SOMNAMBULIST FOR YEARS

Emma Morley, the 16-year-old daughter of Link Morley, brother of the late ex-Mayor Morley, who is employed as a kilnman in the Edwin M. Knowles pottery, of Chester, and who resides on Center alley in the rear of East Market street, had a frightful fall from the front window at her home last night at 12 o'clock.

Mr. Morley has lately moved from the East End to this city, occupying the home where the acident happened. He states his daughter has been subject to somnambulistic feats, and has a number of times been found by members of the family walking about the house in her sleep. Her feats have not particularly worried the family, but she has been watched to some extent for fear harm would befall her. On one occasion Emma arose in her sleep and performed the remarkable feat of lighting a lamp in her bed room before she was discovered and awakened by other members of the family. She has performed other similar feats, but has fortunately escaped injury thus far.

Last night she arose from her bed and walking to one of the front windows, climbed out on the window sill. From this perilous position she fell to the yard below, a distance of 12 feet, alighting on a chair, upsetting it. It is thought she was badly injured internally. Her screams not only attracted members of the family, but were heard by many on the streets, and soon a large number of people were attracted to the scene.

Dr. Ogden was hastily summoned and upon examination found that no bones had been broken, but he could not exactly determine the extent of her internal injuries at the time.

The father stated to a News Review reporter this morning that she was resting easily, and he hopes her injuries are not serious. She suffers quite a good deal from the effects of the fall, and complains of pain.

The father was first to reach her side and carried the almost unconscious form of the young girl into the house, where everything possible in the way of medical skill is being done to save the girl's life.

MUZZLE YOUR DOG

OTHERWISE THE POLICE WILL IMPOUND HIM.

Then, If the Owner Does Not Appear, the Animal Will Be Killed.

In accordance with a city ordinance providing for the care of the canine family during what is known as "dog days," the mayor issued an order to the police this morning which he states must be carried out to the letter. The order follows:

"It shall be the duty of the marshal, police and night watchman to take up and impound any dog found in the city limits between July 20 and October 10 that has not been properly muzzled. The officers shall keep the dogs for 48 hours, and if the owner does not pay all charges, the cost of muzzling the dog and a fee of $1, the officers shall kill the dog."

The police are desirous that owners of dogs will take heed to the warning, and thereby prevent strife, which generally accompanies the killing of dogs.

THIRTY DAYS SERVED

And Vann and Strousse Who Once Ran Away Are Now Free.

Lisbon, July 18. — (Special.) — H. C. Vann and James Strousse, who have been serving a 30-day sentence in jail for pocket-picking at Salem, were released today. They ran away some time ago and attempted to reach West Virginia. They were captured by Sheriff Leonard near Highlandtown.

TWO REVOLVERS DRAWN UPON HIM

Attorney W. H. Burgess Held Up in the Street and Forced to Fork Over.

WAS TAKEN BY SURPRISE

And Could Only Comply With the Request—Fifty Cents All the Highwayman Secured—Small Clue For Police to Work On.

A daring holdup of which Attorney W. H. Burgess was the victim and two unknown men the perpetrators occurred last night shortly before 12 o'clock on Fourth street a few doors above the postoffice.

Mr. Burgess, in reporting the matter to Chief Thompson, stated that he was walking down the street to his home, and after passing the Central school building he saw two men standing in the doorway of Rex & Dean's machine repair shop, but had no cause for alarm and walked without faltering toward them.

At a point nearly opposite them he was greatly surprised and more scared when one, the smaller of the pair, stepped out and, presenting a revolver, demanded a quarter. The accomplice chimed in and said: "No, we want a dollar."

Mr. Burgess admits that there was nothing else for him to do but put his hands up and let them have all that his purse contained, as by this time two revolvers were staring him in the face in a pleading manner.

Unhesitatingly, but with reluctance he allowed them to search his pockets. Fifty cents was all that they received for their boldness and trouble. After finding their attempt to become immensely rich in a moment's time had proved futile they gave Mr. Burgess orders to move on. He carried out the order in quick time.

Chief Thompson and the police are on the lookout for the highwaymen, but have little hope of capturing them, the description given being incomplete.

LOOKING FOR GOODMAN

Auditor of the Company He Worked For on the Man's Trail.

J. W. Elliott, of Columbus, who is traveling auditor for the Curmans' Mercantile establishments, went to New Cumberland and Toronto this morning to see if he could not apprehend James Goodman, whom, it is alleged, embezzled $173 worth of goods from the firm.

Mr. Elliott said that Goodman had been seen passing through Wellsville going south, by an officer of that city, driving a horse and wagon. The New Cumberland and Toronto authorities have been notified.

POTTERY TAX SUITS

Set For a Hearing Before Judge Hole on Monday, July 28.

Lisbon, July 18.—(Special)—Court will convene on Tuesday next, Judge Hole presiding. On Tuesday opinions wil be rendered on cases submitted.

On Monday, July 28, the suits of the various potteries of East Liverpool against County Auditor J. F. Adams on the proposed increase of personal taxes will be taken up.

Score 8 to 7.

The Imperials defeated the East Liverpool Athletics at Rock Springs park last evening in a well played game by a score of 8 to 7. Gray and Vaughn was the battery for the Athletics. Both teams are from East Liverpool.

EAST END

A Shut-Down of Ten Days at Sewer Pipe Works While Improvements Are Made.

The East End plant of the American Sewer Pipe company will close tomorrow evening for about 10 days. The plant has been in steady operation for quite a long time, and the coming shutdown will be the longest since the plant started under the new management. The cause of the temporary suspension is that a number of improvements are to be made at the works at an expense of fully $1,000. For this sum a good deal of repair work can be done, but no machinery will be purchased for the plant.

The clay elevators are to be extensively repaired, and also the grinding pans. The presses will be overhauled, and everything about the big plant that needs repairing will be looked after. A number of the kilns also will be repaired, floors of these being relaid, and in all the plant will be given a general overhauling. It will resume operations within two weeks and continue doing so until the new year. The quality of the pipe made at this plant is such that it is in general demand; in fact, more so than pipe made at other factories in the trust.

IN THE SQUIRE'S COURT

A Number of Small Suits Disposed of By Justice L. W. Carman.

Quite a lot of business was transacted in the court of Justice L. W. Carman yesterday afternoon. The case of Dr. R. J. Marshall against Mrs. Andrew Rattray for $94 and interest for services was heard, and judgment for $108.55 was given the plaintiff. In the case with the same plaintiff against R. J. Stenger, judgment for $119 with interest, all amounting to $136.85, was given.

In the case of Mrs. Maggie Azdell, of East Market street, against Miss A. Moore, for which judgment for $8.50 was given the plaintiff last Saturday, an appeal was taken to common pleas court yesterday, a bond for $50 being filed. It is alleged that the amount is due for boarding and lodging. The case was heard when the defendant was out of the city, but her attorney advised the court to render judgment and an appeal would be taken. This was done yesterday.

O. U. A. M. Installation.

The meeting held last evening by Ohio Valley council No. 23, O. U. A. M., at their hall on First avenue, was one of the most interesting held by that order for many months. The new officers elected last month were installed at this meeting by Deputy Lot Haney, and the work was of a public nature. A number of members from General Thomas council, of the city, were present at the meeting, after which an address was made by Rev. N. M. Crowe, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, a member of the order. Attorney A. H. Clark, chairman of the state committee upon laws and appeals of this order, was also present and made an address.

New Crossing to Be Built.

Measurements were taken this morning for a new railroad crossing which will be built to replace the one now in use at the intersection of the street railway and the Cleveland & Pittsburg road on Muiberry street. It seems that both companies have more trouble with this crossing than all the others which the street railway crosses.

EAST END AFFAIRS.

Mrs. Caroline White is planning a trip to East Palestine, where she will visit friends.

T. F. Anderson, of Pennsylvania avenue, was in Pittsburg today on business. He will return home this evening.

Miss Inez Howard, accompanied by her grandmother, Mrs. Field, left this morning for Chautauqua, where they will spend several months.

Mrs. Byron, of Adrian, Mich, accompanied by Mrs. Cal Smith, wife of ex-Postmaster Smith, of East Palestine, is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Stevenson, on Railroad street.

The services at the Second U. P. church Sunday morning and evening will be in charge of Rev. J. N. Swan, of the East End, for many years pastor of the Long's Run Presbyterian church.

VISITORS BEATEN BY A SINGLE RUN

Luck Was Against the Home Team Until Near End of the Game.

After nine innings of the hardest playing that they have engaged in during the season the locals walked from West End park yesterday afternoon with one more scalp under their belt.

Starting the game and continuing for six innings they were completely at the mercy of the Junctions—that famous aggregation from Pittsburg—the one that has downed every team in the Smoky City regions. But when the always lucky seventh arrived they made a wonderful spurt and did enough in the one inning to confuse the visitors to such an extent that victory was assured.

With the score standing 5 to 4 in favor of the visitors the eighth was opened and it ended with no change. Imagine the excitement which prevailed among the fans when in the ninth Davis, the first man up smashed one out for two bases and was closely followed by a single by Emmerling. The time was at hand. They must take advantage of the chance and that unflinchingly or the game was lost.

Maley tied the score and eased the minds of the enthusiasts when he made one of the prettiest bunts on record and allowed Davis to go sailing over the home plate. Maag gave them the same dose and advanced Maley to third base. Godwin ended all suspense by placing a high fly out in left field, Maley scoring on the throw in and thereby winning the game.

It seems that all of the bad luck floating around West End park centers on Godwin. He is undoubtedly one of the best players that ever entered a game with the local team, but fate seems to be against him in the most inopportune times. Had the game been lost yesterday he would have been credited with helping greatly in the defeat. It was in the sixth inning. Two men were out and the score stood very low—2 to 1. The third man up pounded out to him and he dropped it as though it were coated with Mount Pelee lava.

The crowd gave a sigh and commenced making excuses for the general favorite. What could they amount to when the visitors jumped on another one and finally succeeded in scoring two runs? It really looked bad, and all were about disgusted. Enthusiasm was revived immediately in the following inning when Godwin jumped sideways and while on the jump reached up and pulled down a swift one with his left hand. Every one was again in the game and from that on the excitement was intense.

Every game adds laurels to the crown of Maag, the chunky find from Canton. His skill in reaching first base cannot be excelled. In some way he gets there. He either walks, gets hit or makes a hit. To him is due the credit for the three runs made in the seventh inning. The majority of the men were out when he came to bat. Two men were on bases, and in using his judgment he, in a deceiving manner, allowed the ball to hit his arm. Of course, he walked and filled the bases. The rest was easy.

Webb came very near losing his reputations by making a rank error on second. He redeemed himself in a few minutes by taking part in a very clever double play.

Maley did pretty good work, but he has done much better. It probably can be accounted for as the result of his strenuous work while out on the trip.

If it were not for the fact that Berry almost holds the record for put outs, and that he is admired by all even those on contesting teams, he would have been severely censured for a bit of poor judgment in the ninth inning when he held Davis on third and would not allow him to try to make home. Davis could easily have done so, but Berry did not think so and innocently made him stick to the base.

The Legend of Roquefort Cheese.

Roquefort cheese, like many other unique food productions, has its legend of accidental origin. A shepherd lad, having for once more luncheon than he could eat, while tending his flock of sheep, laid a large portion of his bread and cheese upon a natural shelf in one of the caverns nearby. Boylike, he forgot all about it until several months later on returning to that cavern he found his luncheon. The cheese, instead of being dried up or rotten, was rich, moist and creamy and streaked with greenish blue veins of mold, the remains of the bread which had lain on or under it. He probably told his mother of his discovery and shared his piece of cheese with others. The villagers were quick to recognize the improved texture and quality of the cheese, and henceforth all their cheeses were taken to these caves to ripen.

The caves are owned by a joint stock company, who employ about six hundred women to tend the cheese. Oak shelves on which the cheeses are placed and so arranged that each cheese may have one side next the cold wall of the cave give over 65,000 square yards of storing room.

One of Oswald's Jokes.

When a play written by a man who had roused Oswald's anger by reading a newspaper at a wedding of one of his friends was produced, he prevented its success by inducing 250 of his friends to attend it carrying great books. These young men, who occupied prominent seats, read their books while the performance was going on, and whenever there was any applause each one of them, as if moved by clockwork, turned over a leaf. The rustling of the leaves and the spectacle of the men absorbed in reading made the performance a complete failure.

A Hint on Spanking.

Father (to the seven-year-old son beside him in the dog cart, cutting the whip sharply through the air)—See, Tommy, how I make the horse go faster without striking him at all.

Tommy (in an eager tone of happy discovery)—Papa, why don't you spank us children that way?—New York World.

Octopus For Dinner.

Octopuses are pretty plentiful in Japanese waters and have been known to attack fishermen in their boats. When this hideous monster assumes the aggressive, the only chance the fishermen have is to lop off the tentacles of the beast. Failing this, the boat may be upset and the men dragged under. The octopus is highly valued in Japan as an article of food.

The Explanation.

Knox—I sat down in my easy chair last night and picked up that new novel of Scribbler's and I didn't get to bed until 4 this morning.

Cox—The idea! Why, I thought it awfully tiresome.

Knox—Exactly! It was nearly 4 o'clock when I woke up in my chair.

Only Jar of Its Kind.

Horace Walpole told a lively story of an old porcelain vender who had an exceedingly rare and valuable jar on which he set an almost fabulous price. One hot summer a slight volcanic shock, such as the British occasionally experience, jogged his house about his ears and split his porcelain vase. To an ordinary mind the accident would have been calamitous, but the china seller rose superior to fortune. He doubled the price of the article immediately and advertised it as "the only jar in the world which had been cracked by an earthquake." Nothing very slow about that; whether he got his money is not added, but certainly he deserved it.

The Cossack's Whip.

People who are unacquainted with Russia and who read of street disturbances being suppressed by the Cossacks with their whips have little idea of what formidable weapons these are. Made of hard leather and tapering to a fine point, they are triangular in shape, and the Cossack who knows how to bring the edge down upon his victim can inflict a wound that is not infrequently fatal. A favorite stroke is one by which the eye and a portion of the cheek are cut.

French Beards.

M. Maxime du Camp says in "Souvenirs Litteraires" that after the revolution of July, in 1830, the politics of Frenchmen were known by their beards. Supporters of Louis Philippe wore "mutton chop" whiskers, Bonapartists had mustaches and imperials, Republicans did not shave at all, and Legitimists wore their beards like a collar, with shaved lips and chin.

TRAINING OF HORSES

CAREFUL HANDLING TO FIT THEM FOR CIRCUS TRICKS.

The Candidate For Ring Honors Must Have Special Points Well Developed—Horses Can Be Coaxed, Like a Child, but Not Forced.

"A trainer must possess two qualifications before he can successfully educate a horse to do the tricks seen in a circus—he must possess kindness and perseverance.

"A veteran trainer selects his horses with as much care as a society woman plans a party gown. The candidate for the future applause of the circus going people of the world must be handsome in color, as near perfect as possible in conformation and possess an even temperament. His eyes must be large and devoid of the least trace of viciousness, he must hold his ears pointed slightly forward, and he must have a sensible looking head, broad between the eyes. Horses that lay back their ears at the approach of a man, who nip viciously at every passerby and whose eyes plainly demonstrate a mean disposition are discarded. A trainer will handle no animal of this kind.

"Once the candidate is selected he is shipped to the winter quarters of the circus and assigned to a comfortable stall in a large, clean, well ventilated barn tenanted by several hundred beauties of his kind. Good hay and oats are his in abundance, and for several days he is allowed to rest and become familiar with his surroundings. The trainer visits him daily and by speaking kindly and occasionally giving the animal a bit of sugar gains his confidence. After a time the horse begins to whinny at the approach of the trainer, and the bond of friendship is thus quickly cemented.

"Then comes the first lesson. The candidate is introduced to the training ring constructed near the barn and allowed to wander about at will. He smells the sawdust, the pedestals and the harness and ropes that will soon be buckled about his body and then, horselike, lies down in the center of the ring and enjoys a good roll.

"Next day he is led around and around the ring for several hours and soon understands that he is expected to encircle the ring of his own accord. Then a strap is placed around his right foreleg, and from this strap a rope is run through harness fastened around his body. The trainer grasps the free end of the rope in one hand and a pair of lines attached to the horse's bridle in the other. The animal is told to 'get up,' and after the ring is encircled a few times the command 'whoa' is given. If the horse refuses to obey, a quick pull on the rope draws his leg from under him, and he is forced to stop. Only a few demonstrations of this kind are necessary to show the horse that he must stop when the command is given.

"After these preliminaries are satisfactorily accomplished the equine pupil is taught to kneel first on one knee, then on the other and finally on both. All this is accomplished by drawing up the front legs, one at a time, thus forcing him down. His knees are padded to prevent injury, and every time he is forced down the command to kneel is given, and the animal is petted and reassured with kind words until finally he kneels at the word.

"It is in these preliminary lessons that a good performer is made or spoiled. The instructor must be firm and resolute, but kind, always kind. A horse is like a child; you may coax him, but you can't force without spoiling his disposition. The animal quickly notices any show of ill temper or roughness on the part of the instructor and resents it by becoming balky and obstinate. Blows or harsh punishment only make him worse. You frequently hear people assert that animals are beaten into submission in teaching them tricks. People who say this never saw the inside of the training quarters of a modern circus. A horse or any other animal conquered in this way is never reliable and is apt to spoil a performance by an outbreak of bad temper, besides being dangerous to handle.

"The next lesson for the horse is the art of lying down and remaining motionless until the word is given to rise. This information is imparted to the horse in a manner similar to the kneeling lesson. An ingenious harness makes it possible for the trainer to draw the horse down on a soft bed of hay without injuring him. When the horse willingly lies down at the word of command, he is taught to sit upon his haunches and then is gradually drilled into the other tricks that always draw applause from children and adults alike.

"It is usually an easy matter to teach a horse to stand upon a pedestal, to waltz, rear on his hind legs and march in unison with equine companions after these simple lessons are thoroughly learned and the horse understands the trainer is his friend and not his enemy. The horse of average intelligence learns quickly as soon as he realizes what is required of him. The main requisite on the trainer's part is patience, and if a man hasn't got this, and lots of it, he had better keep out of the business. If he gets excited or impatient and goes to hauling the horse about unnecessarily, the animal is sure to become uneasy and fretful, and a little experience of this kind will spoil him.

"The better bred a horse is the more intelligence it has and the more apt it is to make a good performer, provided it has been handled properly from colthood. All high bred horses, however are nervous and require kind treatment in order to insure good results."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

MACARTHUR'S NEW POST.

New Commander of Department of the East Has Brilliant Record.

General Arthur MacArthur, who will succeed General Brooks as commander of the department of the east, with headquarters at Governors island, New York harbor, has been in command of the department of the lakes at Chicago since last March. General Brooke reaches the age limit on July 7 and retires after forty-one years' consecutive service in the army.

General MacArthur is a volunteer soldier. He entered the service in the early days of the civil war as first lieutenant and adjutant of the Twenty-fourth Wisconsin infantry, which was recruited in the vicinity of Milwaukee, where his boyhood days were spent.

When young MacArthur's friends asked Governor Larabee of Wisconsin

to commission him as a lieutenant of the Twenty-fourth, the governor hesitated because he thought "a schoolboy should not be sent to the front." The applicant for the commission was then but seventeen years old. He got the position, however, and soon proved that he was made of fighting stuff.

Before he was nineteen he was a major, and it is said that General Grant would have recommended him for a brigadier generalship after the battle of Missionary Ridge except for his extreme youth.

For gallant action at Missionary Ridge MacArthur was awarded a medal of honor. He was struck down at the battle of Franklin, but a package of letters in his breast prevented the bullet entering his body.

After the battle of Franklin the Twenty-fourth Wisconsin was in command of young MacArthur, who had been promoted to be lieutenant colonel. He led the regiment until it was mustered out in 1865.

Young MacArthur entered the regular army the following year as a lieutenant. He was soon promoted and became the youngest captain in the service.

At the outbreak of the Spanish war MacArthur was a lieutenant colonel. He was appointed a brigadier general of volunteers and was sent to Manila with the first detachment of troops. His brilliant service in the Philippines is of too recent date to need rehearsal.

General MacArthur is now fifty-seven and has seven years of active service ahead of him before he will be retired under the age limit. In that time he is likely to achieve the highest command in the United States army.

Germany's Woods.

With the single exception of Norway there is no land in Europe whose area is so taken up by forests as Germany, more than a quarter of its surface being devoted to them.

LOSES ROYAL CROWN.

Only American Woman to Occupy a Throne Is Divorced.

Princess Alice of Monaco, from whom Prince Albert of Monaco has just secured a limited divorce, was formerly Miss Heine of New Orleans. Only a limited divorce was granted, because the prince is a Catholic and could not ask for an absolute decree.

The Princess Alice of Monaco and Monte Carlo, who may be said to be the only American woman who has really occupied a throne, was originally Miss Mary Alice Heine, the daughter of a New Orleans Hebrew banker.

Twenty-seven years ago, while visiting Paris, she became the wife of Duc Richelieu d'Aiguillon et Fronsa. After six years of life with the Frenchman, who claimed direct descent from the famous cardinal's sister, she was left a widow. In 1891 she became the wife of the Prince of Monaco.

Cows Worse Than Bulls.

It is said that the Spanish bullfighter refuses to face a cow, as being so much more dangerous. A bull makes a blind rush at his assailant, and this a little knowledge and experience will soon enable an active man to avoid, but a cow fences with her horns with a skill and quickness unexpected in such an apparently clumsy animal, and a man must be active indeed who can avoid the repeated attacks of an angry cow.

The bull, in a state of nature, fights to obtain the mastery of the herd and not to kill, but the cow only to protect her offspring, and, in her case, there is no quarter given. It would not be to the advantage of the herd that the bulls should kill each other in determining which was the stronger, and therefore they do not use their horns as lethal weapons, but it is, on the other hand, greatly to the advantage of the calves, and so of the future of the herd, that all enemies that dare to attack them should be slain.

Overstated.

In a well known Lancashire town there resides a man who is about as careful of a shilling or two as a man can well be and appear anything like decent. He is in business, in comfortable circumstances, and, being thrifty, honest and industrious, he was considered quite the most eligible bachelor of the neighborhood notwithstanding his painful exactness in matters financial. He finally married a widow worth in her own right some £15,000, and shortly after the ceremony an old friend met him.

"Allow me," he said, "to congratulate you. Your wedding was worth a clear £15,000 to you."

"No," he replied; "not quite so much."

"Indeed! I thought there was every penny of £15,000 in it."

"Oh, no," said the Benedict; "I had to pay £2 12s. 6d. for the marriage license!"—London Answers.

Commenting on the improved conditions of wage-earners in woolen mills a census bureau bulletin says that there has been a gradual evolution. After picturing the old condition, it says of the new conditions: "The rooms are large, lofty, well ventilated and lighted, and heated by steam. Electric lights make good the absence of daylight when required. The hours of labor have even been reduced to sixty per week, and in several instances to a smaller number. Wages are generally paid in cash, usually either every week or once in two weeks, and factory inspection laws prevent, to a great extent, the employment of children under 14 years of age, and insure the best sanitary conditions." These statements apply to American factories in general. Imperfect sanitary arrangements are now intolerable, both to manufacturers and men. There has been a veritable revolution in conditions in the last few years. It has also been learned that cheerfulness, light and healthy surroundings contribute to more and better work. Under the wise system of inspection now rigidly enforced in almost every manufacturing center death-traps for human beings ought speedily to become things of the past.

Minister Wu is a shrewd observer and has a happy faculty of expressing himself. Speaking of the American people and the qualities that make them great he said the other day: "You have no governing class. Men go about their business for years. Suddenly an emergency arises. You want a president, an ambassador, a lawyer to appear before some great international tribunal. You have no class trained and selected for such occupations. But the people always get the man they want and he performs his duty well. I imagine this adaptiveness of the American springs from the almost universal diffusion of education.' It isn't all education, Mr. Wu; that rare possession known as common sense is more abundant than most people think. That and honesty and fixedness of purpose fit a man for any emergency and almost any position he is likely to be called upon to fill.

All that poetry and romance have woven about the "army blue" is to become but ancient history. The new color of the American uniform is officially described as "olive drab." It is not quite yellow, not exactly brown, nor yet a green, but a mixture of all three. There is not that halo of heroism and romance about the boys in olive drab that there is about the "boys in blue," but give our soldiers time and they will give such associations to the new uniform color.

Professors have arisen to remark that Shakespeare's poems are not Shakespeare's; that Columbus did not discover America and that George Washington never owned a hatchet. Now comes a learned man from Harvard who wants to prove that the Monroe doctrine was not invented by Monroe and was not comprehended by him. It is a difficult matter for college professors to attract public attention, but some of them accomplish it.

General Edward S. Bragg, United States consul general at Cuba, has been saying uncomplimentary things about the Cubans. Democratic generals have an unfortunate habit of talking when silence would be more becoming.

Dr. Wiley, chief chemist of the agricultural department, wants about a dozen men to eat adulterated food products and see what effect it will have on them. Why not "try it on the dog?" There are scores of healthy curs in East Liverpool that might be made useful in this way. It is their only possible chance of usefulness.

In the canal treaty to be drawn between this country and Colombia will be incorporated provisions giving the United States rights to coaling stations in Colombian territory, probably one on the Atlantic coast and one on the Pacific. This is a matter next in importance to the canal rights themselves.

It is welcome news that there is to be no strike of soft coal miners. One miners' strike at a time is more than enough.

Bandit Tracy will not come east to lecture, that is one consolation.

William Waggle.

William Waggle, aged about 80 years, died at the home of his son in Summit lane at 8:30 o'clock last evening of paralysis, he suffering a severe stroke a week ago last Monday. The funeral services will be held at his late home tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, interment at Riverview cemetery. Mr. Waggle was well known in this city, having came here from Pennsylvania about six or seven years ago. He was born at Shippingport, Pa., and was also well known through Beaver county. For many years he followed the trade of shoemaking, but of recent years he has labored none.

James Normile.

James Normile, who has been on the retired list of old employes of the C. & P. railroad for several years, died at his home at Smith's Ferry this afternoon at about 1 o'clock. He had been ill for some time, and death was caused by old age. Mr. Normile was employed for many years as section foreman between Smith Ferry and Industry, and was one of the best known railroad men in this section. He has resided in Smith's Ferry for many years, and was quite well to do. The arrangements for the funeral have not been completed.

Melvin Jones.

Melvin, the two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Jones, of Thompson park, died last evening of pneumonia, with which he had been ailing for some time. The funeral services will be held at the home of his parents tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock, interment at Riverview cemetery. The funeral services will be in charge of Rev. J. H. Mason, of the African Methodist Episcopal church.

Both Twins Dead.

The second twin child of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Savage, of Avondale street, died last evening, aged two days. The first of the twins died Wednesday. The funeral service was held this afternoon. Interment at St. Aloysius cemetery.

WITH THE WORKMEN IN THE CLAY PLANTS

The announcement in this paper last evening of the fact that the committee from the Manufacturing Potters' association had secured a lower freight rate from this city to the south was read with interest both by manufacturers and also by operatives. It is of just as much interest to the operatives to have the freight rates reduced from this city as to the manufacturers. Increased orders from the south will result, increasing the output of the local potteries. Not many years ago the rate to the south was much lower than even that which was secured at the Chicago conference. A rate of 49 cents per hundred was in force from this city to the south, and the rate at present is quoted at 70 cents. If a rate of 50 cents could ce secured it would be a wonderful benefit.

A meeting of a committee composed of manufacturers from the association and a committee representing local union No. 9 will be held tonight for the purpose of trying to settle the dispute which has been on for many months relative to the biscuit kilnmen placing flat ware in the first ring in the kiln. The glost kilnmen are paid something extra for this work, and the biscuit kilnmen desire to have the same favor extended. It was decided at the last conference that this dispute should be settled by a joint conference, and now the time for the first session has arrived. Two of the members of the kilnmen's committee are George Smith and Richard Herbert.

William Henderson, of Wellsville, for several years connected with the sewer pipe industry of this section, but more recently affiliated with the management of the East End plant of the American Sewer Pipe company, has been made general manager of the plant by the Pittsburg office. This appointment was made several days ago when some of the officials of the company were in the city, and after the resignation of T. F. Anderson had been presented to the Pittsburg officials.

While there are many frame-fillers walking the streets, yet the saggermakers throughout the city claim they are unable to secure the proper help. A well known saggermaker said today that when a frame-filler had worked at the business for about six months, he is of the opinion that he is as good a saggermaker as any in the business. While he can secure a position as frame filler he refuses to work at any other trade than that of making saggers, or to take charge of a shop. That is why so many of the saggermakers are in need of frame-fillers. Some saggermakers in this city have sent to other towns for frame fillers.

John W. Hall was in Rogers yesterday looking after his interests in the National Furnace Brick company. He says that the plant has been operated steadily since its erection last year.

On Tuesday at Trenton the following important papers were issued: Spear & Mincke Pottery company; registered office, Millville; capital stock, $125,000; corporators, John N. Martin, T. Wilmer Gainson and John F. Mincke, of Millville.

Horatio Wareham, 54 years old, is dead at his home 29 Klagg avenue, Trenton, after an illness of about a week. He was a potter and was employed at the Morris & Willmore pottery. Mr. Wareham leaves a widow and five daughters.

Pittsburg capitalists have purchased this week near New Castle Junction 300 acres of land, and will found a new town called Movaria. A big steel mill will be one of the features as well as a pottery.

The sanitary pressers' union No. 45, N. B. of O. P., at a meeting at Trenton, decided to support only those political parties who have the referendum clause attached to their platforms.

The new Myers Clay Manufacturing company's new sewer pipe works at Toronto are nearly ready for roofing. The boiler and power house is complete.

The Taylor, Smith & Taylor is putting out seven car loads of ware this week. Four of them are bulk ware.

Michael Malone, a kilnhand at the Taylor, Smith & Taylor, has returned from a visiti to Trenton, N. J.

Nick Ferran, a saggermaker at the Laughlin No. 2, has been ill for several days and unable to work.

Charles Shenkle, a dishmaker at C. C. Thompson's, has returned from an extended visit to Canton.

Jack Davis is the name of a new frame-filler at Laughlin No. 3. He is filling for Jeff Green.

Sheridan Culp, a kiln hand at the Taylor, Smith & Taylor, is off duty because of illness.

WELLSVILLE

RAFAELLO'S RINGS

The Cause of Perplexity And a Suit Before the Mayor of Wellsville.

City officials are studying the Italian tongue and Mayor Fogo is having a peck of trouble with an Italian family named Buckley, living on Twelfth street. At the head of the household is J. E. Buckley, and he is the cause of the trouble. His brother, who is not yet one of Uncle Sam's citizens, and whose name is Rignor Raffaello Bucklino, came over from Italy a few years ago to join his brother of this city.

Not being blessed with the necessary lirae, his passage was paid by his brother, and to him Raffaello is also indebted for one month's board. He gave his brother two rings as a token of affection and light-hearted and happy, started out to hunt for work, leaving memories of passage money and board bills behind.

But work was scarce, and there was trouble for the Italian when he returned to Wellsville. He demanded his rings, but fraternal relations had no weight with Buckley, who refused to give them up until the board bill was paid. Raffaello appeared and charged Mary Buckley, his sister-in-law, with having $3.25, American money, which belonged to him, and also with having those rings.

Mayor Fogo sent Buckley, who came to city hall last night, smiling and innocent.

"What do you know about those rings?" was asked him. Buckley replied in broken English that he had given them away for luck. When queried further Buckley stated that a man whom he knew had promised to bring him good luck all his days for one of the rings, while the other had been sent to Italy for the same purpose. Raffaello placed a value of $5 each on the pieces of jewelry and wants $10 worth of justice. Mayor Fogo has doubts that the medicine man was a reality.

The whole bunch will appear in the mayor's court this morning at 7 o'clock, and the city officials will endeavor to straighten out the trouble with the aid of interpreters and a Latin dictionary.

THE SEWER DISPUTE

Designer of the System to Settle Difficulties With the Contractor.

H. E. Riggs, of Toledo, the man who designed the plans for the city's sewer system, is in Wellsville on business. Contractor Irwin and the city became involved in a difficulty over the payment of the money due, and it was said that the specifications had not been followed out. Mr. Riggs was summoned from Toledo to help unravel the trouble, and believes that after another day's conference, the matter can be adjusted to the satisfaction of all parties. Mr. Riggs went over the plans and a conference will be held today at the office of City Solicitor Boyd, and a conclusion will doubtless be reached between the contractor and the city.

Mr. Riggs is an authority on sewer matters. He stated last evening that, barring a few features that will soon be rectified, the city can boast of as good sewerage as can be found in the state of Ohio.

A PUBLIC DUMP

Mayor Fogo Considers It One of the City's Needs.

Mayor Fogo is strongly impressed with the need of a dumping ground for trash of all kinds in Wellsville, and gives out some strong arguments in favor of such a place. It is quite probable that he will see his wishes carried out.

He has his eyes on a suitable tract of ground in the West End, between the railroad and river bank. The surrounding sand is unsuitable for business or building purposes and as a residence district is not to be thought of. A place where trash, street sweepings and refuse of all kinds may be conveniently consigned is a necessity.

"We have issued notice after notice," said Mayor Fogo to a reporter, "calling on the citizens to have a general cleaning up, and all the time the city had provided no place where trash could be disposed of."

A CONCLUSION REACHED

Regarding Paving Work, But Committee Keeps It Secret.

The second meeting of the citizens' and council committee was held in the city hall last night. As at the previous meeting the session was executive and no one, save Engineer Leith and Solicitor Boyd, entered the star chamber.

That important discussions were held was evidenced by snatches of conversation that were heard from time to time. Wellsville is certainly in difficulty over the paving matter, and the necessity of decided and united action was manifest to every member of the committee.

"Oh, yes, we came to a conclusion," was the remark of Secretary Julius Goetz, immediately after the committee adjourned.

When asked for fuller particulars, Mr. Goetz said: "As to anything further I feel that I am not at liberty to say."

He said that the members of the committee had thought it best to keep the matter quiet until the report to council. Whatever the report the mere fact that so large a number of representative property owners could and did come to one conclusion should have decided weight with the city council at the next meeting.

BOARD OF HEALTH

Takes Action Upon a Number of Important Matters.

The board of health meeting last night was an interesting one. Numerous complaints were heard. It was decided to urge council to replace the sewer on Fifteenth street up to Twelfth street with first grade pipe, while the lateral sewer down Thirteenth, Fourteenth and Fifteenth streets should be removed entirely.

The garbage furnace question was discussed, but no action taken. It was recommended that action be taken to remove stagnant water from the fair ground addition.

Bound For the Workhouse.

A gang of prisoners who had been sentenced to the Canton workhouse, were in the city between train times this morning. They were on their way to Canton, were all handcuffed and were a forbidding-looking set.

ALL WORK HAS STOPPED

Improvement on Wellsville's City Streets Now at a Standstill.

All paving work in Wellsville has been called off and not a man is at work on the streets. The citizens' and councilmen's committee did not give publicity to their meeting, but the main things which were done leaked out.

A cessation of work must have been decided on, for today orders were issued from some unknown source for all work to stop. All municipal undertakings out of routine lines will be tied up, hundreds of men thrown out of employment.

Mrs. Clark Dangerously Ill.

Rev. C. E. Clark, pastor of the First M. E. church, received the saddening news this morning that his wife was at death's door. He received a telegram about 10 o'clock anouncing the fact, and left immediately for the bedside. Mrs. Clark is at Saranac lake in the Adarondack mountains for her health. Rev. Mr. Clark recently returned from there.

NOTES AND NOTIONS

A VARIETY OF TALES PICKED UP ABOUT TOWN.

Opinions And Observations of Interest As Noted By News Review Reporters.

What might have been a terrible fight was averted by one man's coolness the other night at the corner of Cook and Broadway. Officer McDermott, while not on duty, was at the depot in readiness to leave for a few days' visit out of the city, when he heard a loud noise on the corner designated and he immediately repaired to the spot. He found a large crowd of men entering into a dispute which undoubtedly would have ended in a fierce quarrel. Part of the men were tin mill workers from Chester and the others were local pottery employes. One crowd was making a rush at the other when the officer interfered and ordered the men to disperse. The gang from Chester did not recognize the protector of the peace and told him to move on or they would give him all that he was looking for. He began to think that he was "in for it." Then some one mentioned his name. That was sufficient. The Chesterites jumped aboard the next car and made their way home.

A trick pony is being kept by Doc McFarland at his stable on Sixth street. The pony is capable of about a hundred slick tricks. The other day Doc left him in the stable, locking the stable door and the stall door. The pony opened the stall door and stable door, sauntered leisurely about, and finally went out on Sixth street to view the sights and was especially attracted by the operation of the street cars. To see how the old things worked, he got in front of an approaching car and was taking in the method of propulsion so intently that he would not leave the track. The motorman was finally compelled to get out and oust him from the track. This was about the time the doctor found his charge. The pony looked quite sheepish when he was taken to the stable. The doctor says he can open almost any fastening and he has to watch him constantly for fear he will get out and be arrested for his numerous pranks.

A long distance fight, the sort for which East Liverpool is noted, occurred the other evening on Fourth street, near the alley leading up past the Presbyterian church. The participants are not known, but their peculiar way of scrapping was witnessed by a large crowd. They started when ten feet apart, and during the entire squabble never got closer together. One would call the other a vile name, and to it a similar name would be responded. This was continued until the heated and much angered men lost their power of speech.

The spectattors say the most comical part of the occurrence was when one of the men would start toward the other a short distance. As he would soon get tired and turn on his follower, the latter would immediately begin to retreat.

Not Very Smart.

"There's no use in trying to make me believe that Francis Bacon was a very smart man," said Senator Sorghum.

"Have you read any of his works?"

"No, but his biography shows that when there was a little financial deal on hand he wasn't clever enough to keep from getting caught."—Washington Star.

ENCAMPMENT ENDS TODAY.

Pennsylvania Guard May Be Away Tomorrow Afternoon—Review Yesterday—Root Expected Today.

Gettysburg, July 18.—Yesterday was "Governor's day" at Camp Meade, and it passed into history as the most successful in the annals of national guard encampments in this state. Nearly 10,000 soldiers passed in review of the commander-in-chief on the very ground where Pickett made his famous charge 39 years ago. The review took place at 5 p. m.

The troops were arranged in two long lines. In the first line were the Third and Second brigades, and the second line was composed of the First brigade, the Fourth corps of cavalry and the three batteries of artillery. The two troops of cavalry and the field battery of artillery of the United States army also participated in the review. Before the march began Governor Stone and staff rode along the line, the trip taking nearly an hour. After this the governor and his staff returned to the center of the field and the march began.

Adjutant General Stewart rode a horse for the first time yesterday since the accident to his leg last year. The homeward movement of the troops will begin this afternoon, and it is expected they will all be gone at 3 p. m. Saturday. Secretary of War Root and a number of United States army officials will visit the camp today.

MONUMENT TO CONFEDERATES.

One Dedicated on Valley Mountain, Near Elkins, W. Va.—Bishop Peterkin Orator.

Elkins, W. Va., July 18.—A Confederate veterans' monument was dedicated yesterday on top of Valley mountain, near here, in memory of southern soldiers who fell at the lonely spot. There was an immense parade, several thousand people being present. The money for the monument was raised chiefly by a number of wealthy English residents of Mingo Flats, W. Va. Bishop Peterkin, of the Episcopal diocese of West Virginia, was the orator of the day.

During the Civil War a half dozen or so of Confederates were killed in the skirmishes there and were buried in a lonely spot on top of the mountain, far away from any human habitation. The monument is not an imposing marble shaft, but is a plain slab of native West Virginia stone, nicely engraved and finished by an old Confederate veteran of Randolph county.

GOLD FOUND IN OHIO.

Discovered In Putting Down a Test Oil and Gas Well at Mt. Vernon, O.

Mt. Vernon, O., July 18.—In putting down a test well the Logan Natural Gas and Oil company yesterday struck gold in quantities assaying $5 a ton. A small vein of coal was also discovered. There is great excitement and the price of land has gone up.

While in a crowded car at Cascade park, near New Castle, Pa., J. P. Carlisle, of Allegheny, was robbed of $50 and a check for $17. John Gray, alias Samuel Ross, and William Raney were arrested on suspicion.

John Gohn, a Somerset county, Pa. farmer, was swindled out of $550 by two men with an electric belt scheme. One of them proposed that Gohn take the county agency for the belts and deposit $550 in the hands of Judge Barker at Cambria county. Gohn agreed and gave the money to the second sharper, who impersonated the judge.

The ENGLISH SUCCESSION

YEARS ago when Prince Albert, eldest son of the then Prince of Wales, was a fine, stalwart young fellow, apparently destined to live the allotted years of man, the younger son, George, was not a leading figure in the affairs of the British empire. The chances of his ever succeeding to the throne were considered very remote, for the elder son was just at the marrying age—was, in fact, engaged to be married—and the line of succession would, it seemed, be certainly continued through him. But his untimely death made the second son the heir to the throne on the death of his father, and the "sailor prince," who had been of secondary importance, suddenly acquired a new dignity in the eyes of his countrymen.

George Frederick Ernest Albert, who is next in line of succession as monarch of Great Britain, is the second son of King Edward VII. and Queen Alexandra. His elder brother, Prince Albert Victor, died Jan. 14, 1892, leaving this young man in direct succession to the throne of England.

George was born just thirty-seven years ago and is a healthy and good looking man. While he has, since his marriage in 1893 at least, led a life entirely free from anything that savored either of folly or worse, he was from his early childhood a most mischievous boy. It was for this reason, it is said, that his father decided to send him to sea.

This royal scion was the "enfant terrible" of the family. He was much given to pranks and jokes and was always active and energetic. On his entrance into the royal navy, with his elder brother, the royal cadet was placed in the lowest class and had to work his way up like his fellow students. He took his turn in the work aboard ship without favor or privilege.

This method of training led to that love for the sea and the sailor's profession which has lasted throughout his career. It also served to inculcate that spirit of democracy and simple taste in dress and manner for which he is noted.

His life at sea also developed a good natured and convivial spirit. As a young tar he was pugnacious and liked to fight with his fists, and he did not disdain a glass of grog. In England he has always been known as "the sailor prince."

His years of strict naval discipline, however, undoubtedly had the effect of toning him down, and today the grave, quiet young man would hardly be recognized as the same sailor prince whose love of pranks and practical jokes endeared him to his people. He is still a good sportsman in the best sense of the word.

Prince George was promoted to be sublieutenant in 1884, when he joined her majesty's steamer Canada on the North American station, and in October of the following year, after passing his examinations with great credit, he became a lieutenant. In 1889 he received his first command, a torpedo boat, and the next year commanded a gunboat on the north Atlantic station. His latest command afloat was in 1898, when he visited many seaports in England and Ireland.

Prince George was created Duke of York, Earl of Inverness and Baron Killarney in 1892, in which year he became heir to the throne by the death of his elder brother. He was promoted to captain in the royal navy in January, 1893, and in the following May his engagement to Princess Victoria Mary, who had been affianced to the Duke of Clarence, was publicly announced, and the marriage was celebrated on July 6.

Last year, accompanied by the Princess Mary, he made a tour of the British dominions and arrived in Canada at the time of the death of President McKinley. On his return to England he was created Prince of Wales and Earl of Chester.

In appearance King Edward's successor has nothing distinctively British about him. His beard and mustache are almost red, and his hair is dark brown. He is about 5 feet 9 inches in height and weighs about 150 pounds.

As Prince George he married Princess Victoria Mary of Teck, popularly known as Princess May, on July 6, 1893. The princess is the granddaughter of the first Duke of Cambridge, Queen Victoria's uncle, and is therefore related by blood, though not closely, to her royal husband. Her mother married the Duke of Teck, and the Princess May was born in Kensington palace on May 26, 1867. Her girlhood was spent like that of any other young woman of noble birth, but owing to her close relations with her second cousin, the late Queen Victoria, with whom she was a prime favorite, she has always been popular.

Of the four children of the royal pair Prince Edward Albert, the eldest, will be king of England some day if he lives. He was born on June 23, 1894, and today is a healthy, well grown, sturdy boy of eight, whose childhood has been spent mostly out of doors with his brothers and sisters, the Princes Albert and Henry William Frederick Albert and the Princess Victoria Alexandra. Upon his father's accession to the throne this youngster becomes by right of birth Duke of Cornwall and York, and his father may at any time make him Prince of Wales also, for that title is not hereditary, although it can be held only by the eldest living son of the reigning monarch. The revenues of the duchy of Cornwall, which this little fellow will inherit, amount to over $400,000 a year.

The first official announcement of the death of a British sovereign is that which is made to the successor of the throne by the lord chamberlain, who at the same time acquaints the new ruler with the fact of his succession.

At the earliest possible moment the privy council convenes, and members of that body resign and are immediately reappointed and resworn. At their first meeting as advisers of the new sovereign the members of the cabinet formally give up their seals of office, whereupon they also are resworn to their respective departments. Both houses of parliament meet, and the announcement of the death of the sovereign and the accession of his or her successor is followed by each member of both houses, beginning with the royal dukes in the house of lords, taking the oath of allegiance to the new ruler.

YALE HONORS RILEY.

Degree of Master of Arts Conferred on Hoosier Poet.

Colleges this year seem to have paid more than usual attention to men who have made their marks in the field of popular literature, the literature that appeals to the great mass of people through the heart. Yale at its recent commencement conferred the degree of master of arts on James Whitcomb Riley, the Hoosier poet; Clyde Fitch, author and dramatist, was honored in the same way by Amherst, and several editors and writers were also recipients of honorary degrees from the great seats of learning.

James Whitcomb Riley is probably the most popular dialect poet of the country. His verse, sweet, gentle and easy flowing, has in it an element of infinite tenderness, a winning appeal to the homely and human side.

While much of Mr. Riley's verse is in western dialect, he can on occasion turn out extremely polished lines. Whatever the form, however, his verse is marked by a keen insight into human nature, a thorough appreciation of the homely side of life and frequently by deep pathos.

James Whitcomb Riley first saw the light of day at Greenfield, Ind., in 1853, and in that rugged little town the future poet learned about apple blossoms, running brooks, clover "knee deep" and other things in nature that he has written about so entertainingly. Riley's father was a country lawyer, and he tried to make a lawyer out of Jim, as he was called. Jim, according to tradition, was bright, but somewhat disinclined to exert himself, and law did not appeal to him in the least. He liked to write, however, and his homely verse began to appear in various newspapers in his native state.

Soon it began to be recognized that a real poet had arisen. Riley's reputation spread, and it was not long before his poems began to appear in the big eastern magazines. He has been a prolific writer, having published several volumes of verse and sketches.

Mr. Riley's prose is not to be compared in importance to his fame with his verse, but his sketches and stories are always entertaining and always well told. His work—dialect, serious verse and prose—is all of a piece. He is the poet of American life, the poet of the heart.

Mr. Riley has also been much in demand as an entertainer on the platform. At one time he made a tour of the country with Bill Nye, the humorist. Mr. Riley is a bachelor and lives in Indianapolis.

AMERICAN EMBASSADRESS.

Wife of Head of British Embassy Was a New York Girl.

More than usual interest is being manifested in the new English embassador to Washington, Mr. Michael Henry Herbert, because of the fact that his wife is an American. Embassador and Mrs. Herbert will not arrive in this country for several weeks, probably not before fall.

Mrs. Herbert was Miss Lelia Wilson, daughter of Richard T. Wilson of New

MRS. HERBERT.

York. The Wilsons are closely related to the Vanderbilts, Astors and the Ogden Goelets.

Mrs. Herbert is the second American lady to achieve the rank of embassadress in Washington. Miss Elverson of Philadelphia was married to M. Jules Patenotre, formerly French embassador at the national capital.

Mrs. Herbert, having already lived in Washington and won a large circle of distinguished friends, will be a brilliant addition to the high society of the American capital.

CHESTER COUNCIL

IMPORTANT QUESTIONS DEBATED BY THAT BODY.

Tax Levy to Be Same as Last Year. Grade Question Much Discussed.

Chester council tackled several important questions last night. Solicitor O. S. Marshall and councilman Johnston were the only absentees.

It developed previous to the meeting that the tax levy under the present proposed bond issue would amount to the same as last year, which was 40 cents on $100 and 20 cents road tax. The property owners would therefore be paying the same rate as last year.

Mr. Riley made no report from the property committee.

Health Officer Allison said he had seen Mr. Steadman about the pig pen and the gentleman would abate it.

The other nuisances had not yet been satisfactorily abated.

Mr. Riley, as chairman of the street committee, said that regarding the low grade on First street and First to Second street and property of Mr. Shrader were damaged he thought the street car line should attend to the matter of the grade. Damage suits had been threatened. Mayor Shrader thought the grade too low.

Mr. Wetzel said that Mr. Finley had said First street was on the proper grade.

Mr. Huff said that the street railway company had been instructed to put its line on the property grade, and it was too late to kick now. Mr. Wells thought the street should be viewed and the matter adjusted. Mr. Wetzel stated that Engineer Boyd had said that the grade was too low. He was in favor of getting a disinterested man to run the lines of the grade. He thought the grade lines of Engineer Boyd should be investigated and the exact depth of the grade be found.

Mr. Maxwell, of the street railway, asked if it was to be cut on towards the river. They could remedy it before tracks were laid.

Mr. Riley said he understood that the lower grade ran from Riley's news stand to the river, and from near that point to First street, giving fall enough to take the water both ways.

Mr. Maxwell said if the grade was three inches to the foot, it was wrong; the street railway people were desirous of following the exact grade.

Mr. Huff moved that the street railway company meet at the point with the engineer this morning and view the street. Carried.

Street Commissioner Severs reported that he was ready to file his bond, but the solicitor not being present the council could not accept it.

Mr. Wells reported a couple more frog ponds on private property and near the street on Carolina avenue between Fifth and Sixth. The property owners had been notified to remedy the matter, but it had not been done. The owners of the property reside at Irondale and Toronto.

Mr. Riley thought it about time for the mayor and chief to make their reports.

Mr. Mercer thought they should be made about August 1, the end of the first six months. Mr. Riley thought they should be made every month.

Mr. Huff wanted something done to keep teamsters from driving on sidewalks all over town. An ordinance existed, but was not enforced.

Mayor Shrader thought teams should have some place to pass along; matters would be better after paving.

Mr. Mercer said if a man's property was damaged he could make complaint and get redress. A fine of $5 existed.

Council adjourned.

New Superintendent.

It is reliably stated that James McKinnon, the oldest motorman in East Liverpool, will be the new superintendent of the Rock Springs street railway, and will shortly assume his duties.

Excursionists Arrested.

Two of the Pittsburg excursionists Charles Gray and Peter Devitt, were arrested by Officers Elliott and Hassey yesterday afternoon for intoxication and paid $3.90 each for their fun. Officer Elliott put another excursionist out of the park grounds last evening for drunkenness, and during the process his sweetheart kept up a constant screaming, attracting a large crowd to the scene, near the stairs.

Possible Mad Dog Victim.

A valuable horse, worth $150, belonging to William Allison, of Fairview street, died yesterday. The animal Mr Allison thinks was bitten by a mad dog some time ago. Dr. McFarland of East Liverpool, did all in his power to save the animal, but could not. The supposed mad dog certainly bit the horse. A number of persons chased it; but it escaped. It is feared other animals were bitten.

Postal Agent in Town.

A government rural route agent was in Chester yesterday in conference with Postmaster Rose in regard to the new messenger service. Rural free delivery was not considered, although the matter has been talked over a number of times. Such a service is badly needed by the rural residents in this vicinity.

Has Left His Home.

James Gibson, who was fined by 'Squire Johnston last week for abusing his wife, has disappeared, and it is alleged deserted his family. His mother has arrived from McDonald, Pa., but can give no information as to his whereabouts. Gibson's family live on Fairview street.

Mill Force Enlarged.

The workmen at the Chester mill suffered severely from heat yesterday, but none were overcome. New men are constantly being added to the mill force. Every department is running to its fullest capacity.

Trainload of Picnickers.

The Mt. Washington M. E. Sunday school, of Pittsburg, came in over the branch by special train this morning, occupying 10 coaches. They are having a fine time.

CHESTER NOTES.

William Wallace has moved to Dennison. He was employed in the tin mill.

R. D. Hunter went to Bellevue, Pa. today to superintend a big paving contract.

William Funkhouser, the street railway contractor, was at New Brighton yesterday.

Mrs. Mary E. Gibson has returned from a visit with her daughter in Pittsburg.

Mrs. Josephine McDonald, of Indiana avenue, is improving from a recent illness.

Misses Lillian Brown and Virginia Fife, of Allegheny, are guests of Mrs. Sinclair, Carolina avenue.

Miss Myrtle Andrews, of the East End, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Plankton, Carolina avenue.

Captain George Clark, who is an officer on a Mississippi packet, is visiting his sister, Mrs. Aiken, of Arroyo.

Faulk Bros. will furnish their own lumber for the new mill. They will let the contract for building in a few days.

Mrs. S. Bloom and son, of New Cumberland, are guests of Mr. Bloom today. The family will move to Chester shortly.

Rev. Mr. Knott, of Alliance, fills the M. E. pulpit in the morning and Rev. A. D. Greene, of Fairview, in the evening Sunday.

The Steubenville Sand company, of Brownsdale, has moved its equipment to Brilliant, where it is running a large sand business.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Allen left by the steamer Greenwood for their home at St. Albans, W. Va., after a visit with Mrs. C. F. Paulley, First street. The daughter, Miss Lillie, will remain a few days.

Silas Mercer has purchased the Edwards property on Indiana avenue. Mr. Mercer has opened a wall paper store in East Liverpool.

There is a fishing job on the Ferguson well at the top of sand. The Gailey well on the Dawson farm, is a duster. These are at Ohioville.

Rev. Herbert M. Carnahan was called to Williamstown, W. Va., by the serious illness of his mother, who is suffering from a paralytic stroke.

J. S. Paulley is not a watchman on the bridge, but general manager for the bridge company. Mr. Paulley is also a duly authorized United States marshal.

William Hocking, manager of the toboggan, has brought his wife and family from Pittsburg for a two weeks' outing. They are stopping with Mrs. Riley, of Carolina avenue.

The street committee of council viewed the First street grade this morning, and decied to ask Mr. Thompson to raise his curbing on Virginia avenue, as they find the grade cannot be raised on this street.

Charles Hanlon, a roller, formerly of Irondale, purchased a residence from the Chester Rolling Mill Land company on Railroad street; price, $1,900. The company is having its new houses painted and improved for the big sale on Thursday, July 24.

NO CONFERENCE HELD

STATE OFFICIALS DID NOT MEET THE GOVERNOR.

Council on Code Bill Failed to Materialize—Revision of School Laws Wanted.

Columbus, July 18.—(Special)—The municipal code conference which was to have been held at Camp McKinley yesterday did not come off. The governor sat in his tent all day waiting for the state officials, but they had other business to demand their attention. Secretary Laylin was overwhelmed with public duties, Attorney General Sheets went to the lakes to join his family; State Auditor Guilbert had a business trip to make and Commissioner Bonebrake is working on a coke of his own. Assistant Attorney General Todd was the only state official who went to Newark unless Smith Bennett and Wade Ellis, who are drafting the code at Detroit, went there from their summer hotel.

Commissioner Bonebrake thinks that the school laws should be remodeled and codified and he wants it done right away. He had his whole office force at work yesterday drafting some Bonebrake ideas into a code for the government of all schools. He will have it introduced at the extra session, probably Representative Seese, of Summit county, chairman of the committee on common schools and a candidate for state school commissioner.

NEWS FROM CAMP

The Boys at Port Huron Having a Fine Time and Good Fishing.

J. E. McDevitt and James Johnson arrived yesterday from Port Huron, Mich., where they have been with the Gilt Edge Camping club. The boys are all well and enjoying camp life. Fish are plentiful and they are catching their share. They have a fine place to camp, at the mouth of the St. Clair river on the LaSalle beach.

This is their first year out. They are under good management. J. Helley is treasurer and Charles Pomeroy captain. It is the liveliest little camp in the country. They thank Chief Thompson for getting them such a pleasant place to go. They expect to break camp between July 24 and 28.

PIPE FELL ON HIM

An Italian's Hand And Fingers Mashed to a Pulp.

Joseph Pizzani, a laborer employed at the Wallace Sewer Pipe works, is carrying his arm in a sling as the result of an accident which occurred yesterday while he was at work. He had piled a row of pipe into the air and when not watching they all tumbled down, one of them crushing his fingers and hand into a pulp.

Suffering excruciating pain he was removed to the office of a physician who dressed the wound. While undergoing treatment he sank into unconsciousness as a result of the pain, but soon revived.

RIDING TO HOUNDS

SPORT FASHIONABLE IN WASHINGTON SOCIETY.

Social Influence of President Roosevelt's Family at the National Capital—Has Made Horseback Riding Popular—The Chevy Chase Club.

There is no mistaking the fact that the Roosevelts are the head and center of the social world at the national capital. Not in many years has there been a family in the White House that has been so completely the arbiter of fashion at the national capital.

This is especially noticeable in the popularity of riding. Nearly every member of the president's family is an enthusiast in this exercise, and so popular have they made it at Washington that any one who wishes to be considered at all in the swim must be seen on horseback. Just now, of course, Washington is almost deserted, but during the season cavalcades of young people gallop along the country roads in the neighborhood of the capital whenever the weather permits, and a fad for fox hunting and other rougher equestrian exercises is expected to capture society in the fall.

All this has given a special boom to the Chevy Chase Hunt club, which includes in its membership practically all of the rich or otherwise important people in Washington.

Several United States senators are members of the club. Lieutenant General Miles and Adjutant General Corbin belong to it, and Thomas Nelson Page is prominently connected with the organization. One-third of its membership is composed of ladies, whose participation in the amusements, including the hunting, makes them additionally attractive. Mrs. Miles and Mrs. Corbin both belong as a matter of course, the rule being that the admission of a man extends to his wife and daughters, if he has any, all the privileges of the club.

The club has a fine pack of foxhounds, but the chase is restricted to the aniseed bag, which, while surer and less troublesome than the fox, is almost equally amusing as a quarry. There are plenty of foxes in Maryland, and across the river in Virginia are to be found numerous descendants of the wily old fellows hunted by George

MISS RUTH HANNA.

Washington in his day, but the fashionable huntsmen and huntswomen would have to go too far to look for them, and so they content themselves with the aniseed bag.

Among the most daring women riders of the younger set is Miss Ruth Hanna, daughter of the junior senator from Ohio. Miss Hanna is a thorough sportswoman and is credited with having an abundance of nerve.

Senator Hanna plans to visit his game preserve at Melrose plantation, in Georgia, as soon as congress adjourns. With him will go Miss Ruth, who is already the heroine of an adventure with a wildcat. Three years ago, then a schoolgirl, Miss Ruth joined in a coon hunt, but instead of a coon she treed and shot a wildcat. At least that is how the story is told.

The home of the Chevy Chase Hunt club at Washington is the old Bradley estate, formerly one of the famous country places near Washington. It is about eight miles from the White House.

When first organized, the club consisted merely of a few riding men. Later they bought a pack of hounds, and from that time on it grew rapidly. Though at first it was purely and simply a hunting organization, to which only riding men belonged, it gradually assumed a broader development, and today a good deal of the attention of its members is devoted to golf. The links are not surpassed anywhere in the United States, and there are superb tennis courts.

Naturally the admission of women worked a notable change in the management and policy of the club. Many dinner parties are given there, and once a year there is a so called hunt ball at which the men wear pink coats with swallowtails and black facings, black and red being the colors of the club.

Among the ladies who belong to the club and who are numbered among the best riders are Mrs. H. Chatfield Chatfield-Taylor, famous for her skill at golf, and the daughter of Senator Mason, who rides astride. Pretty Miss Langhorne is also a member.

"Self help!" exclaimed the father. "Ben don't need anything of that kind. You'd ought to see him at the dinner table!"

Vanilla For Mental Weakness.

Vanilla is one of the most powerful restoratives known in cases of weakened vitality, when a large dose is given. South America in general shows a much slighter tendency to madness than any of the countries which may be called civilized. Statistical authorities attribute this fact to the ignorance and thoughtlessness of the population, but they themselves give the credit to vanilla. At the first sign of mental disturbance they ply the sufferer therewith.

The Way to Catch a Porcupine.

The porcupine climbs the tree as readily as a squirrel would, provided you don't slip up and cut his tail off while he is going up. Somehow or other he can't climb the tree without his tail, and he won't come down without it. If you catch one of these porcupines climbing a tree and chop his tail off, he will stop right where he is and will stay there until he starves to death unless he is taken away.

Brief Notes of a Personal Nature and of Matters About Town.

Labor Day Music—Manley's band has been engaged by Trades Council to play on Labor day.

Cut Its Hand Badly—A little child of John Langenbacher, of Jackson street, while playing in the yard yesterday very severely cut its hand with glass.

Sewer Extension—A continuation of the Tan Yard sewer is being built through Mrs. Morris' property to connect with the culverts under Walnut street.

Thumb Badly Hurt—Russell Heddleston is nursing an injured thumb on his right hand. It was struck by a base ball while he was engaged in the national sport.

Candidate Kennedy Here—Attorney James Kennedy, Mahoning county's candidate for congress, was in the city yesterday, accompanied by his cousin, Judge James B. Kennedy, visiting prominent Republicans.

Belmont Club Dance—The Belmont club members and their girl friends danced at Columbian park last evening. The dance, which was quite informal, was much enjoyed. McGraw's orchestra furnished the music.

Pleasantly Entertained—Miss Leona Jennings and Miss Edna Kaercher very pleasantly entertained a number of friends last evening at the home of the former on Robinson street. A trolley ride occupied the first part of the evening. Upon their return the company was entertained with music and games. Refreshments were served at a late hour.

Hay Ride to Smith's Ferry—A hay ride to Smith's Ferry was greatly enjoyed last evening by a number of young people from this city. From the zest with which the company blew their tin horns one might have imagined the campaign of '96 was again in progress. Upon reaching their destination the young people took supper at the hotel and after viewing the sights of the town returned home at an early hour.

FREE TO EVERYBODY

An Enjoyable Concert Without Admission Fee at Rock Springs Park Sunday.

Manager J. H. Maxwell, of Rock Springs park, has decided to give a free Sunday concert, and next Sunday the park will be open free to everybody. Nowling's orchestra has arranged a fine program as their first contribution. This move has been in contemplation for some time. This is an innovation that will be welcomed by the throngs that visited the park on Sunday, and will largely increase the attendance.

The concert will be of more than ordinary merit, and the public is assured of a fine entertainment next Sunday. 168-h

When Quality Can be the Only Argument.

When different makes of the same article sell for the same price, then quality is the only argument that can usually influence your trade.

The price of soda water, good, bad and indifferent is the same all over town, so that we can't talk about that, but we believe we have a most convincing argument when you consider quality. Our Grape Phosphate seems to be the most convincing convincer we have.

Our SALE $11 SUIT

Is in progress and buyers, without exception, admit that this sale stands alone—the biggest—the best—clothing chance East Liverpool gentlemen have ever enjoyed. It is an event for which thousands semi-annually wait and profit, and this year's assortment is greater than ever. It may not be a profitable policy, but we have found it a wise policy to close out each season's stock at the end of the season. Here you get actual $15, $18 and $20 values for $11.00

$5.50 AND $8.50 —FOR— Men's Suits

that sold at from $8 to $10, and $11 to $13.50.

FREE AND UNLIMITED CHOICE OF HUNDREDS OF SUITS.

Boys' and Youths' CLOTHING

The Clearance is general, and every article in our store has been more or less reduced in price. The Boys' Department contributes more than its share of bargains.

Boys' $2.50 and $2.75 Cloth Suits $1.65

These come in the double-breasted style for lads of 7 to 16 years of age. We make mention of the fact that this line is apt to be soon sold out as the present rate of buying is most extensive.

Men's Shirts

During this sale we have accumulated a great many broken lots. Percale and Madras soft shirts shirts with collars attached and detached. One, or two, or fifteen of a kind. Some kinds in some sizes and some not. They are all shirts that have sold for $1.00 and more each. We have arranged them according to sizes on center counter. Take as many as you want at each, 73c.

Children's Finest Cloth Suits $3.50

These are our best $5 and $6 qualities. At this price we include the vestee and blouse styles for the little chaps and the double-breasted style for the bigger boys. Made of pure woolens and most artistically made. The average factory cost price of this lot is actually more than the sale price.

Children's Wash Suits

These are neat, childish blouse suits, for ages 3 to 8 years, in plain and fancy combinations of color.

When A Man Invests IN A LOT OR IN A HOME

He wants to feel reasonably sure that he is doing so where he has a reasonable chance of receiving fair returns for his money.

WHAT ARE THE CHANCES IN CHESTER, W. VA.?

A little over two years ago there was no such a town on the map. Today it is one of the busiest little cities in the great Ohio valley, with a population of 3,000 and growing at a rapid rate. In its location and its sorroundings, its present condition and future prospects it has the making of a great and prosperous city. Some of those who invested in Chester property at the start have realized as high as 100 per cent. on their money. These profits have not been the result of years of waiting, but of merely a few months.

Investigate For Yourself.

You will find that Chester is situated in almost the northern point of the Panhandle of West Virginia. It is reached by a branch of the Panhandle rail road, connecting with the main line at New Cumberland Junction some 18 miles southward. This line is shortly to be extended up the Ohio river to a connection with the main line of the Ft. Wayne Railroad and the great Pennsylvania system, reaching Pittsburg and the great eastern centers.

What are the Advantages?

A FEW OF THEM ARE LEVEL, STREETS PAVED, SEWERED AND ADORNED WITH FLAGSTONE SIDEWALKS, SEWERAGE AND BEAUTIFUL SHADE TREES; A SYSTEM OF WATER WORKS WHICH FURNISHES PURE, FILTERED WATER, ADEQUATE TO THE NEEDS OF ALL POLICE AND FIRE PROTECTION; A DOUBLE TRACK STREET RAILWAY WHICH IS EQUAL TO ANY IN THE COUNTRY. NATURAL GAS, CHEAP AND ABUNDANT. MANUFACTURING PLANTS:— A MODEL TIN PLATE MILL, FURNISHING EMPLOYMENT TO 800 PERSONS; TWO LARGE POTTERIES, EMPLOYING MORE THAN 400 PERSONS EACH, WITH OTHER INDUSTRIES ABOUT TO BE ESTABLISHED.

In addition there are good stores and all the minor industries of a prosperous city. There are also good schools good churshes and good society. The scenery is unmatched for attractiveness in all the Ohio valley. Thousands of persons flock to the neighboring pleasure resort, the Famous Rock Springs Park, daily during the summer and strangers invariably go away voting it one of the pleasantest spots along the river.

Better Opportunities

Are presented for the realization of profits. Why? Land is still cheap, compared with the prices charged in other towns of the same size. Chester is not a boom town. It's growth, although rapid, has been substantial and along conservative lines. It is both a manufacturing town and a city of homes. Hundreds of new houses were erected last season; the same record will be repeated this year, probably on a greater scale.

THE CITY OF EAST LIVERPOOL!

The great pottery manufacturing center, with 20,000 inhabitants and growing faster than any other town in all the Ohio Valley, is directly opposite Chester, and connected with it by a new iron bridge which is crossed by street cars, vehicles of all sorts and by pedestrians. The center of East Liverpool, O., is less than a mile away and hundreds of persons who work or have business in East Liverpool find Chester a more agreeable place for residence. Taxes are not high, and the advantages are all that could be asked. None of these statements are overdrawn. Some of the most desirable property in this thrifty and beautiful spot is shortly to be sold at auction. There will be bargains for those who seek them. At sales of this character no one can have an advantage. Lots will be sold to the highest bidders; those who buy will know what they are getting and if they see no bargain in the property offered they are not asked or expected to bid. We do not desire to have customers unless they are satisfied.

A Fortune Is Not Needed

to enable you to have a share in the advantages and the profits. You can start with a few dollars now and you will not need to wait long to double your money.

CHOICE LOTS FREE

with every 100 lots sold, one lot will be given away absolutely free, to some one person among those who have made purchases of one or more of the lots at this sale. One purchaser stands as good a chance as an other of securing this prize, it matters not whether he has purchased one lot or ten. A committee of reputable citizens will be selected and they will decide to whom the prize lots shall fall.

Choice New Property

will be offered at the coming sale—not lots which have been hawked about, vainly seeking a purchaser. There are over 800 of these lots which are now offered for the first time; everyone of them desirable either as residence property or as a location for business.

Remember the Date of this

Beginning at 10 a. m. and 2 p. m.

The undersigned invite friends from all this section to come and be their guests on that date. Come and see what we have, then you can decide whether you care to invest. Depend upon it, there is money in Chester property and if you become an invester you will be satisfied with the returns.

THERE is always more or less enjoyment in seeing others made happy. In case you do not see your way is clear to become a buyer get a trolley ticket and come over to the sale anyway, listen to the good music which we shall furnish. Regale yourself with the refreshments served and see your neighbor made happy in his new possessions. But after all the terms of this sale are so easy, a deposit only of $10 on each lot at time of purchase. That there is not one thrifty person in all of this section who will not become an owner of some portion of this excellent property. MOVING IN SCOTLAND

ON MAY 28 OCCURS THE ANNUAL CARNIVAL OF "FLITTING."

One Day In Each Year When Furniture Vans and Chaos Reign Supreme—An Odd System, Built Up on the Caution of the Landlords.

In Scotland May 28 is annually given over to a perfect carnival of "flitting."

In England houses of the higher rents are taken by the year at any quarter day and the lower rented ones by the month or even by the week. The flitting is thus spread over the year, and no confusion arises. The Scottish system is to let houses by the year from May 28. Even the smallest, consisting of only one room, are so let. On the great day in any large town the sights afforded range from the laughable to the pathetic.

As soon as it is daylight the vans previously "trysted" begin their work; the goods are loaded up with more haste than care and to the accompaniment of the good housewife's lamentations as some cherished household god is roughly flung into the van.

Arrived at the destination, further troubles are in store. Perhaps the new house is not yet vacated, and, as the van is required for other removals, the goods are dumped down in the street, and there the poor family is left stranded for the time. Occasionally some streets—in Glasgow, for instance—present an appearance of wholesale evictions.

So numerous are the demands that vans cannot always be obtained, and every kind of vehicle, including horseless carriages, popularly known as "hurleys," are pressed into the service, supplemented by father, mother and the children, each carrying pictures, mirrors or other cherished articles too precious to trust to the tender mercies of some ramshackle conveyance.

These processions are moving along all day. The representative of law and order, upon this day at least, is very lenient, his gruff "Move on!" is less in evidence, and his ready notebook gets a rest. There are no "cases" of obstruction reported, although often loaded vans have to remain in a street all night.

It may be that the "policsman" grasps the humors of the situation, or perhaps a fellow feeling influences him. No doubt his own flitting is in progress, and he retires off duty to some strange abode, there to assist in carrying in his goods, to sup off a crust of bread and cheese and sleep on the floor, as others have to do.

A stranger naturally inquires the cause of this one day given over to chaos. It is to be found in the caution of the Scottish landlord. It is difficult to obtain a house at any other time than the lawful removal day, and the canny house owner has prudently secured his rent a fortnight previously May 15.

"Moonlight" flittings are thus practically unknown, and there is little loss of rent from that cause. The rents being payable half yearly only, the cost of collection is reduced, as is the risk of loss, to a minimum. The system entails great hardship to workingmen compelled to change the scene of their labors. They frequently cannot obtain a house until term day and have consequently to take lodgings and support their family in another town.

If fortunate enough to obtain a house, the landlord steps in and requires his full year's rent to be paid or deposited in bank before he allows the goods to be removed. The unfortunate head of a household is also responsible for the full year's rates of his "new" house, although he may have paid in full at his vacated house.

The only advantage to the tenant is security of tenure for twelve months and the certainty of being accommodated at the expiry in the general scramble. Of course it happens sometimes, through new houses being erected, that some one is able to start the ball rolling a day or two before term, to the comfort of all involved in the particular circuit; but, generally speaking, May term day in Scotland is not an institution to be admired and copied.

Strange to say, Sandy not only takes this day philosophically, but is much more addicted to "flitting" than people south of the Tweed, some families moving regularly every year without any apparent necessity. One would scarcely expect the worry and discomfort of the day and succeeding temporary chaos to be voluntarily undertaken, but the fact is so.

The continuance of the system itself is a standing monument to the British long suffering and law abiding nature. —Pearson's Weekly.

The widest possible publicity should be given to the fact that summer diarrhoea in children and cholera infantum can always be cured by the judicious use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It never fails. When reduced with cold water and sweetened it is pleasant to take, which is very important when a medicine must be given to small children. For sale by Alvin H. Bulger.

SNUFF TAKING REVIVAL.

King Edward Said to Be Responsible For Society's Latest Fad.

The revival of the ancient custom of snuff taking is said to have been brought about by King Edward VII., who carries a box of the pungent powder and takes a pinch after his meals. The king's example is being followed by fashionable London, and the fad is due to reach this country shortly.

Following the English fashion, the jewelers on this side of the water are already showing beautiful snuffboxes, both ancient and modern. At Tiffany's, the famous New York jewelry house, a collection of jeweled snuffboxes has lately been put on exhibition. Notable in this collection is the jeweled snuffbox presented by the German emperor to Rear Admiral Kirkland of the United States navy and which is said to have cost $5,000.

The box was given to Admiral Kirkland when he represented this country at the opening of the Kiel canal. It is of large size and made of gold worked into a beautiful and intricate design by Zehngraf, the artist. On the cover is a miniature of the emperor, surrounded by a frame composed of twenty-nine diamonds. On each side of the ellipse are three larger gems.

It is interesting to note the steps by which snuff taking first rose to fashion. Given to King Charles of France by a leading diplomatist, Nicot (whence nicotine), it finally came within reach of the multitude and from first to last has played an important part in the world's history.

Catherine de' Medici is said to have been the first woman to take snuff. Gibbon, the historian, was an inveterate taker of snuff. Frederick the Great took it by handfuls and had all his pockets made of leather and without corners so that they served as snuff pouches.

Napoleon I. was another great snuff taker, or, rather, snuff waster, as history relates that he spilled most of it over his clothes, little of it reaching his nose. Von Moltke during the three weeks' siege ending with the battle of Sedan is said to have used a pound of snuff.

In this country snuff manufacturing is a large industry. In 1899 18,000,000 pounds were manufactured, and the average for several years has been 14,000,000 pounds. So there is plenty of snuff in the United States. Who takes it? Few nonsnuffers know any snuff takers, but that is due perhaps to the fact that they are without the circle.

Spinning an Egg.

One of Lord Kelvin's favorite experiments while teaching natural philosophy at the University of Glasgow was to spin an egg which was suspended in the air. If the egg were hard boiled, it would spin a long time; otherwise, owing to the friction between its contents and the shell, its motion would soon cease. Lord Kelvin inferred from this that the interior of the earth cannot be a fluid, or the globe's rate of rotation would have been checked long ago. Once the students substituted raw eggs for the hard boiled ones provided for the experiment. Not one would spin properly, but Lord Kelvin was not to be fooled. "None of them boiled," was his only comment.

TURF TALK

The first bell of the grand circuit will tap at Detroit July 14, and the light harness game will be set merrily going, not to stop until the last big meeting of the year closes the season at Memphis late in October.

On the second day of the Detroit blue ribbon meeting the classic M. and M. stakes of $10,000 will be decided, the starters for which were recently named. Eighteen horses are eligible to start, and it is more than probable that a big field will line up for the word. The only eligibles from New York are Edgar Bronk's black mare Princess Derby, by Charles Derby, and Harry Dykeman's bay mare Kozy, by John G. Carlisle.

Thomas W. Lawson's representative is Juntorio, bay mare by Alturo—Jennie Benton. She has been showing enough speed to be named as a starter. Ted, a black gelding, with a record of 2:24¼, by Norval—Love Knot, named by W. H. Potter, is a Michigan candidate and will undoubtedly start.

A Browning Anecdote.

In the Cornhill Magazine, in an interesting paper entitled "On a Few Conversationalists," the writer tells an amusing story of Browning and how he received certain flowers from a lady, who, on being pressed to give their English names, shyly confessed they were called "bloody noses." I happened many years ago to be staying in a country house when Browning told this story in his inimitable way, and he ended with the following lines, which I then and there committed to memory, and which will, I think, interest your readers:

I'll deck my love with posies,
I'll cover her with roses;
Should she protest
I'll do my best
To give her bloody noses.

—London Spectator.

THE MAN OF THE HOUR

LORD KITCHENER THE MILITARY IDOL OF GREAT BRITAIN.

Likely to Become Commander In Chief of the Army—John Bull Feels That the War Office Needs Shaking Up—Task Too Much For Roberts.

With the return of Lord Kitchener to England as the conqueror of the Boers he becomes the man of the hour throughout the British empire. Indeed there are many who think that Herbert Kitchener is the strongest and most prominent man in all the British dominions. Mixed with the hurrah of the populace over his return there is an element of dread in the British war office. The dry bones there fear a shaking up if Kitchener is made commander in chief, and this is extremely likely to happen.

The dread of him felt by the military organization is due to the refusal of Lord Kitchener to allow any political or partisan consideration to affect him in any military problem he may have to solve. Men of this type are not acceptable to the governing class in Britain. Mr. Chamberlain in the civilian and Lord Kitchener in the military arena are the most conspicuous illustrations. Both reach their ends by methods quite alarming to bureaucracy and the red tape regime.

On top of a campaign that was brought to a close by sheer hard grinding, without anything spectacular and without much help from luck, he got a sudden piece of good fortune that came in the guise of a grievance.

Instead of the grant of $500,000 that everybody expected he was going to get, parliament was invited to appropriate only half that sum for him, although Lord Roberts had received $500,000. Instead of the earldom bestowed on Lord Roberts, Kitchener got only a beggarly viscounty.

All of which was one of the best bits of luck this extraordinary man ever had, because for once the taxpayer actually objected to the smallness of the grant, and the public had a feeling that it was still under a considerable obligation. In consequence Lord Kitchener returns to England more of a hero if possible than he otherwise would have been.

This man, who in six years has risen more rapidly in the British army than any one ever did before except Wellington, seems likely to be an active storm center in the immediate future. It has been said repeatedly in parliament that the reason he received just half the reward given to Lord Roberts was that the nation had some big work cut out for him to do and wanted to save some prizes for him to try for. It comes pretty straight from parliamentary lobbies that the "big work" is nothing less than a job that proved too much for Kitchener's predecessors as national military idols, Lord Wolseley and Earl Roberts.

LORD KITCHENER.

Here at last is the man, all England believes, who can clean out the war office regardless of the personal considerations that have proved an insurmountable obstacle to Wolseley and Roberts, a man who can knock the heads of fussy civilian officials together without compunction and who doesn't care a rap how many society ladies are offended by rough treatment for their proteges.

There is no doubt that it is the wish of the king and his cabinet to make the Duke of Connaught, the king's only brother, commander in chief of the army on the retirement of Lord Roberts, whose resignation is expected to come any day.

Kitchener, it is understood, is slated for the post of commander in chief of the forces in India. But the public has to be reckoned with. If the powers that be think that John Bull will stand it, the royal duke will be made commander in chief. If, on the other hand, the temper of the public demands Lord Kitchener, into the war office he will go forthwith.

That Kitchener would be an ideal man at the war office is freely admitted by those who have not always appreciated his methods of warfare. Even those who described him as "the butcher of Omdurman" see in him the only possible man for commander in chief, for he combines three great essential qualities—he has proved himself to be a soldier, a statesman and a business man—and if he were put in control of the war office he would turn the place inside out.

CUPID INTERFERES.

Coeducation at Chicago University Proves Unsatisfactory.

After ten years' trial of coeducation in the Chicago university President W. R. Harper favors a separation of the sexes. He is of the opinion that the best results are not obtained by training young men and young women in the same classes and in the same environment. He is moving to bring about a separation of the sexes.

Years of observation have convinced Dr. Harper that healthy young men and women cannot meet in classes and on the campus without heart and sentiment obliterating the academic.

Dr. Harper has observed that in everyday life the Yale, Harvard or Princeton man stands better and does better than the "coed man." Mr. Rockefeller is of the same opinion as Dr. Harper. He believes in a university for the greatest good, but wants man paramount.

The gifts received by the University of Chicago since it was founded now aggregate over $16,000,000, of which $11,000,000 has been given by John D. Rockefeller.

What Borax Is.

One of the most desirable articles in the laundry or the washroom and valuable in many purposes connected with the household economy as well as in scientific use is the simple salt known to every one under the name of borax, but probably not much known as to its constituent elements or its nature by most of those who use it more or less frequently. Biborate of sodium, to use its chemical name, first comes as a natural product from Tibet by way of India under the name of tincal, the salt being covered with a green crust of a soapy nature which requires removal before the borax is available for use.

Medicinal Properties of Cabbage.

In olden times cabbage was supposed to be endowed with marvelous medicinal virtues. Among other things, it was considered as being the only radical cure for drunkenness. Cato, writing of the cabbage, said: "By the use of the cabbage alone Rome has done without physicians for 600 years."

The English Cook.

According to the Lancet, the average English cook "utterly declines to weigh materials for cooking; she will not roast meat, but prefers to put it in the oven, or if as a great favor she puts it in front of the fire, she is too lazy to baste it or to put a screen round it."

Cooking Ham.

Ham is frequently too salt to fry without previous preparation. Put the slices in tepid water and let them stand on the back of the range to soak out the salt, not to boil, for about half an hour. Drain dry between towels, then fry in a hot spider.

When a whole ham is to be baked or boiled, let it stand overnight covered with cold water.

"FORCE"

A Nourishing Breakfast Food for Brain Workers.

"FORCE" FOOD CO.,
Buffalo, N. Y.

Gentlemen,—Every Sunday I preach three times, attend two Sunday schools and one Epworth League. When I come in Sunday evenings, too exhausted to digest an ordinary meal, and yet needing something to give strength for the remaining duties of the day, I make my supper largely of "FORCE." It digests without reminding me that I have a stomach, and yet it so strengthens me that close my last service no more weary than at supper time. It is the food for the weak stomach.

Yours very truly, ——

FOURTEEN DROWNED.

Sudden Squall Capsized a Sailboat Near Portsmouth, N. H.

2 WERE ATTEMPTING RESCUES.

Three Out of Seventeen In the Boat Were Saved—Most of the Women Victims Were School Teachers. Nearly All Waiters and Waitresses.

Portsmouth, N. H., July 18.—A 19-foot whaleboat, containing 16 waiters and waitresses, employed at the Oceanic house, Star Island, Isle of Shoals, who had gone out in the bay yesterday afternoon on a pleasure trip in charge of Skipper Fred Miles, was capsized during a sudden squall and 14 of the occupants were drowned. The other three, including the skipper, were rescued by fishermen, who put out from the shore in their dories.

The bodies of five had not yet been recovered last night. All the others were taken from the water by fishermen and then to the island, where they were worked over for a long time by two doctors, but twithout success.

Two of the drowned were law students at Harvard university, rooming at Forsyth hall. Both were good swimmers, and lost their lives in trying to rescue the others.

The victims were all young people, whose ages would not average over 20 years. Most of the Massachusetts girls were school teachers, who have passed their summer vacations here for several years in serving as waitresses in the hotel.

ODD FELLOWS OPEN HOME.

Thousands of Members Visit Grove City, Pa., For Dedication.

Grove City, Pa., July 18.—Between 25,000 and 30,000 people came to this city yesterday from all parts of Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia to take part in the opening of the new Odd Fellows home.

The program was opened by the ringing of "America" by the entire assemblage. The invocation was then made by the grand chaplain of Pennsylvania, Rev. William S. Neill. An address was made by Edwin Ritter, grand master of state grand lodge. The keys of the institution were then presented by the board of directors to the grand master of the grand lodge and officers.

The address of the day was made by Past Grand Master Wilson K. Mohr, of Allentown. The closing speech was made by Past Grand Master Chalfant, of Danville, Pa., followed by the benediction, pronounced by Chaplain Neill.

Following these services an informal flag raising was held. The children from the Ben Avon and Meadville homes were the donors of the flag, which was raised over the farm house now being used as the home. In the afternoon a general celebration was held. Many bands were in attendance from all over the state, and the afternoon was made lively with concerts and sports.

THE PARADE A SUCCESS.

Feature of Elks' Carnival at Beaver Falls Witnessed by Many.

Beaver Falls, Pa., July 18.—The industrial parade of the manufacturers and business men of Beaver Falls took place as a part of the Elks' carnival yesterday. It was a great success, requiring an hour to pass a given point. Fully 25,000 people witnessed it.

The floats and decorated vehicles were pretty, and many of them were of the most elaborate description. The fire departments of the different valley towns participated, and the burgess, councilmen and other city officials occupied a prominent position.

In the parade were the old soldiers and secret societies. Yesterday was the fourth day of the carnival, and thus far it has been a success. It closes Saturday.

BALTIMORE BASEBALL MUDDLE.

Franchise Forfeited—Enough Players to Play Today.

Baltimore, July 18.—According to the plan of Ban Johnson, president of the American league, the franchise of the Baltimore team was forfeited yesterday by its failure to have a team in position to play the St. Louis club. Under the by-laws all rights of Baltimore in that respect yesterday afternoon passed into the hands of the American league.

Mr. Johnson was in the city all day in consultation with stockholders of the club who have been friendly to the American league and is sanguine of successfully organizing a new company to place a team here. Outfielder Selbach has been made captain and enough players have been secured to insure a game today.

Man Lynched For Wife Murder.

Owensboro, Ky., July 18.—Josh Anderson was hanged by a mob early yesterday morning. He was taken from jail. Last Thursday night Anderson went to the home of his wife three miles below town, called her out, and shot her three times, instantly killing her.

FOR NATIONS' WAR ON TRUSTS.

Russia Said to Have Proposed a Conference—Sugar Bounties Principal Subject.

London, July 18.—Details of an important move by Russia, which have evidently been suppressed hitherto by the censor, have transpired in London. This move is no less than a proposal by the imperial government for an international conference to deal with trusts.

Baron de Staal, Russian ambassador in London, about 10 days ago presented to the British government a note from M. De Witt, the Russian minister of finance, which note was sent also to all the powers that signed the Brussels sugar convention, proposing that these powers should consider, in common, means to protect international commerce against the artificial depression of prices, not only by government measures, such as export bounties or the control of production, but also by much more dangerous processes adopted by trusts, private undertakings or cartels, which tend artificially to influence the international market.

This explains the mysterious reference made in the Financial Messenger, of St. Petersburg, early this week to a recent note of M. De Witt, which the paper said, "is an application, in the economic domain, of the principles of The Hague conference."

Further explanation by the paper shows that sugar bounties are the especial burden of Russia's desire for an agreement.

MRS. LATIMER HEARD.

QUESTIONED AS TO FRIENDSHIP FOR OTHER MEN.

Declared Husband Shot by Burglar. Witness Testified He Said It Wasn't Burglar.

New York, July 18.—The coroner's inquest into the death of Albert C. Latimer, who was shot in his bedroom early on the morning of July 2, was begun yesterday in Brooklyn. Mrs. Sadie Latimer, the widow of the murdered man, was a witness. She declared that her husband was shot by a burglar.

District Attorney Clarke asked Mrs. Latimer if she had ever been in the company of W. H. Tuthill outside of her home. She replied that she met Mr. Tuthill on one occasion in New York, that he accompanied her to her home and that she told her husband about it. In reply to other questions she said she had never entertained Mr. Elwell, whose home is in the rear of the Latimer house, in the absence of her husband.

C. R. Rich, who lives near the Latimers, said that when he went to the house on the night of the shooting Mrs. Latimer introduced him to a Mr. Tuthill. Mr. Latimer was placed on the bed, Tuthill helping in the work, and then, according to the witness, Tuthill said to Mrs. Latimer, "Don't worry, he is all right."

Dr. Meagher, house surgeon at the hospital, where Latimer died, created a sensation when he said on the stand that the dying man exclaimed as he lay in bed on the third day: "The coward shot me in bed."

Miss Christine Russell, a nurse, testified that Latimer said: "A coward shot me in cold blood." Once, when Latimer's brother spoke about the search for the burglar, the wounded man said: "No burglar ever shot me."

Other witnesses gave damaging testimony.

Miss Margaret Vennig, niece of Mrs. Latimer, said she saw a man run from Mrs. Latimer's room and down the stairs. She was sure it was no one she had ever before seen.

FAILED TO FIGHT AMERICAN.

Captain Wester May Be Forced to Retire From Swedish Army.

Stockholm, Sweden, July 18.—A great sensation has been caused here in military circles by the conduct of Captain Arvid Wester, who, after challenging an American, William Casper, to fight a duel, failed to put in an appearance at the place selected for the encounter, yesterday morning.

Wester will be undoubtedly forced to retire from the army.

JUST IN TIME

Down in Health and Strength—Nervous, Irritable, Ache All Over, a Depressed Condition Rapidly Changed.

Mr. B. L. Updegraff, of No. 169 Fifth street, East Liverpool, O., says: "As a general and nerve tonic I can recommend Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills I got at Larkins' drug store. I was at the time feeling run down and nervous, not up to the mark in health, and needed a tonic. The medicine did its work nicely and I regained tone, strength and energy again."

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills are sold at 50 cents a box at dealers or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Company Buffalo, N. Y. See that portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M. D., are on every package.

AN EASY VICTORY.

How an Obstinate English Lord Was Outwitted In Naples.

Lord Charles Hamilton used to go about Naples attended by a large, ferocious bulldog. Having decided upon going to Rome, he proceeded to the station and took his place in a first class carriage, the "dawg" taking up a position on a seat opposite his master. The platform inspector, with many gesticulations, declared that the bulldog should not travel in a passenger carriage.

"Very well, then; take him out," was Lord Charles' rejoinder.

In vain the official expostulated. He merely reiterated his former reply, a piece of advice it is needless to say which was not followed, and Lord Charles, apparently master of the situation, threw himself back in his seat and calmly lighted a cigar.

But the Italians were not to be outdone, and, quietly detaching the carriage in which the English "milor" was seated, they made up the train with another compartment and started it off.

Lord Charles sat quietly smoking for about a quarter of an hour and then surprised at the delay, thrust his head out of the window and demanded when the train was going to start. His feelings when the situation was described to him may be imagined.—London Tit-Bits.

Subduing a Bully.

An experience on a Siberian train related by a writer in a Vladivostok paper reminds one of the early stage coach days beyond the Mississippi and seems even more violent because the participants in the adventure were not rough plainsmen and mountaineers but a lady and a nobleman.

When the train pulled up at Tsitikar in Manchuria, a Mantchoo noble who had bullied all his fellow passengers alighted at the station restaurant after warning them that he would decapitate any of them who took his seat. During his absence a smartly dressed young Russian lady entered the car and, despite the alarmed expostulations of its occupants, calmly appropriated the seat.

When the noble returned, he flew into a passion and advanced threateningly with his curved saber drawn. But the young woman coolly covered him with a shining revolver.

"Do you take us for a pack of cowardly mandarins?" she exclaimed, and then, pointing to her feet, she remarked, "Here is your place, my hero."

The Mantchoo noble surrendered and sat at her feet for the rest of the journey.

Books and English Spelling.

Most people think when they see a book that has the English spelling—the "u" in "honor" and "odor," the "ise" for "ize," etc.—that the types were set up and the plates made in England, but as a matter of fact most important books that are written by English authors are set up in this country. When an important writer is to bring out a new volume, an arrangement is made for its simultaneous publication on both sides of the water. The manuscript is then sent to the American publisher, who gives it to his compositors marked "English spelling," and it is set up in that manner quite as accurately here as any London compositor would do it. After the plates have been made they are sent to England. This roundabout method of simultaneous publication is due to the intricacies of the copyright law.—Philadelphia Record.

Making It Simple.

The scholarly looking man with the big eyeglasses had been invited to address the Sunday school and was making a few remarks concerning the lesson.

"I see the word 'line' occurs here," he said. "Will some one give me a definition of 'line?'"

Nobody answered.

"It is very easy," he proceeded encouragingly, "though you may find it a little perplexing to convey the idea in simple terms. Try again. Well, the ordinary signification of the word is longitudinal extension, but here it denotes a predetermined boundary. I am sure, my young friends, you can remember that."—Chicago Tribune.

The Trouble With Poets.

"Trouble 'bout these here poets," said the Georgia farmer, "they none of 'em make good field hands."

"Ever tried 'em?"

"Of course. They're dead set ag'in plowin' for fear they'll hurt a wild flower, an' they won't beat an' swear at a mule for fear he's got a soul."

"That's strange."

"No, it ain't. 'Twixt you an' me an' the gatepost it's downright inherited laziness."—Atlanta Constitution.

New Bark In Trees.

It is not a new fact, but yet a remarkable one, that if a fruit tree—apple, pear or cherry—be stripped entirely of its bark in the second week in June a new surface of bark will immediately take the place of the older one. It is believed that the chief growth of deciduous trees in our part of the world takes place at midsummer.

A Terrible Death Punishment.

In England, during the reign of Henry VIII., the public mind became greatly excited through several cases of poisoning, and parliament enacted a law making boiling to death the penalty. This law was on the statute books about sixteen years. It was made retroactive, so as to take in a case that chiefly prompted its enactment—that of Richard Rosse, otherwise Coke, the bishop of Rochester's cook, who poisoned seventeen persons, two of whom died. Coke was boiled at Rochester. The infliction was attended with peculiar cruelty, as Coke was put into a cauldron of cold water and gradually cooked to death.

A few years later, in March, 1542, a young woman named Margaret Davy was punished in a similar way on conviction of poisoning. The public were not satisfied as to her guilt, and, notwithstanding the comparatively slow travel of news in those days, the story of Margaret Davy's trial and punishment soon spread through the kingdom and aroused universal horror. Boiling to death remained on the statute books, however, as long as Henry reigned, perhaps because the monarch himself had a dread of being poisoned. Immediately after his death parliament repealed the law.

Sparing Her Feelings.

"You don't write," the treasurer of the savings bank said gently to the old colored woman. "Just touch the pen." She did so, her business was concluded and her feelings were spared. The official might have said, "You can't write," and that would have been true, but the difference between plain truth and considerate truth is sometimes as marked as the distinction between a boor and a gentleman.—Youth's Companion.

NO GENERAL STRIKE.

None, If Voice and Influence of President Mitchell Shall Prevail.

CHANCES OF STRIKING REMOTE.

In a Speech, at Indianapolis Convention, the President Urged That Bituminous Men Continue Work and Assessments Be Levied.

Indianapolis, July 18.—If the voice and influence of President Mitchell, of the United Mine Workers, shall prevail with the members of his organization, there will be no general strike of the organization. The chances of such a step being taken now are very remote. In his speech in the convention yesterday afternoon Mr. Mitchell advised strongly against a strike and urged that the bituminous miners continue at work, and that a system of assessment upon the members of the order, which he outlined, be carried into effect as the best means of affording aid and support to the striking anthracite men in the east.

TOMLINSON HALL.

[Where miners convention is to be held.]

Might Have Ended Convention Then.

His recommendation, if it had been adopted by the convention yesterday afternoon, would have settled the entire question for which the convention was called, and an immediate adjournment would have followed. A motion to adopt the suggestions of President Mitchell provoked a long debate, in which the general sentiment was against the ordering of the strike. The men from the anthracite region finally made a request that they be allowed to hold a caucus to determine upon an expression of opinion as to what they thought the convention should do, and asked an adjournment of the convention for this purpose. Their request was granted and the adjournment taken.

Those Favoring Strike In Minority.

The men who were in favor of a strike were in a decided minority in the convention. Three speeches were made by members of the anthracite districts, asking that the soft coal men walk out, and twice as many were made by the anthracite men urging the soft coal men to continue at work.

TRACY ESCAPED AGAIN.

Posse Arrived Too Late—Chase From One Point Abandoned.

Black Diamond, Wyo., July 18.—Tracy has escaped again. He has eluded the sheriff of King county and many picked men, who had advanced on his hiding place, three miles from here, Wednesday night. The posse arrived at Tracy's hiding place six or eight hours after he had left. He had taken a rowboat and gone to the east end of Sawyer lake, presumably about 2 o'clock yesterday morning, accompanied by his two confederates. Sheriff Cudihee and the posse returned to Black Diamond yesterday afternoon. The chase from this point has been abandoned.

Lieut. McKinley to Go to Germany.

Washington, July 18.—The three general officers who will represent the United States army at the autumn manoeuvres of the German army have selected their aides as follows: Major General Corbin will have Lieutenant Colonel John A. Johnston, of the adjutant general's department; Major General Young will have First Lieutenant James F. McKinley, Fourteenth cavalry, a nephew of President McKinley, and Brigadier General Wood will have First Lieutenant Frank R. McCoy, Tenth cavalry.

Considered Glenn Court Martial.

Washington, July 18.—Secretary Root yesterday considered the verdict and findings in the case of Major Edwin F. Glenn, tried by court martial at Manila, on charges (growing out of the investigation by the senate committee on military affairs) that he ordered the water cure administered to natives. The trial was ordered by the president and the case is now being made up by the secretary of war to be sent to the president for final review.

To Arrange Republic Wage Scale.

Columbus, O., January 18.—President T. J. Shaffer and the vice president of the Ninth district of the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Tin Workers met here yesterday, with officials of the Republic Iron and Steel company and the Tennessee Coal and Iron company, to arrange a scale and foot notes for plate mills. The vice presidents were to discuss decisions relative to contentions at various mills, so that future decisions will be uniform.

AN INCREASE IN DEALINGS.

Fairly Crossed the Million Share Mark, In Stock Market Thursday.

New York, July 18.—The aggregate sales of stocks yesterday showed a further increase in the volume of dealings, which fairly crossed the million share mark.

Some of Wednesday's conspicuous low priced stocks were acutely affected by profit taking. This was notably true of the Chicago and Alton stocks. The evidence of profit taking in these and the sudden relapse of over two points in Colorado Fuel after a four-point advance had a decidedly chilling effect and put a sudden stop to the activity of the market, leaving it at a level which fairly averaged below Wednesday night.

The check thus brought about to the animation of the market was changed again by the heavy demand developed for the Reading stocks and the coalers. This demand was undoubtedly based upon the assumption that the coal miners' convention will decide against a general strike. Late in the day Chesapeake and Ohio renewed its strong advance to the extent of 2⅞, but without checking the selling to realize at other points and making the closing irregular.

King Made Rapid Improvement.

London, July 18.—Since his removal to Cowes the improvement of the king has been so rapid that his physicians have ordered a more liberal diet for his majesty. The fleet has been ordered to assemble at Spithead, Aug. 11, for the purpose of a review being held a few days subsequently by the king.

FEEHAN'S BODY RESTS.

Imposing Funeral of the Archbishop Held, at Chicago.

CARDINAL GIBBONS OFFICIATED,

At the Solemn Pontifical Requiem Which Was Conducted by Bishop Spalding—The Remains Viewed by Crowd Estimated at 75,000.

Chicago, July 18.—With much pomp and imposing ceremony and in the presence of the cardinal of the church and a great gathering of ecclesiastical dignitaries, the last rites of the Roman Catholic service for the dead were performed for Archbishop Patrick A. Feehan yesterday at the Cathedral of the Holy Name. Early in the day a series of masses was begun by the numerous visiting priests, ending in the great pontifical requiem mass.

During the funeral service crowds thronged the streets in the vicinity of the cathedral, which was filled to overflowing by members of the clergy and a favored few of the laity. Cardinal Gibbons, with his deacons, officiated at the solemn pontifical requiem, which was conducted by Bishop John Lancaster Spalding, of Peoria. Archbishop Ryan, of Philadelphia, delivered the funeral sermon. After the mass Cardinal Gibbons pronounced absolution. The body of the dead churchman was then borne to a vault in Cavalry cemetery, whence it will be removed later to its last resting place in the new cemetery of Mount Carmel.

The funeral cortege was probably one of the grandest and most imposing that ever passed through the streets of this city. It was estimated that 75,000 people viewed the body yesterday.

TWO SISTERS OF CHARITY SHOT.

Man, Believed Demented, Said Asylum Authorities Wouldn't Give Him Information of His Birth.

New York, July 18.—Henry F. King 30 years old, entered the office of the New York Foundling asylum yesterday afternoon and shot two Sisters of Charity. He then ran into the grounds of the institution and shot himself in the left breast, making only a flesh wound. King was taken to a police court, where he was committed without bail for examination Saturday. The injured Sisters are: Sister Angelo, 45 years old, shot in the right arm, and Sister Cecilia, 30 years old, shot in the left arm and side. Neither was fatally hurt.

King, who has been a frequent visitor to the foundling asylum, is believed to be demented. He suffered for some time from melancholia, according to the police, and on May 7 was arrested in the yards of the institution after he had attempted to commit suicide by taking carbolic acid.

When he was arraigned King said he had begged the authorities of the foundling asylum to give him information about his birth, but that they had refused to do so. This so angered him, he said, that he did not know what he was doing.

FOR REPLY TO TAFT.

Commission of Cardinals Is Convened to Consider One.

Rome, July 18.—After the pope had read the last American note on the subject of the friars and their lands in the Philippines, Cardinal Rampolla, papal secretary of state, convened the commission of cardinals to consider a reply. So far no answer has reached Judge Taft, though in a personal letter to Cardinal Rampolla, Judge Taft said:

"As the document from Secretary Root is conclusive, and as I wish to leave Rome as soon as possible, I beg your eminence to secure me and the gentlemen accompanying me a fare well audience as early as his holiness will deign to grant it."

President to Decide Bragg's Fate.

Washington, July 18.—The first official step has been taken in the case of General Bragg, United States consul general at Havana. The state department has heard from Mr. Squiers our minister to Cuba, on this subject and also has heard indirectly from General Bragg. It is understood that the general takes the ground that this is a purely personal matter and that he is not therefore open to official criticism. An extract of a letter to his wife, in which he criticized the Cubans, was published recently. The papers in the case were sent to the president for a decision.

NEURALGYLINE FOR THE NERVES

relieves neuralgic and other nervous pains. It relieves them quickly. It is absolutely harmless. By quieting the nerves, it removes the cause of all nervous diseases. When your head feels as if thousands of pins were sticking in it, when your night's rest is broken by those awful neuralgic pains, when, on account of your awful suffering, you become morose and cross, when you are tired of your very existence, when, in short, you are in the grasp of that fiendish disease, Neuralgia, buy a box of Neuralgyline.

Take one pellet. Twenty minutes after you have taken it, your pains will have vanished as if by magic. You only have yourself to blame now if you continue to have Neuralgic pains, for Neuralgyline relieves pain permanently.

TESTIMONIALS.—Every sale of Neuralgyline insures a satisfied customer, who by telling of its merits, makes new customers. Mr. E. PELL, Druggist, Canton, Ohio.

I recommend Neuralgyline as a permanent cure for Neuralgia and neuralgic headache. W. SCOTT, M. D., Ormond, Florida.

They have been relieved of their awful suffering, so can you.

Every first-class druggist in town sells Neuralgyline. Price 25c. a box. If you find that Neuralgyline is not as represented, money will be cheerfully refunded. Samples free on request.

NEAR TO DEATH FROM A FALL

Earl Brunt, Aged 14, Thrown to the Pavement From His Bycicle.

SKULL FRACTURE FEARED

While enjoying a bicycle ride on Fifth street above Jackson street last evening between the hours of 8 and 9 Earl Brunt, aged 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wililam H. Brunt, of Fifth street, met with a most deplorable accident, and it is feared that his life hangs in the balance.

Just how the accident occurred the unfortunate boy has been unable to tell, but Carl Cripps, a companion, who had been riding with him and who was near at the time, states that a rock in the street turned the front wheel abruptly and threw both the boy and the wheel to the bricks very forcibly.

Passersby were attracted to the boy and found him lying motionless on his right side and in a cramped position. For the time being it was thought that he was dead, he being unconscious. However, he was carried into the residence of Charles Craft, and his father and three physicians, Drs. Hobbs, Laughlin and Harrison, were summoned. The physicians were at the boy's side in a short time, and immediately pronounced him not dead, but recommended that he be taken to his home in a carriage. This done, a more rigid examination was made, and it was found that he was hurt seriously.

Dr. Laughlin stated this morning that although the wound, which is located on the back of the boy's head near the ear, may not prove fatal, the fact is not by any means assured. If his skull is fractured his chances for recovery are meager. This cannot be ascertained for a few days, owing to the flesh being badly swollen and it being impossible to make the examination desired.

Through the night and today the sufferer rested as easily as could be expected, and if he undergoes no changes for the worse within the next 24 hours, it is thought that he will speedily recover.

Dr. Hobbs stated this afternoon that he had detected no fracture of the skull and that he had reason to believe that the boy would recover in a few days.

CARS RAN AWAY

BRAKEMAN STANDING ON TOP OF ONE AT THE TIME.

He Jumped And the Cars Dashed Wildly Down the Horn Switch.

Two freight cars, one loaded with clay, got away from the shifting crew of engine No. 693 this morning at 10 o'clock near the brewery and began a chase down the Horn switch. A brakeman was riding the cars down, but lost control on account of defective brakes. When he saw he could not stop the runaway cars he jumped for safety and escaped injury.

The cars continued on down the switch and at the junction of the switch and the main line of the C. & P., in the rear of the base ball grand stand, jumped the tracks, landing sideways across them. Traffic was blocked for a few hours until the wreck train from Wellsville arrived and succeeded in clearing away the wrecked cars. The loaded clay car was the worst smashed of the two, and the tracks were torn up to some extent.

BIDS FOR SEWERS

Received By the Commission and One of Them Accepted.

The sewer commission got together yesterday and disposed of the business which had accumulated during the past few weeks. The bids submitted on Tuesday for the sewering of Rural lane, Thompson avenue and Ravine street were carefully considered, but only one contract was awarded. J. N. George had the lowest bid on the Rural lane work, and was given the contract. Harrison Rinehart and Mr. George differed so little in their bids on the other streets that the commission decided to further consider both bids before letting the contract.

Petitions from the property owners along Green lane, East Seventh and West Market streets, asking that sewers be laid, were accepted, and the clerk ordered to present them to council with the recommendation that the work be done.

CLEVELAND ATTORNEY

Another Sensational Chapter in the Salineville Minister's Suit.

Constable P. E. Spires, of Wellsville, went to Cleveland this morning. He had in his possession a warrant for the arrest of C. R. Penney, a prominent Cleveland attorney, who is charged by Rev. E. W. Rinehart, of Salineville, with writing slanderous letters to members of the Disciples church, of which he was pastor. The reverend gentleman alleges the letters were written for the sole purpose of blackening his character and that of his wife. It is claimed Penney wrote a letter to Rodney Griffith, who has been arrested. Rinehart, it is said, blames Penney more than Griffith.

The trouble between Penney and Rinehart is said to date back to their youth, when both were lovers of one young woman. Before Dr. Rinehart removed to this part of the state, he was arrested, tried and acquitted on charges preferred by Penney.

The minister himself vouches for the motives of Penney in bringing dishonor on his name. Both Griffith and Rinehart have arranged to have a number of witnesses on hand at next Monday's trial.

Both Dr. Rinehart and Mr. Griffith were in Wellsville yesterday. Griffith stated that he had given out a statement for publication, but was making an effort to have it withdrawn, as he had since decided to say nothing of the matter. Dr. Rinehart arrived on the noon train from Salineville and at once repaired to the office of his attorney, where they held a consultation. He had nothing to say for publication.

Among the witnesses for the plaintiff are: Theodore Kellogg, Mary Moore, William Randolph, W. F. Morrow, John Elliott, William Hoopes, Mitchell Brown and many others.

The Tombstones Defeated the C. A. C. By a Score of 12 to 4.

The C. A. C. base ball team might have defeated the Tombstones at Oak Grove camp grounds last evening had it played as fast in the first part of the game as in the last inning. But it did not, and is now lamenting over the fact. The final score stood 12 to 4, and it is said that the former made all of its runs in the ninth when the Tombstones gave up trying to field the balls, owing to the near approach of darkness.

Errors were numerous on the defeated side and hits were plentiful on the victorious side. The batteries were: Jarvis and Cripps, Deitz and Firth.

A QUEER GENIUS

Came From Ravenna, and Caused no End of Amusement on the Streets.

Charles Keppler, of Ravenna, who has been in East Liverpool for the past two weeks, is a queer genius. He appeared on the streets with a gaudily decorated cap, and attracted great attention on the Diamond last night by appearing in a ladies' hat. He has been treating the girls to all the delicacies of the season and sending his money in a most careless, trifling way.

The boys treated him to a dose of goose pasture, and gave him a good time generally. He appeared well satisfied with his reception in the city on taking his departure last evening.

EXAMINING ENGINEERS

District Deputy Miller Questions Candidates for Licenses.

Elmer E. Miller, district state examiner of stationary engineers, with headquarters at Canton, was conducting his regular examination at the Metropole hotel, Wellsville, today. Engineers were present from Wellsville, East Liverpool and Salineville.

Among those who took the examination are: John A. Forner, Lewis H. Morse, George W. Wright, N. P. Kerr, N. F. Warden and Michael McNewell.

And Although She Had not Been Within Seven Miles of a Smallpox Patient Neighbors Had Heard That She Had the Disease.

When Miss Mary Kline arrived in the city yesterday afternoon on the steamer Lorena and proceeded to her home in Dry Run, East End, a most exciting scene was witnessed. Hardly had she been seated under her parents' roof before the telephone bells were fiercely ringing and the wires were burning, a dozen or more making an attempt, all at the same time, to talk with Health Officer Burgess at the city hall.

The cause of the unusual proceedings was that, Miss Kline, while visiting at Friendly, W. Va., had written to her mother and told of a town nearby being afflicted with smallpox, and that she was afraid she would become a victim. The report was immediately circulated among the Dry Run neighbors, and of course when the young lady appeared in the vicinity all were up in arms. They wanted her arrested and placed in a pest house.

Officer Burgess went with all haste to the home and found that the girl had no symptoms of the disease and that she had not been within seven miles of the locality in which it is raging.

THE ELKS' CARNIVAL

Lodge Discusses the Question and Will Decide It Later.

The proposition to have a carnival at Rock Springs park in September or some other time in the fall, was given its first consideration at a meeting of East Liverpool lodge, No. 258, B. P. O. E., last evening.

It is stated that while the main promoters of the idea were absent from the meeting the proposition was favorably received At the next meeting, which will be held on Thursday of next week, it is likely some definite action will be taken regarding the carnival.

As it is known that the local lodge never does things by halves, if it decides to hold another carnival in the fall, it will be even better than the first and last one they held. The holding of a carnival means an immense amount of work, but as that is what some of the members are noted for, the carnival, if held, is an assured success.

TO CINCINNATI BY BOAT

Party of Glass Workers From Pennsylvania Here on a Pleasant Voyage.

A party of glass workers from Breckinridge, Pa., 20 miles up the Monongahela river, captained by Michael Haumer, arrived by houseboat at the wharf this morning. They are making a floating trip to Cincinnati, and have already been on the way two weeks.

The boat is cosily fitted up with berths and household furnitrue, and they have an organ on board. They will fish and hunt along the way. They are thoroughly enjoying the trip thus far.

An unknown man took a fainting fit near the Diamond fountain last night at 9 o'clock. A physician who happened to be in the vicinity attended him and brought him around all right. He was unconscious for a time. A big crowd was attracted to the scene.

SUIT FOR $344,000 OVER MINING LEASE

C. A. Smith Defendant in an Action For a Large Amount.

Their Claims as Presented In a Petition to Court—The Defendant Makes Denial of the Allegations.

Lisbon, July 18. — (Special.) — J. G. English, of Danville, Ill., and J. F. English, of Sumter, Ore., have filed suit in common pleas court against C. A. Smith, of East Liverpool and Pittsburg, for $343,907.12 damages. The plaintiffs allege in their petition that Smith took an option on 980,000 shares of the Golconda Mining company, of Sumter, Ore., and that he agreed to pay for the stock $400,000. When he took this option the company was reorganized in Smith's interest and he elected president.

The agreement was that Smith was to contribute to the mining company the sum of $3,500 per month for one year from January 29, 1901, to be used in sinking the shaft 100 feet deeper and otherwise developing the mine.

The plaintiffs' claims are that he sunk the shaft only 90 feet and left the mine in a greatly damaged and unsafe condition; that Smith used the receipts from the sale of gold to develop the mine instead of declaring a dividend and that he did not contribute $3,500 per month to the company; that he carried away assay certificates and machinery belonging to the company; that he never formally surrendered the option, but abandoned the mine on December 1, 1901, and that they took charge of the mine and declared the option at an end on March 5, 1902. They were put to much expense and were unable to sell the stock to as good advantage as they otherwise might and claim that they were damaged by Smith's failure to comply with the agreement.

Mr. Smith, on being interviewed, denied that the plaintiff had sustained any considerable damage and said that he had offered to reimburse them for their loss, but was unable to make a settlement.

SUDDEN INSANITY

Developed By a Well Known Wellsville Man in Pittsburg Yesterday.

W. A. Christy, who up to yesterday was employed in the department of maintenance of way in the C. & P. passenger station on Third street, Wellsville, went suddenly insane yesterday at Pittsburg, where he had evidently fled when the mania seized him.

Mr. Christy's home is in Cleveland. While in Wellsville he made many friends who highly respected him. He walked into the Pittsburg central police station yesterday and asked the authorities to protect him, as a score of men were seeking his life. The department of charities and correction furnished him transportation to Cleveland, and he arrived there this morning.

A DEMENTED GIRL

Arrested and Placed in Jail at New Cumberland—People Thought Her Dead.

Policeman Cameron arersted Maria Reynolds, demented girl from Penrith, below New Cumberland, who h as become a nuisance on the street, and put her in jail. During the afternoon Maria went to sleep on a cot in one of the cells, and could not be aroused. People about the court house thought she was dead, as she seemed to be almost rigid.

Dr. Cramer was sent for and administered some remedies, and later Maria was restored to her usual energy and hilarity. It seems she had gotten hold of some opium or some kind of drug that put her into a sort of cataleptic state.

THE JAIL IS EMPTY

Duff Call Taken to Canton Workhouse—Gaskill's Fine Paid.

There was little doing around the city hall this morning. Every cell was empty and the mayor and other officials were enjoying themselves by the spinning of yarns. Officer McDermott left on the morning train for Canton in charge of Duffy Call, who will visit the Stark county workhouse for several months. A friend of his appeared last evening and wanted to get him released by promising to pay 50 cents per day until the fine was eliminated, but it was thought best to give the young desperado a taste of soldier life.

Albert Gaskill, the young man who so brutally cut and beat James Johnston on Wednesday night, was spared the trip. His mother procured the $50 and costs and got his release.

WARRANTS ISSUED

Nowling's Orchestra Also Included, Interesting Case to Be Decided.

The warrants have been issued in the park cases. They are for Manager Smith, Supt. Maxwell, Ticket Seller Dorff and Collector Good, and Nowling's orchestra, the cases to be heard before 'Squire Johnston.

The warrants were sworn out based on the statutes of West Virginia, section 16 of the law against offenses, against morality and decency, as: "If a person be found laboring on the Sabbath day, at any trade or calling, or has servants in other business, except of necessity, he shall be fined not less than $5 for each offense."

The cases will be heard in Squire Johnston's court tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

The warrants read "that one Roy Young et al., did unlawfully labor on the Sabbath day and not of necessity, etc."

RINEHART RELEASED

'Squire Johnston Dismissed the Suit Brought By J. S. Paulley.

John Rinehart through his attorneys, Brookes & Thompson, argued a motion before 'Squire Johnston in Chester this afternoon to quash the charge against him filed by J. S. Paulley, general manager of the bridge. Attorney Ingram argued the case for Paulley. Attorney Jason Brookes filed in his motion to dismiss because there was not enough in the charge to constitute a misdemeanor.

The case was dismissed this afternoon by Squire Johnston, the plaintiff, J. S. Paulley, not appearing to prosecute.

Pottery Manufacturers' Dispute With Auditor Adams Likely to be Adjusted.

The dispute between the manufacturing potters of this city, at least a certain few, with the county auditor, bids fair to be settled in a very short time. Such was the information given out today, after a meeting of some of the manufacturers, held last evening. The proposed terms of settlement are not made known. It is said no cases will be presented to the courts.

The committee of manufacturers having this matter in charge is composed of W. E. Wells, H. N. Harker and W. L. Smith.

Will Probably End John Prudence's Stay In Jail at Lisbon.

Lisbon, July 18. — (Special) — A license to marry has been granted to John Prudence and Nora Halfhill, both of East Liverpool. Prudence is confined to the county pail on a charge of a delicate nature, preferred by Miss Halfhill. An effort is being made by his father to have him released from jail and marry the girl.

Judge Hole will probably consent to the agreement if she will sign a release of the action and he can secure $12.65 to pay the costs.

Is the Appointment Received by Ex-Deputy Sheriff Lawrence Allison.

Lawrence Allison, formerly deputy sheriff of Columbiana county, has been appointed yard master at Dennison, on the main branch of the Panhandle, and assumes his new duties tomorrow. The position is worth over $1,000 per annum.

Appealed to Common Peas.

Lisbon, July 18. — (Special.) — Albert Dinerstein sued F. J. Livingston in the court of Justice Daniel McLane, of East Liverpool, for $12, claimed to be due for labor and was given judgment for $5. The defendant has appealed to common pleas court.

AN AWFUL FALL FROM WINDOW

Young Lady Walked in Her Sleep and Was Very Badly Hurt.

HER INJURIES ARE INTERNAL

SOMNAMBULIST FOR YEARS

Emma Morley, the 16-year-old daughter of Link Morley, brother of the late ex-Mayor Morley, who is employed as a kilnman in the Edwin M. Knowles pottery, of Chester, and who resides on Center alley in the rear of East Market street, had a frightful fall from the front window at her home last night at 12 o'clock.

Mr. Morley has lately moved from the East End to this city, occupying the home where the acident happened. He states his daughter has been subject to somnambulistic feats, and has a number of times been found by members of the family walking about the house in her sleep. Her feats have not particularly worried the family, but she has been watched to some extent for fear harm would befall her. On one occasion Emma arose in her sleep and performed the remarkable feat of lighting a lamp in her bed room before she was discovered and awakened by other members of the family. She has performed other similar feats, but has fortunately escaped injury thus far.

Last night she arose from her bed and walking to one of the front windows, climbed out on the window sill. From this perilous position she fell to the yard below, a distance of 12 feet, alighting on a chair, upsetting it. It is thought she was badly injured internally. Her screams not only attracted members of the family, but were heard by many on the streets, and soon a large number of people were attracted to the scene.

Dr. Ogden was hastily summoned and upon examination found that no bones had been broken, but he could not exactly determine the extent of her internal injuries at the time.

The father stated to a News Review reporter this morning that she was resting easily, and he hopes her injuries are not serious. She suffers quite a good deal from the effects of the fall, and complains of pain.

The father was first to reach her side and carried the almost unconscious form of the young girl into the house, where everything possible in the way of medical skill is being done to save the girl's life.

MUZZLE YOUR DOG

Then, If the Owner Does Not Appear, the Animal Will Be Killed.

In accordance with a city ordinance providing for the care of the canine family during what is known as "dog days," the mayor issued an order to the police this morning which he states must be carried out to the letter. The order follows:

"It shall be the duty of the marshal, police and night watchman to take up and impound any dog found in the city limits between July 20 and October 10 that has not been properly muzzled. The officers shall keep the dogs for 48 hours, and if the owner does not pay all charges, the cost of muzzling the dog and a fee of $1, the officers shall kill the dog."

The police are desirous that owners of dogs will take heed to the warning, and thereby prevent strife, which generally accompanies the killing of dogs.

THIRTY DAYS SERVED

And Vann and Strousse Who Once Ran Away Are Now Free.

Lisbon, July 18. — (Special.) — H. C. Vann and James Strousse, who have been serving a 30-day sentence in jail for pocket-picking at Salem, were released today. They ran away some time ago and attempted to reach West Virginia. They were captured by Sheriff Leonard near Highlandtown.

TWO REVOLVERS DRAWN UPON HIM

And Could Only Comply With the Request—Fifty Cents All the Highwayman Secured—Small Clue For Police to Work On.

A daring holdup of which Attorney W. H. Burgess was the victim and two unknown men the perpetrators occurred last night shortly before 12 o'clock on Fourth street a few doors above the postoffice.

Mr. Burgess, in reporting the matter to Chief Thompson, stated that he was walking down the street to his home, and after passing the Central school building he saw two men standing in the doorway of Rex & Dean's machine repair shop, but had no cause for alarm and walked without faltering toward them.

At a point nearly opposite them he was greatly surprised and more scared when one, the smaller of the pair, stepped out and, presenting a revolver, demanded a quarter. The accomplice chimed in and said: "No, we want a dollar."

Mr. Burgess admits that there was nothing else for him to do but put his hands up and let them have all that his purse contained, as by this time two revolvers were staring him in the face in a pleading manner.

Unhesitatingly, but with reluctance he allowed them to search his pockets. Fifty cents was all that they received for their boldness and trouble. After finding their attempt to become immensely rich in a moment's time had proved futile they gave Mr. Burgess orders to move on. He carried out the order in quick time.

Chief Thompson and the police are on the lookout for the highwaymen, but have little hope of capturing them, the description given being incomplete.

LOOKING FOR GOODMAN

Auditor of the Company He Worked For on the Man's Trail.

J. W. Elliott, of Columbus, who is traveling auditor for the Curmans' Mercantile establishments, went to New Cumberland and Toronto this morning to see if he could not apprehend James Goodman, whom, it is alleged, embezzled $173 worth of goods from the firm.

Mr. Elliott said that Goodman had been seen passing through Wellsville going south, by an officer of that city, driving a horse and wagon. The New Cumberland and Toronto authorities have been notified.

EAST END

A Shut-Down of Ten Days at Sewer Pipe Works While Improvements Are Made.

The East End plant of the American Sewer Pipe company will close tomorrow evening for about 10 days. The plant has been in steady operation for quite a long time, and the coming shutdown will be the longest since the plant started under the new management. The cause of the temporary suspension is that a number of improvements are to be made at the works at an expense of fully $1,000. For this sum a good deal of repair work can be done, but no machinery will be purchased for the plant.

The clay elevators are to be extensively repaired, and also the grinding pans. The presses will be overhauled, and everything about the big plant that needs repairing will be looked after. A number of the kilns also will be repaired, floors of these being relaid, and in all the plant will be given a general overhauling. It will resume operations within two weeks and continue doing so until the new year. The quality of the pipe made at this plant is such that it is in general demand; in fact, more so than pipe made at other factories in the trust.

IN THE SQUIRE'S COURT

A Number of Small Suits Disposed of By Justice L. W. Carman.

Quite a lot of business was transacted in the court of Justice L. W. Carman yesterday afternoon. The case of Dr. R. J. Marshall against Mrs. Andrew Rattray for $94 and interest for services was heard, and judgment for $108.55 was given the plaintiff. In the case with the same plaintiff against R. J. Stenger, judgment for $119 with interest, all amounting to $136.85, was given.

In the case of Mrs. Maggie Azdell, of East Market street, against Miss A. Moore, for which judgment for $8.50 was given the plaintiff last Saturday, an appeal was taken to common pleas court yesterday, a bond for $50 being filed. It is alleged that the amount is due for boarding and lodging. The case was heard when the defendant was out of the city, but her attorney advised the court to render judgment and an appeal would be taken. This was done yesterday.

O. U. A. M. Installation.

The meeting held last evening by Ohio Valley council No. 23, O. U. A. M., at their hall on First avenue, was one of the most interesting held by that order for many months. The new officers elected last month were installed at this meeting by Deputy Lot Haney, and the work was of a public nature. A number of members from General Thomas council, of the city, were present at the meeting, after which an address was made by Rev. N. M. Crowe, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, a member of the order. Attorney A. H. Clark, chairman of the state committee upon laws and appeals of this order, was also present and made an address.

New Crossing to Be Built.

Measurements were taken this morning for a new railroad crossing which will be built to replace the one now in use at the intersection of the street railway and the Cleveland & Pittsburg road on Muiberry street. It seems that both companies have more trouble with this crossing than all the others which the street railway crosses.

EAST END AFFAIRS.

Mrs. Caroline White is planning a trip to East Palestine, where she will visit friends.

T. F. Anderson, of Pennsylvania avenue, was in Pittsburg today on business. He will return home this evening.

Miss Inez Howard, accompanied by her grandmother, Mrs. Field, left this morning for Chautauqua, where they will spend several months.

Mrs. Byron, of Adrian, Mich, accompanied by Mrs. Cal Smith, wife of ex-Postmaster Smith, of East Palestine, is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Stevenson, on Railroad street.

The services at the Second U. P. church Sunday morning and evening will be in charge of Rev. J. N. Swan, of the East End, for many years pastor of the Long's Run Presbyterian church.

VISITORS BEATEN BY A SINGLE RUN

Luck Was Against the Home Team Until Near End of the Game.

The Finish Abounded in Exciting Features—The Junction Team, One of the Strongest in This Section, Vanquished 6 to 5.

After nine innings of the hardest playing that they have engaged in during the season the locals walked from West End park yesterday afternoon with one more scalp under their belt.

Starting the game and continuing for six innings they were completely at the mercy of the Junctions—that famous aggregation from Pittsburg—the one that has downed every team in the Smoky City regions. But when the always lucky seventh arrived they made a wonderful spurt and did enough in the one inning to confuse the visitors to such an extent that victory was assured.

With the score standing 5 to 4 in favor of the visitors the eighth was opened and it ended with no change. Imagine the excitement which prevailed among the fans when in the ninth Davis, the first man up smashed one out for two bases and was closely followed by a single by Emmerling. The time was at hand. They must take advantage of the chance and that unflinchingly or the game was lost.

Maley tied the score and eased the minds of the enthusiasts when he made one of the prettiest bunts on record and allowed Davis to go sailing over the home plate. Maag gave them the same dose and advanced Maley to third base. Godwin ended all suspense by placing a high fly out in left field, Maley scoring on the throw in and thereby winning the game.

It seems that all of the bad luck floating around West End park centers on Godwin. He is undoubtedly one of the best players that ever entered a game with the local team, but fate seems to be against him in the most inopportune times. Had the game been lost yesterday he would have been credited with helping greatly in the defeat. It was in the sixth inning. Two men were out and the score stood very low—2 to 1. The third man up pounded out to him and he dropped it as though it were coated with Mount Pelee lava.

The crowd gave a sigh and commenced making excuses for the general favorite. What could they amount to when the visitors jumped on another one and finally succeeded in scoring two runs? It really looked bad, and all were about disgusted. Enthusiasm was revived immediately in the following inning when Godwin jumped sideways and while on the jump reached up and pulled down a swift one with his left hand. Every one was again in the game and from that on the excitement was intense.

Every game adds laurels to the crown of Maag, the chunky find from Canton. His skill in reaching first base cannot be excelled. In some way he gets there. He either walks, gets hit or makes a hit. To him is due the credit for the three runs made in the seventh inning. The majority of the men were out when he came to bat. Two men were on bases, and in using his judgment he, in a deceiving manner, allowed the ball to hit his arm. Of course, he walked and filled the bases. The rest was easy.

Webb came very near losing his reputations by making a rank error on second. He redeemed himself in a few minutes by taking part in a very clever double play.

Maley did pretty good work, but he has done much better. It probably can be accounted for as the result of his strenuous work while out on the trip.

If it were not for the fact that Berry almost holds the record for put outs, and that he is admired by all, even those on contesting teams, he would have been severely censured for a bit of poor judgment in the ninth inning when he held Davis on third and would not allow him to try to make home. Davis could easily have done so, but Berry did not think so and innocently made him stick to the base.

The Legend of Roquefort Cheese.

Roquefort cheese, like many other unique food productions, has its legend of accidental origin. A shepherd lad, having for once more luncheon than he could eat, while tending his flock of sheep, laid a large portion of his bread and cheese upon a natural shelf in one of the caverns nearby. Boylike, he forgot all about it until several months later on returning to that cavern he found his luncheon. The cheese, instead of being dried up or rotten, was rich, moist and creamy and streaked with greenish blue veins of mold, the remains of the bread which had lain on or under it. He probably told his mother of his discovery and shared his piece of cheese with others. The villagers were quick to recognize the improved texture and quality of the cheese, and henceforth all their cheeses were taken to these caves to ripen.

The caves are owned by a joint stock company, who employ about six hundred women to tend the cheese. Oak shelves on which the cheeses are placed and so arranged that each cheese may have one side next the cold wall of the cave give over 65,000 square yards of storing room.

One of Oswald's Jokes.

When a play written by a man who had roused Oswald's anger by reading a newspaper at a wedding of one of his friends was produced, he prevented its success by inducing 250 of his friends to attend it carrying great books. These young men, who occupied prominent seats, read their books while the performance was going on, and whenever there was any applause each one of them, as if moved by clockwork, turned over a leaf. The rustling of the leaves and the spectacle of the men absorbed in reading made the performance a complete failure.

A Hint on Spanking.

Father (to the seven-year-old son beside him in the dog cart, cutting the whip sharply through the air)—See, Tommy, how I make the horse go faster without striking him at all.

Tommy (in an eager tone of happy discovery)—Papa, why don't you spank us children that way?—New York World.

Octopus For Dinner.

Octopuses are pretty plentiful in Japanese waters and have been known to attack fishermen in their boats. When this hideous monster assumes the aggressive, the only chance the fishermen have is to lop off the tentacles of the beast. Failing this, the boat may be upset and the men dragged under. The octopus is highly valued in Japan as an article of food.

The Explanation.

Knox—I sat down in my easy chair last night and picked up that new novel of Scribbler's and I didn't get to bed until 4 this morning.

Cox—The idea! Why, I thought it awfully tiresome.

Knox—Exactly! It was nearly 4 o'clock when I woke up in my chair.

Only Jar of Its Kind.

Horace Walpole told a lively story of an old porcelain vender who had an exceedingly rare and valuable jar on which he set an almost fabulous price. One hot summer a slight volcanic shock, such as the British occasionally experience, jogged his house about his ears and split his porcelain vase. To an ordinary mind the accident would have been calamitous, but the china seller rose superior to fortune. He doubled the price of the article immediately and advertised it as "the only jar in the world which had been cracked by an earthquake." Nothing very slow about that; whether he got his money is not added, but certainly he deserved it.

The Cossack's Whip.

People who are unacquainted with Russia and who read of street disturbances being suppressed by the Cossacks with their whips have little idea of what formidable weapons these are. Made of hard leather and tapering to a fine point, they are triangular in shape, and the Cossack who knows how to bring the edge down upon his victim can inflict a wound that is not infrequently fatal. A favorite stroke is one by which the eye and a portion of the cheek are cut.

French Beards.

M. Maxime du Camp says in "Souvenirs Litteraires" that after the revolution of July, in 1830, the politics of Frenchmen were known by their beards. Supporters of Louis Philippe wore "mutton chop" whiskers, Bonapartists had mustaches and imperials, Republicans did not shave at all, and Legitimists wore their beards like a collar, with shaved lips and chin.

TRAINING OF HORSES

CAREFUL HANDLING TO FIT THEM FOR CIRCUS TRICKS.

The Candidate For Ring Honors Must Have Special Points Well Developed—Horses Can Be Coaxed, Like a Child, but Not Forced.

"A trainer must possess two qualifications before he can successfully educate a horse to do the tricks seen in a circus—he must possess kindness and perseverance.

"A veteran trainer selects his horses with as much care as a society woman plans a party gown. The candidate for the future applause of the circus going people of the world must be handsome in color, as near perfect as possible in conformation and possess an even temperament. His eyes must be large and devoid of the least trace of viciousness, he must hold his ears pointed slightly forward, and he must have a sensible looking head, broad between the eyes. Horses that lay back their ears at the approach of a man, who nip viciously at every passerby and whose eyes plainly demonstrate a mean disposition are discarded. A trainer will handle no animal of this kind.

"Once the candidate is selected he is shipped to the winter quarters of the circus and assigned to a comfortable stall in a large, clean, well ventilated barn tenanted by several hundred beauties of his kind. Good hay and oats are his in abundance, and for several days he is allowed to rest and become familiar with his surroundings. The trainer visits him daily and by speaking kindly and occasionally giving the animal a bit of sugar gains his confidence. After a time the horse begins to whinny at the approach of the trainer, and the bond of friendship is thus quickly cemented.

"Then comes the first lesson. The candidate is introduced to the training ring constructed near the barn and allowed to wander about at will. He smells the sawdust, the pedestals and the harness and ropes that will soon be buckled about his body and then, horselike, lies down in the center of the ring and enjoys a good roll.

"Next day he is led around and around the ring for several hours and soon understands that he is expected to encircle the ring of his own accord. Then a strap is placed around his right foreleg, and from this strap a rope is run through harness fastened around his body. The trainer grasps the free end of the rope in one hand and a pair of lines attached to the horse's bridle in the other. The animal is told to 'get up,' and after the ring is encircled a few times the command 'whoa' is given. If the horse refuses to obey, a quick pull on the rope draws his leg from under him, and he is forced to stop. Only a few demonstrations of this kind are necessary to show the horse that he must stop when the command is given.

"After these preliminaries are satisfactorily accomplished the equine pupil is taught to kneel first on one knee, then on the other and finally on both. All this is accomplished by drawing up the front legs, one at a time, thus forcing him down. His knees are padded to prevent injury, and every time he is forced down the command to kneel is given, and the animal is petted and reassured with kind words until finally he kneels at the word.

"It is in these preliminary lessons that a good performer is made or spoiled. The instructor must be firm and resolute, but kind, always kind. A horse is like a child; you may coax him, but you can't force without spoiling his disposition. The animal quickly notices any show of ill temper or roughness on the part of the instructor and resents it by becoming balky and obstinate. Blows or harsh punishment only make him worse. You frequently hear people assert that animals are beaten into submission in teaching them tricks. People who say this never saw the inside of the training quarters of a modern circus. A horse or any other animal conquered in this way is never reliable and is apt to spoil a performance by an outbreak of bad temper, besides being dangerous to handle.

"The next lesson for the horse is the art of lying down and remaining motionless until the word is given to rise. This information is imparted to the horse in a manner similar to the kneeling lesson. An ingenious harness makes it possible for the trainer to draw the horse down on a soft bed of hay without injuring him. When the horse willingly lies down at the word of command, he is taught to sit upon his haunches and then is gradually drilled into the other tricks that always draw applause from children and adults alike.

"It is usually an easy matter to teach a horse to stand upon a pedestal, to waltz, rear on his hind legs and march in unison with equine companions after these simple lessons are thoroughly learned and the horse understands the trainer is his friend and not his enemy. The horse of average intelligence learns quickly as soon as he realizes what is required of him. The main requisite on the trainer's part is patience, and if a man hasn't got this, and lots of it, he had better keep out of the business. If he gets excited or impatient and goes to hauling the horse about unnecessarily, the animal is sure to become uneasy and fretful, and a little experience of this kind will spoil him.

"The better bred a horse is the more intelligence it has and the more apt it is to make a good performer, provided it has been handled properly from colthood. All high bred horses, however, are nervous and require kind treatment in order to insure good results."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

MACARTHUR'S NEW POST.

New Commander of Department of the East Has Brilliant Record.

General Arthur MacArthur, who will succeed General Brooks as commander of the department of the east, with headquarters at Governors island, New York harbor, has been in command of the department of the lakes at Chicago since last March. General Brooke reaches the age limit on July 7 and retires after forty-one years' consecutive service in the army.

General MacArthur is a volunteer soldier. He entered the service in the early days of the civil war as first lieutenant and adjutant of the Twenty-fourth Wisconsin infantry, which was recruited in the vicinity of Milwaukee, where his boyhood days were spent.

When young MacArthur's friends asked Governor Larabee of Wisconsin

to commission him as a lieutenant of the Twenty-fourth, the governor hesitated because he thought "a schoolboy should not be sent to the front." The applicant for the commission was then but seventeen years old. He got the position, however, and soon proved that he was made of fighting stuff.

Before he was nineteen he was a major, and it is said that General Grant would have recommended him for a brigadier generalship after the battle of Missionary Ridge except for his extreme youth.

For gallant action at Missionary Ridge MacArthur was awarded a medal of honor. He was struck down at the battle of Franklin, but a package of letters in his breast prevented the bullet entering his body.

After the battle of Franklin the Twenty-fourth Wisconsin was in command of young MacArthur, who had been promoted to be lieutenant colonel. He led the regiment until it was mustered out in 1865.

Young MacArthur entered the regular army the following year as a lieutenant. He was soon promoted and became the youngest captain in the service.

At the outbreak of the Spanish war MacArthur was a lieutenant colonel. He was appointed a brigadier general of volunteers and was sent to Manila with the first detachment of troops. His brilliant service in the Philippines is of too recent date to need rehearsal.

General MacArthur is now fifty-seven and has seven years of active service ahead of him before he will be retired under the age limit. In that time he is likely to achieve the highest command in the United States army.

Germany's Woods.

With the single exception of Norway there is no land in Europe whose area is so taken up by forests as Germany, more than a quarter of its surface being devoted to them.

LOSES ROYAL CROWN.

Only American Woman to Occupy a Throne Is Divorced.

Princess Alice of Monaco, from whom Prince Albert of Monaco has just secured a limited divorce, was formerly Miss Heine of New Orleans. Only a limited divorce was granted, because the prince is a Catholic and could not ask for an absolute decree.

The Princess Alice of Monaco and Monte Carlo, who may be said to be the only American woman who has really occupied a throne, was originally Miss Mary Alice Heine, the daughter of a New Orleans Hebrew banker.

Twenty-seven years ago, while visiting Paris, she became the wife of Duc Richelieu d'Aiguillon et Fronsa. After six years of life with the Frenchman, who claimed direct descent from the famous cardinal's sister, she was left a widow. In 1891 she became the wife of the Prince of Monaco.

Cows Worse Than Bulls.

It is said that the Spanish bullfighter refuses to face a cow, as being so much more dangerous. A bull makes a blind rush at his assailant, and this a little knowledge and experience will soon enable an active man to avoid, but a cow fences with her horns with a skill and quickness unexpected in such an apparently clumsy animal, and a man must be active indeed who can avoid the repeated attacks of an angry cow.

The bull, in a state of nature, fights to obtain the mastery of the herd and not to kill, but the cow only to protect her offspring, and, in her case, there is no quarter given. It would not be to the advantage of the herd that the bulls should kill each other in determining which was the stronger, and therefore they do not use their horns as lethal weapons, but it is, on the other hand, greatly to the advantage of the calves, and so of the future of the herd, that all enemies that dare to attack them should be slain.

Overstated.

In a well known Lancashire town there resides a man who is about as careful of a shilling or two as a man can well be and appear anything like decent. He is in business, in comfortable circumstances, and, being thrifty, honest and industrious, he was considered quite the most eligible bachelor of the neighborhood notwithstanding his painful exactness in matters financial. He finally married a widow worth in her own right some £15,000, and shortly after the ceremony an old friend met him.

"Allow me," he said, "to congratulate you. Your wedding was worth a clear £15,000 to you."

"No," he replied; "not quite so much."

"Indeed! I thought there was every penny of £15,000 in it."

"Oh, no," said the Benedict; "I had to pay £2 12s. 6d. for the marriage license!"—London Answers.

Commenting on the improved conditions of wage-earners in woolen mills a census bureau bulletin says that there has been a gradual evolution. After picturing the old condition, it says of the new conditions: "The rooms are large, lofty, well ventilated and lighted, and heated by steam. Electric lights make good the absence of daylight when required. The hours of labor have even been reduced to sixty per week, and in several instances to a smaller number. Wages are generally paid in cash, usually either every week or once in two weeks, and factory inspection laws prevent, to a great extent, the employment of children under 14 years of age, and insure the best sanitary conditions." These statements apply to American factories in general. Imperfect sanitary arrangements are now intolerable, both to manufacturers and men. There has been a veritable revolution in conditions in the last few years. It has also been learned that cheerfulness, light and healthy surroundings contribute to more and better work. Under the wise system of inspection now rigidly enforced in almost every manufacturing center death-traps for human beings ought speedily to become things of the past.

Minister Wu is a shrewd observer and has a happy faculty of expressing himself. Speaking of the American people and the qualities that make them great he said the other day: "You have no governing class. Men go about their business for years. Suddenly an emergency arises. You want a president, an ambassador, a lawyer to appear before some great international tribunal. You have no class trained and selected for such occupations. But the people always get the man they want and he performs his duty well. I imagine this adaptiveness of the American springs from the almost universal diffusion of education.' It isn't all education, Mr. Wu; that rare possession known as common sense is more abundant than most people think. That and honesty and fixedness of purpose fit a man for any emergency and almost any position he is likely to be called upon to fill.

All that poetry and romance have woven about the "army blue" is to become but ancient history. The new color of the American uniform is officially described as "olive drab." It is not quite yellow, not exactly brown, nor yet a green, but a mixture of all three. There is not that halo of heroism and romance about the boys in olive drab that there is about the "boys in blue," but give our soldiers time and they will give such associations to the new uniform color.

Professors have arisen to remark that Shakespeare's poems are not Shakespeare's; that Columbus did not discover America and that George Washington never owned a hatchet. Now comes a learned man from Harvard who wants to prove that the Monroe doctrine was not invented by Monroe and was not comprehended by him. It is a difficult matter for college professors to attract public attention, but some of them accomplish it.

General Edward S. Bragg, United States consul general at Cuba, has been saying uncomplimentary things about the Cubans. Democratic generals have an unfortunate habit of talking when silence would be more becoming.

Dr. Wiley, chief chemist of the agricultural department, wants about a dozen men to eat adulterated food products and see what effect it will have on them. Why not "try it on the dog?" There are scores of healthy curs in East Liverpool that might be made useful in this way. It is their only possible chance of usefulness.

In the canal treaty to be drawn between this country and Colombia will be incorporated provisions giving the United States rights to coaling stations in Colombian territory, probably one on the Atlantic coast and one on the Pacific. This is a matter next in importance to the canal rights themselves.

It is welcome news that there is to be no strike of soft coal miners. One miners' strike at a time is more than enough.

Bandit Tracy will not come east to lecture, that is one consolation.

William Waggle.

William Waggle, aged about 86 years, died at the home of his son in Summit lane at 8:30 o'clock last evening of paralysis, he suffering a severe stroke a week ago last Monday. The funeral services will be held at his late home tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, interment at Riverview cemetery. Mr. Waggle was well known in this city, having came here from Pennsylvania about six or seven years ago. He was born at Shippingport, Pa., and was also well known through Beaver county. For many years he followed the trade of shoemaking, but of recent years he has labored none.

James Normile.

James Normile, who has been on the retired list of old employes of the C. & P. railroad for several years, died at his home at Smith's Ferry this afternoon at about 1 o'clock. He had been ill for some time, and death was caused by old age. Mr. Normile was employed for many years as section foreman between Smith Ferry and Industry, and was one of the best known railroad men in this section. He has resided in Smith's Ferry for many years, and was quite well to do. The arrangements for the funeral have not been completed.

Melvin Jones.

Melvin, the two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Jones, of Thompson park, died last evening of pneumonia, with which he had been ailing for some time. The funeral services will be held at the home of his parents tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock, interment at Riverview cemetery. The funeral services will be in charge of Rev. J. H. Mason, of the African Methodist Episcopal church.

Both Twins Dead.

The second twin child of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Savage, of Avondale street, died last evening, aged two days. The first of the twins died Wednesday. The funeral service was held this afternoon. Interment at St. Aloysius cemetery.

WITH THE WORKMEN IN THE CLAY PLANTS

The announcement in this paper last evening of the fact that the committee from the Manufacturing Potters' association had secured a lower freight rate from this city to the south was read with interest both by manufacturers and also by operatives. It is of just as much interest to the operatives to have the freight rates reduced from this city as to the manufacturers. Increased orders from the south will result, increasing the output of the local potteries. Not many years ago the rate to the south was much lower than even that which was secured at the Chicago conference. A rate of 49 cents per hundred was in force from this city to the south, and the rate at present is quoted at 70 cents. If a rate of 50 cents could ce secured it would be a wonderful benefit.

A meeting of a committee composed of manufacturers from the association and a committee representing local union No. 9 will be held tonight for the purpose of trying to settle the dispute which has been on for many months relative to the biscuit kilnmen placing flat ware in the first ring in the kiln. The glost kilnmen are paid something extra for this work, and the biscuit kilnmen desire to have the same favor extended. It was decided at the last conference that this dispute should be settled by a joint conference, and now the time for the first session has arrived. Two of the members of the kilnmen's committee are George Smith and Richard Herbert.

William Henderson, of Wellsville, for several years connected with the sewer pipe industry of this section, but more recently affiliated with the management of the East End plant of the American Sewer Pipe company, has been made general manager of the plant by the Pittsburg office. This appointment was made several days ago when some of the officials of the company were in the city, and after the resignation of T. F. Anderson had been presented to the Pittsburg officials.

While there are many frame-fillers walking the streets, yet the saggermakers throughout the city claim they are unable to secure the proper help. A well known saggermaker said today that when a frame-filler had worked at the business for about six months, he is of the opinion that he is as good a saggermaker as any in the business. While he can secure a position as frame filler he refuses to work at any other trade than that of making saggers, or to take charge of a shop. That is why so many of the saggermakers are in need of frame-fillers. Some saggermakers in this city have sent to other towns for frame fillers.

John W. Hall was in Rogers yesterday looking after his interests in the National Furnace Brick company. He says that the plant has been operated steadily since its erection last year.

On Tuesday at Trenton the following important papers were issued: Spear & Mincke Pottery company; registered office, Millville; capital stock, $125,000; corporators, John N. Martin, T. Wilmer Gainson and John F. Mincke, of Millville.

Horatio Wareham, 54 years old, is dead at his home 29 Klagg avenue, Trenton, after an illness of about a week. He was a potter and was employed at the Morris & Willmore pottery. Mr. Wareham leaves a widow and five daughters.

Pittsburg capitalists have purchased this week near New Castle Junction 300 acres of land, and will found a new town called Movaria. A big steel mill will be one of the features as well as a pottery.

The sanitary pressers' union No. 45, N. B. of O. P., at a meeting at Trenton, decided to support only those political parties who have the referendum clause attached to their platforms.

The new Myers Clay Manufacturing company's new sewer pipe works at Toronto are nearly ready for roofing. The boiler and power house is complete.

The Taylor, Smith & Taylor is putting out seven car loads of ware this week. Four of them are bulk ware.

Michael Malone, a kilnhand at the Taylor, Smith & Taylor, has returned from a visiti to Trenton, N. J.

Nick Ferran, a saggermaker at the Laughlin No. 2, has been ill for several days and unable to work.

Charles Shenkle, a dishmaker at C. C. Thompson's, has returned from an extended visit to Canton.

Jack Davis is the name of a new frame-filler at Laughlin No. 3. He is filling for Jeff Green.

Sheridan Culp, a kiln hand at the Taylor, Smith & Taylor, is off duty because of illness.

WELLSVILLE

RAFAELLO'S RINGS

The Cause of Perplexity And a Suit Before the Mayor of Wellsville.

City officials are studying the Italian tongue and Mayor Fogo is having a peck of trouble with an Italian family named Buckley, living on Twelfth street. At the head of the household is J. E. Buckley, and he is the cause of the trouble. His brother, who is not yet one of Uncle Sam's citizens, and whose name is Rignor Raffaello Bucklino, came over from Italy a few years ago to join his brother of this city.

Not being blessed with the necessary lirae, his passage was paid by his brother, and to him Raffaello is also indebted for one month's board. He gave his brother two rings as a token of affection and light-hearted and happy, started out to hunt for work, leaving memories of passage money and board bills behind.

But work was scarce, and there was trouble for the Italian when he returned to Wellsville. He demanded his rings, but fraternal relations had no weight with Buckley, who refused to give them up until the board bill was paid. Raffaello appeared and charged Mary Buckley, his sister-in-law, with having $3.25, American money, which belonged to him, and also with having those rings.

Mayor Fogo sent Buckley, who came to city hall last night, smiling and innocent.

"What do you know about those rings?" was asked him. Buckley replied in broken English that he had given them away for luck. When queried further Buckley stated that a man whom he knew had promised to bring him good luck all his days for one of the rings, while the other had been sent to Italy for the same purpose. Raffaello placed a value of $5 each on the pieces of jewelry and wants $10 worth of justice. Mayor Fogo has doubts that the medicine man was a reality.

The whole bunch will appear in the mayor's court this morning at 7 o'clock, and the city officials will endeavor to straighten out the trouble with the aid of interpreters and a Latin dictionary.

THE SEWER DISPUTE

Designer of the System to Settle Difficulties With the Contractor.

H. E. Riggs, of Toledo, the man who designed the plans for the city's sewer system, is in Wellsville on business. Contractor Irwin and the city became involved in a difficulty over the payment of the money due, and it was said that the specifications had not been followed out. Mr. Riggs was summoned from Toledo to help unravel the trouble, and believes that after another day's conference, the matter can be adjusted to the satisfaction of all parties. Mr. Riggs went over the plans and a conference will be held today at the office of City Solicitor Boyd, and a conclusion will doubtless be reached between the contractor and the city.

Mr. Riggs is an authority on sewer matters. He stated last evening that, barring a few features that will soon be rectified, the city can boast of as good sewerage as can be found in the state of Ohio.

A PUBLIC DUMP

Mayor Fogo Considers It One of the City's Needs.

Mayor Fogo is strongly impressed with the need of a dumping ground for trash of all kinds in Wellsville, and gives out some strong arguments in favor of such a place. It is quite probable that he will see his wishes carried out.

He has his eyes on a suitable tract of ground in the West End, between the railroad and river bank. The surrounding sand is unsuitable for business or building purposes and as a residence district is not to be thought of. A place where trash, street sweepings and refuse of all kinds may be conveniently consigned is a necessity.

"We have issued notice after notice," said Mayor Fogo to a reporter, "calling on the citizens to have a general cleaning up, and all the time the city had provided no place where trash could be disposed of."

A CONCLUSION REACHED

Regarding Paving Work, But Committee Keeps It Secret.

The second meeting of the citizens' and council committee was held in the city hall last night. As at the previous meeting the session was executive and no one, save Engineer Leith and Solicitor Boyd, entered the star chamber.

That important discussions were held was evidenced by snatches of conversation that were heard from time to time. Wellsville is certainly in difficulty over the paving matter, and the necessity of decided and united action was manifest to every member of the committee.

"Oh, yes, we came to a conclusion," was the remark of Secretary Julius Goetz, immediately after the committee adjourned.

When asked for fuller particulars, Mr. Goetz said: "As to anything further I feel that I am not at liberty to say."

He said that the members of the committee had thought it best to keep the matter quiet until the report to council. Whatever the report the mere fact that so large a number of representative property owners could and did come to one conclusion should have decided weight with the city council at the next meeting.

BOARD OF HEALTH

Takes Action Upon a Number of Important Matters.

The board of health meeting last night was an interesting one. Numerous complaints were heard. It was decided to urge council to replace the sewer on Fifteenth street up to Twelfth street with first grade pipe, while the lateral sewer down Thirteenth, Fourteenth and Fifteenth streets should be removed entirely.

The garbage furnace question was discussed, but no action taken. It was recommended that action be taken to remove stagnant water from the fair ground addition.

Bound For the Workhouse.

A gang of prisoners who had been sentenced to the Canton workhouse, were in the city between train times this morning. They were on their way to Canton, were all handcuffed and were a forbidding-looking set.

ALL WORK HAS STOPPED

Improvement on Wellsville's City Streets Now at a Standstill.

All paving work in Wellsville has been called off and not a man is at work on the streets. The citizens' and councilmen's committee did not give publicity to their meeting, but the main things which were done leaked out.

A cessation of work must have been decided on, for today orders were issued from some unknown source for all work to stop. All municipal undertakings out of routine lines will be tied up, hundreds of men thrown out of employment.

Mrs. Clark Dangerously Ill.

Rev. C. E. Clark, pastor of the First M. E. church, received the saddening news this morning that his wife was at death's door. He received a telegram about 10 o'clock anouncing the fact, and left immediately for the bedside. Mrs. Clark is at Saranac lake in the Adarondack mountains for her health. Rev. Mr. Clark recently returned from there.

NOTES AND NOTIONS

A VARIETY OF TALES PICKED UP ABOUT TOWN.

Opinions And Observations of Interest As Noted By News Review Reporters.

What might have been a terrible fight was averted by one man's coolness the other night at the corner of Cook and Broadway. Officer McDermott, while not on duty, was at the depot in readiness to leave for a few days' visit out of the city, when he heard a loud noise on the corner designated and he immediately repaired to the spot. He found a large crowd of men entering into a dispute which undoubtedly would have ended in a fierce quarrel. Part of the men were tin mill workers from Chester and the others were local pottery employes. One crowd was making a rush at the other when the officer interfered and ordered the men to disperse. The gang from Chester did not recognize the protector of the peace and told him to move on or they would give him all that he was looking for. He began to think that he was "in for it." Then some one mentioned his name. That was sufficient. The Chesterites jumped aboard the next car and made their way home.

A trick pony is being kept by Doc McFarland at his stable on Sixth street. The pony is capable of about a hundred slick tricks. The other day Doc left him in the stable, locking the stable door and the stall door. The pony opened the stall door and stable door, sauntered leisurely about, and finally went out on Sixth street to view the sights and was especially attracted by the operation of the street cars. To see how the old things worked, he got in front of an approaching car and was taking in the method of propulsion so intently that he would not leave the track. The motorman was finally compelled to get out and oust him from the track. This was about the time the doctor found his charge. The pony looked quite sheepish when he was taken to the stable. The doctor says he can open almost any fastening and he has to watch him constantly for fear he will get out and be arrested for his numerous pranks.

A long distance fight, the sort for which East Liverpool is noted, occurred the other evening on Fourth street, near the alley leading up past the Presbyterian church. The participants are not known, but their peculiar way of scrapping was witnessed by a large crowd. They started when ten feet apart, and during the entire squabble never got closer together. One would call the other a vile name, and to it a similar name would be responded. This was continued until the heated and much angered men lost their power of speech.

The spectattors say the most comical part of the occurrence was when one of the men would start toward the other a short distance. As he would soon get tired and turn on his follower, the latter would immediately begin to retreat.

Not Very Smart.

"There's no use in trying to make me believe that Francis Bacon was a very smart man," said Senator Sorghum.

"Have you read any of his works?"

"No, but his biography shows that when there was a little financial deal on hand he wasn't clever enough to keep from getting caught."—Washington Star.

ENCAMPMENT ENDS TODAY.

Pennsylvania Guard May Be Away Tomorrow Afternoon—Review Yesterday—Root Expected Today.

Gettysburg, July 18.—Yesterday was "Governor's day" at Camp Meade, and it passed into history as the most successful in the annals of national guard encampments in this state. Nearly 10,000 soldiers passed in review of the commander-in-chief on the very ground where Pickett made his famous charge 39 years ago. The review took place at 5 p. m.

The troops were arranged in two long lines. In the first line were the Third and Second brigades, and the second line was composed of the First brigade, the Fourth corps of cavalry and the three batteries of artillery. The two troops of cavalry and the field battery of artillery of the United States army also participated in the review. Before the march began Governor Stone and staff rode along the line, the trip taking nearly an hour. After this the governor and his staff returned to the center of the field and the march began.

Adjutant General Stewart rode a horse for the first time yesterday since the accident to his leg last year. The homeward movement of the troops will begin this afternoon, and it is expected they will all be gone at 3 p. m. Saturday. Secretary of War Root and a number of United States army officials will visit the camp today.

MONUMENT TO CONFEDERATES.

One Dedicated on Valley Mountain, Near Elkins, W. Va.—Bishop Peterkin Orator.

Elkins, W. Va., July 18.—A Confederate veterans' monument was dedicated yesterday on top of Valley mountain, near here, in memory of southern soldiers who fell at the lonely spot. There was an immense parade, several thousand people being present. The money for the monument was raised chiefly by a number of wealthy English residents of Mingo Flats, W. Va. Bishop Peterkin, of the Episcopal diocese of West Virginia, was the orator of the day.

During the Civil War a half dozen or so of Confederates were killed in the skirmishes there and were buried in a lonely spot on top of the mountain, far away from any human habitation. The monument is not an imposing marble shaft, but is a plain slab of native West Virginia stone, nicely engraved and finished by an old Confederate veteran of Randolph county.

GOLD FOUND IN OHIO.

Discovered In Putting Down a Test Oil and Gas Well at Mt. Vernon, O.

Mt. Vernon, O., July 18.—In putting down a test well the Logan Natural Gas and Oil company yesterday struck gold in quantities assaying $5 a ton. A small vein of coal was also discovered. There is great excitement and the price of land has gone up.

The planing mill of T. Kennedy, of New Kensington, Pa., was damaged by fire to the extent of several thousand dollars.

William Boon and Myrtle Hanna, Altoona, Pa.; John Duncan, Braddock, Pa., and May Gray, McKeesport, were married at Cumberland, Md.

Burglars blew the safe in the East Brady, Pa., postoffice to pieces and got $800 worth of stamps. The building was partly demolished.

Grover Cleveland Supler, aged 15 years, died at Washington, Pa., from lockjaw, caused by the wad of a blank cartridge lodging in his leg on July 4.

Abraham Bashear, the leader of an Assyrian colony at Smithton, Pa., and whose home was burned recently, caused the arrest of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Dumal, on the charge of arson.

While in a crowded car at Cascade park, near New Castle, Pa., J. P. Carlisle, of Allegheny, was robbed of $50 and a check for $17. John Gray, alias Samuel Ross, and William Raney were arrested on suspicion.

John Gohn, a Somerset county, Pa., farmer, was swindled out of $550 by two men with an electric belt scheme. One of them proposed that Gohn take the county agency for the belts and deposit $550 in the hands of Judge Barker at Cambria county. Gohn agreed and gave the money to the second sharper, who impersonated the judge.

The ENGLISH SUCCESSION

YEARS ago when Prince Albert, eldest son of the then Prince of Wales, was a fine, stalwart young fellow, apparently destined to live the allotted years of man, the younger son, George, was not a leading figure in the affairs of the British empire. The chances of his ever succeeding to the throne were considered very remote, for the elder son was just at the marrying age—was, in fact, engaged to be married—and the line of succession would, it seemed, be certainly continued through him. But his untimely death made the second son the heir to the throne on the death of his father, and the "sailor prince," who had been of secondary importance, suddenly acquired a new dignity in the eyes of his countrymen.

George Frederick Ernest Albert, who is next in line of succession as monarch of Great Britain, is the second son of King Edward VII. and Queen Alexandra. His elder brother, Prince Albert Victor, died Jan. 14, 1892, leaving this young man in direct succession to the throne of England.

George was born just thirty-seven years ago and is a healthy and good looking man. While he has, since his marriage in 1893 at least, led a life entirely free from anything that savored either of folly or worse, he was from his early childhood a most mischievous boy. It was for this reason, it is said, that his father decided to send him to sea.

This royal scion was the "enfant terrible" of the family. He was much given to pranks and jokes and was always active and energetic. On his entrance into the royal navy, with his elder brother, the royal cadet was placed in the lowest class and had to work his way up like his fellow students. He took his turn in the work aboard ship without favor or privilege.

This method of training led to that love for the sea and the sailor's profession which has lasted throughout his career. It also served to inculcate that spirit of democracy and simple taste in dress and manner for which he is noted.

His life at sea also developed a good natured and convivial spirit. As a young tar he was pugnacious and liked to fight with his fists, and he did not disdain a glass of grog. In England he has always been known as "the sailor prince."

His years of strict naval discipline, however, undoubtedly had the effect of toning him down, and today the grave, quiet young man would hardly be recognized as the same sailor prince whose love of pranks and practical jokes endeared him to his people. He is still a good sportsman in the best sense of the word.

Prince George was promoted to be sublieutenant in 1884, when he joined her majesty's steamer Canada on the North American station, and in October of the following year, after passing his examinations with great credit, he became a lieutenant. In 1889 he received his first command, a torpedo boat, and the next year commanded a gunboat on the north Atlantic station. His latest command afloat was in 1898, when he visited many seaports in England and Ireland.

Prince George was created Duke of York, Earl of Inverness and Baron Killarney in 1892, in which year he became heir to the throne by the death of his elder brother. He was promoted to captain in the royal navy in January, 1893, and in the following May his engagement to Princess Victoria Mary, who had been affianced to the Duke of Clarence, was publicly announced, and the marriage was celebrated on July 6.

Last year, accompanied by the Princess Mary, he made a tour of the British dominions and arrived in Canada at the time of the death of President McKinley. On his return to England he was created Prince of Wales and Earl of Chester.

In appearance King Edward's successor has nothing distinctively British about him. His beard and mustache are almost red, and his hair is dark brown. He is about 5 feet 9 inches in height and weighs about 150 pounds.

As Prince George he married Princess Victoria Mary of Teck, popularly known as Princess May, on July 6, 1893. The princess is the granddaughter of the first Duke of Cambridge, Queen Victoria's uncle, and is therefore related by blood, though not closely, to her royal husband. Her mother married the Duke of Teck, and the Princess May was born in Kensington palace on May 26, 1867. Her girlhood was spent like that of any other young woman of noble birth, but owing to her close relations with her second cousin, the late Queen Victoria, with whom she was a prime favorite, she has always been popular.

Of the four children of the royal pair Prince Edward Albert, the eldest, will be king of England some day if he lives. He was born on June 23, 1894, and today is a healthy, well grown, sturdy boy of eight, whose childhood has been spent mostly out of doors with his brothers and sisters, the Princes Albert and Henry William Frederick Albert and the Princess Victoria Alexandra. Upon his father's accession to the throne this youngster becomes by right of birth Duke of Cornwall and York, and his father may at any time make him Prince of Wales also, for that title is not hereditary, although it can be held only by the eldest living son of the reigning monarch. The revenues of the duchy of Cornwall, which this little fellow will inherit, amount to over $400,000 a year.

The first official announcement of the death of a British sovereign is that which is made to the successor of the throne by the lord chamberlain, who at the same time acquaints the new ruler with the fact of his succession.

At the earliest possible moment the privy council convenes, and members of that body resign and are immediately reappointed and resworn. At their first meeting as advisers of the new sovereign the members of the cabinet formally give up their seals of office, whereupon they also are resworn to their respective departments. Both houses of parliament meet, and the announcement of the death of the sovereign and the accession of his or her successor is followed by each member of both houses, beginning with the royal dukes in the house of lords, taking the oath of allegiance to the new ruler.

YALE HONORS RILEY.

Degree of Master of Arts Conferred on Hoosier Poet.

Colleges this year seem to have paid more than usual attention to men who have made their marks in the field of popular literature, the literature that appeals to the great mass of people through the heart. Yale at its recent commencement conferred the degree of master of arts on James Whitcomb Riley, the Hoosier poet; Clyde Fitch, author and dramatist, was honored in the same way by Amherst, and several editors and writers were also recipients of honorary degrees from the great seats of learning.

James Whitcomb Riley is probably the most popular dialect poet of the country. His verse, sweet, gentle and easy flowing, has in it an element of infinite tenderness, a winning appeal to the homely and human side.

While much of Mr. Riley's verse is in western dialect, he can on occasion turn out extremely polished lines. Whatever the form, however, his verse is marked by a keen insight into human nature, a thorough appreciation of the homely side of life and frequently by deep pathos.

James Whitcomb Riley first saw the light of day at Greenfield, Ind., in 1853, and in that rugged little town the future poet learned about apple blossoms, running brooks, clover "knee deep" and other things in nature that he has written about so entertainingly. Riley's father was a country lawyer, and he tried to make a lawyer out of Jim, as he was called. Jim, according to tradition, was bright, but somewhat disinclined to exert himself, and law did not appeal to him in the least. He liked to write, however, and his homely verse began to appear in various newspapers in his native state.

Soon it began to be recognized that a real poet had arisen. Riley's reputation spread, and it was not long before his poems began to appear in the big eastern magazines. He has been a prolific writer, having published several volumes of verse and sketches.

Mr. Riley's prose is not to be compared in importance to his fame with his verse, but his sketches and stories are always entertaining and always well told. His work—dialect, serious verse and prose—is all of a piece. He is the poet of American life, the poet of the heart.

Mr. Riley has also been much in demand as an entertainer on the platform. At one time he made a tour of the country with Bill Nye, the humorist. Mr. Riley is a bachelor and lives in Indianapolis.

AMERICAN EMBASSADRESS.

Wife of Head of British Embassy Was a New York Girl.

More than usual interest is being manifested in the new English embassador to Washington, Mr. Michael Henry Herbert, because of the fact that his wife is an American. Embassador and Mrs. Herbert will not arrive in this country for several weeks, probably not before fall.

Mrs. Herbert was Miss Leila Wilson, daughter of Richard T. Wilson of New

Mrs. Herbert is the second American lady to achieve the rank of embassadress in Washington. Miss Elverson of Philadelphia was married to M. Jules Patenotre, formerly French embassador at the national capital.

Mrs. Herbert, having already lived in Washington and won a large circle of distinguished friends, will be a brilliant addition to the high society of the American capital.

CHESTER COUNCIL

IMPORTANT QUESTIONS DEBATED BY THAT BODY.

Tax Levy to Be Same as Last Year. Grade Question Much Discussed.

Chester council tackled several important questions last night. Solicitor O. S. Marshall and councilman Johnston were the only absentees.

It developed previous to the meeting that the tax levy under the present proposed bond issue would amount to the same as last year, which was 40 cents on $100 and 20 cents road tax. The property owners would therefore be paying the same rate as last year.

Mr. Riley made no report from the property committee.

Health Officer Allison said he had seen Mr. Steadman about the pig pen and the gentleman would abate it.

The other nuisances had not yet been satisfactorily abated.

Mr. Riley, as chairman of the street committee, said that regarding the low grade on First street and First to Second street and property of Mr. Shrader were damaged he thought the street car line should attend to the matter of the grade. Damage suits had been threatened. Mayor Shrader though the grade too low.

Mr. Wetzel said that Mr. Finley had said First street was on the proper grade.

Mr. Huff said that the street railway company had been instructed to put its line on the property grade, and it was too late to kick now. Mr. Wells thought the street should be viewed and the matter adjusted. Mr. Wetzel stated that Engineer Boyd had said that the grade was too low. He was in favor of getting a disinterested man to run the lines of the grade. He thought the grade lines of Engineer Boyd should be investigated and the exact depth of the grade be found.

Mr. Maxwell, of the street railway, asked if it was to be cut on towards the river. They could remedy it before tracks were laid.

Mr. Riley said he understood that the lower grade ran from Riley's news stand to the river, and from near that point to First street, giving fall enough to take the water both ways.

Mr. Maxwell said if the grade was three inches to the foot, it was wrong; the street railway people were desirous of following the exact grade.

Mr. Huff moved that the street railway company meet at the point with the engineer this morning and view the street. Carried.

Street Commissioner Severs reported that he was ready to file his bond, but the solicitor not being present the council could not accept it.

Mr. Wells reported a couple more frog ponds on private property and near the street on Carolina avenue between Fifth and Sixth. The property owners had been notified to remedy the matter, but it had not been done. The owners of the property reside at Irondale and Toronto.

Mr. Riley thought it about time for the mayor and chief to make their reports.

Mr. Mercer thought they should be made about August 1, the end of the first six months. Mr. Riley thought they should be made every month.

Mr. Huff wanted something done to keep teamsters from driving on sidewalks all over town. An ordinance existed, but was not enforced.

Mayor Shrader thought teams should have some place to pass along; matters would be better after paving.

Mr. Mercer said if a man's property was damaged he could make complaint and get redress. A fine of $5 existed.

Council adjourned.

New Superintendent.

It is reliably stated that James McKinnon, the oldest motorman in East Liverpool, will be the new superintendent of the Rock Springs street railway, and will shortly assume his duties.

Excursionists Arrested.

Two of the Pittsburg excursionists Charles Gray and Peter Devitt, were arrested by Officers Elliott and Hassey yesterday afternoon for intoxication and paid $3.90 each for their fun. Officer Elliott put another excursionist out of the park grounds last evening for drunkenness, and during the process his sweetheart kept up a constant screaming, attracting a large crowd to the scene, near the stairs.

Possible Mad Dog Victim.

A valuable horse, worth $150, belonging to William Allison, of Fairview street, died yesterday. The animal Mr Allison thinks was bitten by a mad dog some time ago. Dr. McFarland of East Liverpool, did all in his power to save the animal, but could not. The supposed mad dog certainly bit the horse. A number of persons chased it; but it escaped. It is feared other animals were bitten.

Postal Agent in Town.

A government rural route agent was in Chester yesterday in conference with Postmaster Rose in regard to the new messenger service. Rural free delivery was not considered, although the matter has been talked over a number of times. Such a service is badly needed by the rural residents in this vicinity.

Has Left His Home.

James Gibson, who was fined by 'Squire Johnston last week for abusing his wife, has disappeared, and it is alleged deserted his family. His mother has arrived from McDonald, Pa., but can give no information as to his whereabouts. Gibson's family live on Fairview street.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Allen left by the steamer Greenwood for their home at St. Albans, W. Va., after a visit with Mrs. C. F. Paulley, First street. The daughter, Miss Lillie, will remain a few days.

Silas Mercer has purchased the Edwards property on Indiana avenue. Mr. Mercer has opened a wall paper store in East Liverpool.

There is a fishing job on the Ferguson well at the top of sand. The Gailey well on the Dawson farm, is a duster. These are at Ohioville.

Rev. Herbert M. Carnahan was called to Williamstown, W. Va., by the serious illness of his mother, who is suffering from a paralytic stroke.

J. S. Paulley is not a watchman on the bridge, but general manager for the bridge company. Mr. Paulley is also a duly authorized United States marshal.

William Hocking, manager of the toboggan, has brought his wife and family from Pittsburg for a two weeks' outing. They are stopping with Mrs. Riley, of Carolina avenue.

The street committee of council viewed the First street grade this morning, and decied to ask Mr. Thompson to raise his curbing on Virginia avenue, as they find the grade cannot be raised on this street.

Charles Hanlon, a roller, formerly of Irondale, purchased a residence from the Chester Rolling Mill Land company on Railroad street; price, $1,900. The company is having its new houses painted and improved for the big sale on Thursday, July 24.

NO CONFERENCE HELD

STATE OFFICIALS DID NOT MEET THE GOVERNOR.

Council on Code Bill Failed to Materialize—Revision of School Laws Wanted.

Columbus, July 18.—(Special)—The municipal code conference which was to have been held at Camp McKinley yesterday did not come off. The governor sat in his tent all day waiting for the state officials, but they had other business to demand their attention. Secretary Laylin was overwhelmed with public duties, Attorney General Sheets went to the lakes to join his family; State Auditor Guilbert had a business trip to make and Commissioner Bonebrake is working on a coke of his own. Assistant Attorney General Todd was the only state official who went to Newark unless Smith Bennett and Wade Ellis, who are drafting the code at Detroit, went there from their summer hotel.

Commissioner Bonebrake thinks that the school laws should be remodeled and codified and he wants it done right away. He had his whole office force at work yesterday drafting some Bonebrake ideas into a code for the government of all schools. He will have it introduced at the extra session, probably Representative Seese, of Summit county, chairman of the committee on common schools and a candidate for state school commissioner.

NEWS FROM CAMP

The Boys at Port Huron Having a Fine Time and Good Fishing.

J. E. McDevitt and James Johnson arrived yesterday from Port Huron, Mich., where they have been with the Gilt Edge Camping club. The boys are all well and enjoying camp life. Fish are plentiful and they are catching their share. They have a fine place to camp, at the mouth of the St. Clair river on the LaSalle beach.

This is their first year out. They are under good management. J. Helley is treasurer and Charles Pomeroy captain. It is the liveliest little camp in the country. They thank Chief Thompson for getting them such a pleasant place to go. They expect to break camp between July 24 and 28.

RIDING TO HOUNDS

SPORT FASHIONABLE IN WASHINGTON SOCIETY.

Social Influence of President Roosevelt's Family at the National Capital—Has Made Horseback Riding Popular—The Chevy Chase Club.

There is no mistaking the fact that the Roosevelts are the head and center of the social world at the national capital. Not in many years has there been a family in the White House that has been so completely the arbiter of fashion at the national capital.

This is especially noticeable in the popularity of riding. Nearly every member of the president's family is an enthusiast in this exercise, and so popular have they made it at Washington that any one who wishes to be considered at all in the swim must be seen on horseback. Just now, of course, Washington is almost deserted, but during the season cavalcades of young people gallop along the country roads in the neighborhood of the capital whenever the weather permits, and a fad for fox hunting and other rougher equestrian exercises is expected to capture society in the fall.

All this has given a special boom to the Chevy Chase Hunt club, which includes in its membership practically all of the rich or otherwise important people in Washington.

Several United States senators are members of the club. Lieutenant General Miles and Adjutant General Corbin belong to it, and Thomas Nelson Page is prominently connected with the organization. One-third of its membership is composed of ladies, whose participation in the amusements, including the hunting, makes them additionally attractive. Mrs. Miles and Mrs. Corbin both belong as a matter of course, the rule being that the admission of a man extends to his wife and daughters, if he has any, all the privileges of the club.

The club has a fine pack of foxhounds, but the chase is restricted to the aniseed bag, which, while surer and less troublesome than the fox, is almost equally amusing as a quarry. There are plenty of foxes in Maryland, and across the river in Virginia are to be found numerous descendants of the wily old fellows hunted by George

MISS RUTH HANNA.

Washington in his day, but the fashionable huntsmen and huntswomen would have to go too far to look for them, and so they content themselves with the aniseed bag.

Among the most daring women riders of the younger set is Miss Ruth Hanna, daughter of the junior senator from Ohio. Miss Hanna is a thorough sportswoman and is credited with having an abundance of nerve.

Senator Hanna plans to visit his game preserve at Melrose plantation, in Georgia, as soon as congress adjourns. With him will go Miss Ruth, who is already the heroine of an adventure with a wildcat. Three years ago, then a schoolgirl, Miss Ruth joined in a coon hunt, but instead of a coon she treed and shot a wildcat. At least that is how the story is told.

The home of the Chevy Chase Hunt club at Washington is the old Bradley estate, formerly one of the famous country places near Washington. It is about eight miles from the White House.

When first organized, the club consisted merely of a few riding men. Later they bought a pack of hounds, and from that time on it grew rapidly. Though at first it was purely and simply a hunting organization, to which only riding men belonged, it gradually assumed a broader development, and today a good deal of the attention of its members is devoted to golf. The links are not surpassed anywhere in the United States, and there are superb tennis courts.

Naturally the admission of women worked a notable change in the management and policy of the club. Many dinner parties are given there, and once a year there is a so called hunt ball at which the men wear pink coats with swallowtails and black facings, black and red being the colors of the club.

Among the ladies who belong to the club and who are numbered among the best riders are Mrs. H. Chatfield Chatfield-Taylor, famous for her skill at golf, and the daughter of Senator Mason, who rides astride. Pretty Miss Langhorne is also a member.

No Need of Assistance.

The father of the family had stepped into a bookstore to buy a birthday present for his fourteen-year-old son. "What kind of book would you like?" asked the salesman to whom he had confided his purpose.

"Something that would be useful for the boy," was his reply.

"Well, here is a very good one on 'Self Help.'"

"Self help!" exclaimed the father. "Ben don't need anything of that kind. You'd ought to see him at the dinner table!"

Vanilla For Mental Weakness.

Vanilla is one of the most powerful restoratives known in cases of weakened vitality, when a large dose is given. South America in general shows a much slighter tendency to madness than any of the countries which may be called civilized. Statistical authorities attribute this fact to the ignorance and thoughtlessness of the population, but they themselves give the credit to vanilla. At the first sign of mental disturbance they ply the sufferer therewith.

The Way to Catch a Porcupine.

The porcupine climbs the tree as readily as a squirrel would, provided you don't slip up and cut his tail off while he is going up. Somehow or other he can't climb the tree without his tail, and he won't come down without it. If you catch one of these porcupines climbing a tree and chop his tail off, he will stop right where he is and will stay there until he starves to death unless he is taken away.

The Home Rulers.

Mrs. Krank—Yes; I'm fond of pets. I have five cats and four dogs that just rule my house.

Mrs. McCall—Ah! I've often heard of "reigning cats and dogs." These must be the ones.—Philadelphia Press.

HOME AFFAIRS.

Brief Notes of a Personal Nature and of Matters About Town.

Labor Day Music—Manley's band has been engaged by Trades Council to play on Labor day.

Cut Its Hand Badly—A little child of John Langenbacher, of Jackson street, while playing in the yard yesterday very severely cut its hand with glass.

Sewer Extension—A continuation of the Tan Yard sewer is being built through Mrs. Morris' property to connect with the culverts under Walnut street.

Thumb Badly Hurt—Russell Heddleston is nursing an injured thumb on his right hand. It was struck by a base ball while he was engaged in the national sport.

Candidate Kennedy Here—Attorney James Kennedy, Mahoning county's candidate for congress, was in the city yesterday, accompanied by his cousin, Judge James B. Kennedy, visiting prominent Republicans.

Belmont Club Dance—The Belmont club members and their girl friends danced at Columbian park last evening. The dance, which was quite informal, was much enjoyed. McGraw's orchestra furnished the music.

Pleasantly Entertained—Miss Leona Jennings and Miss Edna Kaercher very pleasantly entertained a number of friends last evening at the home of the former on Robinson street. A trolley ride occupied the first part of the evening. Upon their return the company was entertained with music and games. Refreshments were served at a late hour.

Hay Ride to Smith's Ferry—A hay ride to Smith's Ferry was greatly enjoyed last evening by a number of young people from this city. From the zest with which the company blew their tin horns one might have imagined the campaign of '96 was again in progress. Upon reaching their destination the young people took supper at the hotel and after viewing the sights of the town returned home at an early hour.

When Quality Can be the Only Argument.

When different makes of the same article sell for the same price, then quality is the only argument that can usually influence your trade.

The price of soda water, good, bad and indifferent is the same all over town, so that we can't talk about that, but we believe we have a most convincing argument when you consider quality. Our Grape Phosphate seems to be the most convincing convincer we have.

GRAND AUCTION SALE

WITH FREE PRIZE LOTS

The Chester Rolling Mill Company and the South Side Land Company who own 90 per cent. of the desirable property

IN CHESTER, W. VA.

THURSDAY, JULY 24,

Beginning at 10 a. m. and 2 p. m.

When A Man Invests IN A LOT OR IN A HOME

He wants to feel reasonably sure that he is doing so where he has a reasonable chance of receiving fair returns for his money.

WHAT ARE THE CHANCES IN CHESTER, W. VA.?

A little over two years ago there was no such a town on the map. Today it is one of the busiest little cities in the great Ohio valley, with a population of 3,000 and growing at a rapid rate. In its location and its sorroundings, its present condition and future prospects it has the making of a great and prosperous city. Some of those who invested in Chester property at the start have realized as high as 100 per cent. on their money. These profits have not been the result of years of waiting, but of merely a few months.

Investigate For Yourself.

You will find that Chester is situated in almost the northern point of the Panhandle of West Virginia. It is reached by a branch of the Panhandle rail road, connecting with the main line at New Cumberland Junction some 18 miles southward. This line is shortly to be extended up the Ohio river to a connection with the main line of the Ft. Wayne Railroad and the great Pennsylvania system, reaching Pittsburg and the great eastern centers.

What are the Advantages?

A FEW OF THEM ARE LEVEL, STREETS PAVED, SEWERED AND ADORNED WITH FLAGSTONE SIDEWALKS, SEWERAGE AND BEAUTIFUL SHADE TREES; A SYSTEM OF WATER WORKS WHICH FURNISHES PURE, FILTERED WATER, ADEQUATE TO THE NEEDS OF ALL POLICE AND FIRE PROTECTION; A DOUBLE TRACK STREET RAILWAY WHICH IS EQUAL TO ANY IN THE COUNTRY. NATURAL GAS, CHEAP AND ABUNDANT. MANUFACTURING PLANTS:— A MODEL TIN PLATE MILL, FURNISHING EMPLOYMENT TO 800 PERSONS; TWO LARGE POTTERIES, EMPLOYING MORE THAN 400 PERSONS EACH, WITH OTHER INDUSTRIES ABOUT TO BE ESTABLISHED.

In addition there are good stores and all the minor industries of a prosperous city. There are also good schools good churshes and good society. The scenery is unmatched for attractiveness in all the Ohio valley. Thousands of persons flock to the neighboring pleasure resort, the Famous Rock Springs Park, daily during the summer and strangers invariably go away voting it one of the pleasantest spots along the river.

Better Opportunities

Are presented for the realization of profits. Why? Land is still cheap, compared with the prices charged in other towns of the same size. Chester is not a boom town. It's growth, although rapid, has been substantial and along conservative lines. It is both a manufacturing town and a city of homes. Hundreds of new houses were erected last season; the same record will be repeated this year, probably on a greater scale.

THE CITY OF EAST LIVERPOOL!

The great pottery manufacturing center, with 20,000 inhabitants and growing faster than any other town in all the Ohio Valley, is directly opposite Chester, and connected with it by a new iron bridge which is crossed by street cars, vehicles of all sorts and by pedestrians. The center of East Liverpool, O., is less than a mile away and hundreds of persons who work or have business in East Liverpool find Chester a more agreeable place for residence. Taxes are not high, and the advantages are all that could be asked. None of these statements are overdrawn. Some of the most desirable property in this thrifty and beautiful spot is shortly to be sold at auction. There will be bargains for those who seek them. At sales of this character no one can have an advantage. Lots will be sold to the highest bidders; those who buy will know what they are getting and if they see no bargain in the property offered they are not asked or expected to bid. We do not desire to have customers unless they are satisfied.

A Fortune Is Not Needed

to enable you to have a share in the advantages and the profits. You can start with a few dollars now and you will not need to wait long to double your money.

CHOICE LOTS FREE

with every 100 lots sold, one lot will be given away absolutely free, to some one person among those who have made purchases of one or more of the lots at this sale. One purchaser stands as good a chance as an other of securing this prize, it matters not whether he has purchased one lot or ten. A committee of reputable citizens will be selected and they will decide to whom the prize lots shall fall.

Choice New Property

will be offered at the coming sale—not lots which have been hawked about, vainly seeking a purchaser. There are over 800 of these lots which are now offered for the first time; everyone of them desirable either as residence property or as a location for business.

Remember the Date of this

Beginning at 10 a. m. and 2 p. m.

The undersigned invite friends from all this section to come and be their guests on that date. Come and see what we have, then you can decide whether you care to invest. Depend upon it, there is money in Chester property and if you become an invester you will be satisfied with the returns.

THERE is always more or less enjoyment in seeing others made happy. In case you do not see your way is clear to become a buyer get a trolley ticket and come over to the sale anyway, listen to the good music which we shall furnish. Regale yourself with the refreshments served and see your neighbor made happy in his new possessions. But after all the terms of this sale are so easy, a deposit only of $10 on each lot at time of purchase. That there is not one thrifty person in all of this section who will not become an owner of some portion of this excellent property. MOVING IN SCOTLAND

One Day In Each Year When Furniture Vans and Chaos Reign Supreme—An Odd System, Built Up on the Caution of the Landlords.

In Scotland May 28 is annually given over to a perfect carnival of "flitting."

In England houses of the higher rents are taken by the year at any quarter day and the lower rented ones by the month or even by the week. The flitting is thus spread over the year, and no confusion arises. The Scottish system is to let houses by the year from May 28. Even the smallest, consisting of only one room, are so let. On the great day in any large town the sights afforded range from the laughable to the pathetic.

As soon as it is daylight the vans previously "trysted" begin their work; the goods are loaded up with more haste than care and to the accompaniment of the good housewife's lamentations as some cherished household god is roughly flung into the van.

Arrived at the destination, further troubles are in store. Perhaps the new house is not yet vacated, and, as the van is required for other removals, the goods are dumped down in the street, and there the poor family is left stranded for the time. Occasionally some streets—in Glasgow, for instance—present an appearance of wholesale evictions.

So numerous are the demands that vans cannot always be obtained, and every kind of vehicle, including horseless carriages, popularly known as "hurleys," are pressed into the service, supplemented by father, mother and the children, each carrying pictures, mirrors or other cherished articles too precious to trust to the tender mercies of some ramshackle conveyance.

These processions are moving along all day. The representative of law and order, upon this day at least, is very lenient, his gruff "Move on!" is less in evidence, and his ready notebook gets a rest. There are no "cases" of obstruction reported, although often loaded vans have to remain in a street all night.

It may be that the "policsman" grasps the humors of the situation, or perhaps a fellow feeling influences him. No doubt his own flitting is in progress, and he retires off duty to some strange abode, there to assist in carrying in his goods, to sup off a crust of bread and cheese and sleep on the floor, as others have to do.

A stranger naturally inquires the cause of this one day given over to chaos. It is to be found in the caution of the Scottish landlord. It is difficult to obtain a house at any other time than the lawful removal day, and the canny house owner has prudently secured his rent a fortnight previously May 15.

"Moonlight" flittings are thus practically unknown, and there is little loss of rent from that cause. The rents being payable half yearly only, the cost of collection is reduced, as is the risk of loss, to a minimum. The system entails great hardship to workingmen compelled to change the scene of their labors. They frequently cannot obtain a house until term day and have consequently to take lodgings and support their family in another town.

If fortunate enough to obtain a house, the landlord steps in and requires his full year's rent to be paid or deposited in bank before he allows the goods to be removed. The unfortunate head of a household is also responsible for the full year's rates of his "new" house, although he may have paid in full at his vacated house.

The only advantage to the tenant is security of tenure for twelve months and the certainty of being accommodated at the expiry in the general scramble. Of course it happens sometimes, through new houses being erected, that some one is able to start the ball rolling a day or two before term, to the comfort of all involved in the particular circuit; but, generally speaking, May term day in Scotland is not an institution to be admired and copied.

Strange to say, Sandy not only takes this day philosophically, but is much more addicted to "flitting" than people south of the Tweed, some families moving regularly every year without any apparent necessity. One would scarcely expect the worry and discomfort of the day and succeeding temporary chaos to be voluntarily undertaken, but the fact is so.

The continuance of the system itself is a standing monument to the British long suffering and law abiding nature. —Pearson's Weekly.

The widest possible publicity should be given to the fact that summer diarrhoea in children and cholera infantum can always be cured by the judicious use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It never fails. When reduced with cold water and sweetened it is pleasant to take, which is very important when a medicine must be given to small children. For sale by Alvin H. Bulger.

SNUFF TAKING REVIVAL.

King Edward Said to Be Responsible For Society's Latest Fad.

The revival of the ancient custom of snuff taking is said to have been brought about by King Edward VII., who carries a box of the pungent powder and takes a pinch after his meals. The king's example is being followed by fashionable London, and the fad is due to reach this country shortly.

Following the English fashion, the jewelers on this side of the water are already showing beautiful snuffboxes, both ancient and modern. At Tiffany's, the famous New York jewelry house, a collection of jeweled snuffboxes has lately been put on exhibition. Notable in this collection is the jeweled snuffbox presented by the German emperor to Rear Admiral Kirkland of the United States navy and which is said to have cost $5,000.

The box was given to Admiral Kirkland when he represented this country at the opening of the Kiel canal. It is of large size and made of gold worked into a beautiful and intricate design by Zehngraf, the artist. On the cover is a miniature of the emperor, surrounded by a frame composed of twenty-nine diamonds. On each side of the ellipse are three larger gems.

It is interesting to note the steps by which snuff taking first rose to fashion. Given to King Charles of France by a leading diplomatist, Nicot (whence nicotine), it finally came within reach of the multitude and from first to last has played an important part in the world's history.

Catherine de' Medici is said to have been the first woman to take snuff. Gibbon, the historian, was an inveterate taker of snuff. Frederick the Great took it by handfuls and had all his pockets made of leather and without corners so that they served as snuff pouches.

Napoleon I. was another great snuff taker, or, rather, snuff waster, as history relates that he spilled most of it over his clothes, little of it reaching his nose. Von Moltke during the three weeks' siege ending with the battle of Sedan is said to have used a pound of snuff.

In this country snuff manufacturing is a large industry. In 1899 18,000,000 pounds were manufactured, and the average for several years has been 14,000,000 pounds. So there is plenty of snuff in the United States. Who takes it? Few nonsnuffers know any snuff takers, but that is due perhaps to the fact that they are without the circle.

Spinning an Egg.

One of Lord Kelvin's favorite experiments while teaching natural philosophy at the University of Glasgow was to spin an egg which was suspended in the air. If the egg were hard boiled, it would spin a long time; otherwise, owing to the friction between its contents and the shell, its motion would soon cease. Lord Kelvin inferred from this that the interior of the earth cannot be a fluid, or the globe's rate of rotation would have been checked long ago. Once the students substituted raw eggs for the hard boiled ones provided for the experiment. Not one would spin properly, but Lord Kelvin was not to be fooled. "None of them boiled," was his only comment.

A Great Bargain.

Mrs. Winks—A peddler was here today, and I got the greatest bargain—a whole pound of insect powder for only 10 cents. It looks just like dirt, but it's awfully effective. I tried it.

Mr. Winks—Worked, eh?

Mrs. Winks—Yes, indeed. The peddler said I should put a little in water and apply it boiling hot, and I did, and it killed every insect it touched.—New York Weekly.

The first bell of the grand circuit will tap at Detroit July 14, and the light harness game will be set merrily going, not to stop until the last big meeting of the year closes the season at Memphis late in October.

On the second day of the Detroit blue ribbon meeting the classic M. and M. stakes of $10,000 will be decided, the starters for which were recently named. Eighteen horses are eligible to start, and it is more than probable that a big field will line up for the word. The only eligibles from New York are Edgar Bronk's black mare Princess Derby, by Charles Derby, and Harry Dykeman's bay mare Kozy, by John G. Carlisle.

Thomas W. Lawson's representative is Juntorio, bay mare by Alturo—Jennie Benton. She has been showing enough speed to be named as a starter. Ted, a black gelding, with a record of 2:24¼, by Norval—Love Knot, named by W. H. Potter, is a Michigan candidate and will undoubtedly start.

A Browning Anecdote.

In the Cornhill Magazine, in an interesting paper entitled "On a Few Conversationalists," the writer tells an amusing story of Browning and how he received certain flowers from a lady, who, on being pressed to give their English names, shyly confessed they were called "bloody noses." I happened many years ago to be staying in a country house when Browning told this story in his inimitable way, and he ended with the following lines, which I then and there committed to memory, and which will, I think, interest your readers:

I'll deck my love with posies,
I'll cover her with roses;
Should she protest
I'll do my best
To give her bloody noses.

THE MAN OF THE HOUR

LORD KITCHENER THE MILITARY IDOL OF GREAT BRITAIN.

Likely to Become Commander In Chief of the Army—John Bull Feels That the War Office Needs Shaking Up—Task Too Much For Roberts.

With the return of Lord Kitchener to England as the conqueror of the Boers he becomes the man of the hour throughout the British empire. Indeed there are many who think that Herbert Kitchener is the strongest and most prominent man in all the British dominions. Mixed with the hurrah of the populace over his return there is an element of dread in the British war office. The dry bones there fear a shaking up if Kitchener is made commander in chief, and this is extremely likely to happen.

The dread of him felt by the military organization is due to the refusal of Lord Kitchener to allow any political or partisan consideration to affect him in any military problem he may have to solve. Men of this type are not acceptable to the governing class in Britain. Mr. Chamberlain in the civilian and Lord Kitchener in the military arena are the most conspicuous illustrations. Both reach their ends by methods quite alarming to bureaucracy and the red tape regime.

On top of a campaign that was brought to a close by sheer hard grinding, without anything spectacular and without much help from luck, he got a sudden piece of good fortune that came in the guise of a grievance.

Instead of the grant of $500,000 that everybody expected he was going to get, parliament was invited to appropriate only half that sum for him, although Lord Roberts had received $500,000. Instead of the earldom bestowed on Lord Roberts, Kitchener got only a beggarly viscounty.

All of which was one of the best bits of luck this extraordinary man ever had, because for once the taxpayer actually objected to the smallness of the grant, and the public had a feeling that it was still under a considerable obligation. In consequence Lord Kitchener returns to England more of a hero if possible than he otherwise would have been.

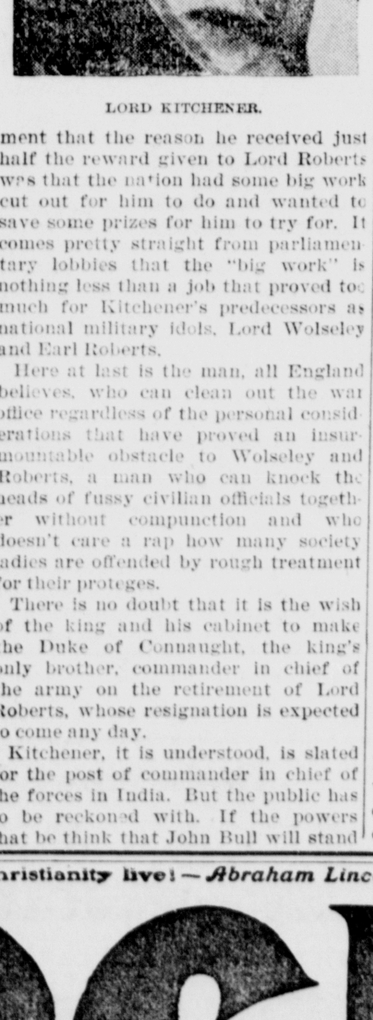
This man, who in six years has risen more rapidly in the British army than any one ever did before except Wellington, seems likely to be an active storm center in the immediate future. It has been said repeatedly in parliament that the reason he received just half the reward given to Lord Roberts was that the nation had some big work cut out for him to do and wanted to save some prizes for him to try for. It comes pretty straight from parliamentary lobbies that the "big work" is nothing less than a job that proved too much for Kitchener's predecessors as national military idols, Lord Wolseley and Earl Roberts.

Here at last is the man, all England believes, who can clean out the war office regardless of the personal considerations that have proved an insurmountable obstacle to Wolseley and Roberts, a man who can knock the heads of fussy civilian officials together without compunction and who doesn't care a rap how many society ladies are offended by rough treatment for their proteges.

There is no doubt that it is the wish of the king and his cabinet to make the Duke of Connaught, the king's only brother, commander in chief of the army on the retirement of Lord Roberts, whose resignation is expected to come any day.

Kitchener, it is understood, is slated for the post of commander in chief of the forces in India. But the public has to be reckoned with. If the powers that be think that John Bull will stand it, the royal duke will be made commander in chief. If, on the other hand, the temper of the public demands Lord Kitchener, into the war office he will go forthwith.

That Kitchener would be an ideal man at the war office is freely admitted by those who have not always appreciated his methods of warfare. Even those who described him as "the butcher of Omdurman" see in him the only possible man for commander in chief, for he combines three great essential qualities—he has proved himself to be a soldier, a statesman and a business man—and if he were put in control of the war office he would turn the place inside out.



LORD KITCHENER.

Coeducation at Chicago University Proves Unsatisfactory.

After ten years' trial of coeducation in the Chicago university President W. R. Harper favors a separation of the sexes. He is of the opinion that the best results are not obtained by training young men and young women in the same classes and in the same environment. He is moving to bring about a separation of the sexes.

Years of observation have convinced Dr. Harper that healthy young men and women cannot meet in classes and on the campus without heart and sentiment obliterating the academic.

Dr. Harper has observed that in everyday life the Yale, Harvard or Princeton man stands better and does better than the "coed man." Mr. Rockefeller is of the same opinion as Dr. Harper. He believes in a university for the greatest good, but wants man paramount.

The gifts received by the University of Chicago since it was founded now aggregate over $16,000,000, of which $11,000,000 has been given by John D. Rockefeller.

What Borax Is.

One of the most desirable articles in the laundry or the washroom and valuable in many purposes connected with the household economy as well as in scientific use is the simple salt known to every one under the name of borax, but probably not much known as to its constituent elements or its nature by most of those who use it more or less frequently. Biborate of sodium, to use its chemical name, first comes as a natural product from Tibet by way of India under the name of tincal, the salt being covered with a green crust of a soapy nature which requires removal before the borax is available for use.

Medicinal Properties of Cabbage.

In olden times cabbage was supposed to be endowed with marvelous medicinal virtues. Among other things, it was considered as being the only radical cure for drunkenness. Cato, writing of the cabbage, said: "By the use of the cabbage alone Rome has done without physicians for 600 years."

The English Cook.

According to the Lancet, the average English cook "utterly declines to weigh materials for cooking; she will not roast meat, but prefers to put it in the oven, or if as a great favor she puts it in front of the fire, she is too lazy to baste it or to put a screen round it."

Cooking Ham.

Ham is frequently too salt to fry without previous preparation. Put the slices in tepid water and let them stand on the back of the range to soak out the salt, not to boil, for about half an hour. Drain dry between towels, then fry in a hot spider.

When a whole ham is to be baked or boiled, let it stand overnight covered with cold water.

FOURTEEN DROWNED.

Sudden Squall Capsized a Sailboat Near Portsmouth, N. H.

Three Out of Seventeen In the Boat Were Saved—Most of the Women Victims Were School Teachers. Nearly All Waiters and Waitresses.

Portsmouth, N. H., July 18.—A 19-foot whaleboat, containing 16 waiters and waitresses, employed at the Oceanic house, Star Island, Isle of Shoals, who had gone out in the bay yesterday afternoon on a pleasure trip in charge of Skipper Fred Miles, was capsized during a sudden squall and 14 of the occupants were drowned. The other three, including the skipper, were rescued by fishermen, who put out from the shore in their dories.

The bodies of five had not yet been recovered last night. All the others were taken from the water by fishermen and then to the island, where they were worked over for a long time by two doctors, bu twithout success.

Two of the drowned were law students at Harvard university, rooming at Forsyth hall. Both were good swimmers, and lost their lives in trying to rescue the others.

The victims were all young people, whose ages would not average over 20 years. Most of the Massachusetts girls were school teachers, who have passed their summer vacations here for several years in serving as waitresses in the hotel.

ODD FELLOWS OPEN HOME.

Thousands of Members Visit Grove City, Pa., For Dedication.

Grove City, Pa., July 18.—Between 25,000 and 30,000 people came to this city yesterday from all parts of Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia to take part in the opening of the new Odd Fellows home.

The program was opened by the ringing of "America" by the entire assemblage. The invocation was then made by the grand chaplain of Pennsylvania, Rev. William S. Neill. An address was made by Edwin Ritter, grand master of state grand lodge. The keys of the institution were then presented by the board of directors to the grand master of the grand lodge and officers.

The address of the day was made by Past Grand Master Wilson K. Mohr, of Allentown. The closing speech was made by Past Grand Master Chalfant, of Danville, Pa., followed by the benediction, pronounced by Chaplain Neill.

Following these services an informal flag raising was held. The children from the Ben Avon and Meadville homes were the donors of the flag, which was raised over the farm house now being used as the home. In the afternoon a general celebration was held. Many bands were in attendance from all over the state, and the afternoon was made lively with concerts and sports.

THE PARADE A SUCCESS.

Feature of Elks' Carnival at Beaver Falls Witnessed by Many.

Beaver Falls, Pa., July 18.—The industrial parade of the manufacturers and business men of Beaver Falls took place as a part of the Elks' carnival yesterday. It was a great success, requiring an hour to pass a given point. Fully 25,000 people witnessed it.

The floats and decorated vehicles were pretty, and many of them were of the most elaborate description. The fire departments of the different valley towns participated, and the burgess, councilmen and other city officials occupied a prominent position.

In the parade were the old soldiers and secret societies. Yesterday was the fourth day of the carnival, and thus far it has been a success. It closes Saturday.

BALTIMORE BASEBALL MUDDLE.

Franchise Forfeited—Enough Players to Play Today.

Baltimore, July 18.—According to the plan of Ban Johnson, president of the American league, the franchise of the Baltimore team was forfeited yesterday by its failure to have a team in position to play the St. Louis club. Under the by-laws all rights of Baltimore in that respect yesterday afternoon passed into the hands of the American league.

Mr. Johnson was in the city all day in consultation with stockholders of the club who have been friendly to the American league and is sanguine of successfully organizing a new company to place a team here. Outfielder Selbach has been made captain and enough players have been secured to insure a game today.

Man Lynched For Wife Murder.

Owensboro, Ky., July 18.—Josh Anderson was hanged by a mob early yesterday morning. He was taken from jail. Last Thursday night Anderson went to the home of his wife three miles below town, called her out, and shot her three times, instantly killing her.

FOR NATIONS' WAR ON TRUSTS.

Russia Said to Have Proposed a Conference—Sugar Bounties Principal Subject.

London, July 18.—Details of an important move by Russia, which have evidently been suppressed hitherto by the censor, have transpired in London. This move is no less than a proposal by the imperial government for an international conference to deal with trusts.

Baron de Staal, Russian ambassador in London, about 10 days ago presented to the British government a note from M. De Witt, the Russian minister of finance, which note was sent also to all the powers that signed the Brussels sugar convention, proposing that these powers should consider, in common, means to protect international commerce against the artificial depression of prices, not only by government measures, such as export bounties or the control of production, but also by much more dangerous processes adopted by trusts, private undertakings or cartels, which tend artificially to influence the international market.

This explains the mysterious reference made in the Financial Messenger, of St. Petersburg, early this week to a recent note of M. De Witt, which the paper said, "is an application, in the economic domain, of the principles of The Hague conference."

Further explanation by the paper shows that sugar bounties are the especial burden of Russia's desire for an agreement.

MRS. LATIMER HEARD.

QUESTIONED AS TO FRIENDSHIP FOR OTHER MEN.

Declared Husband Shot by Burglar. Witness Testified He Said It Wasn't Burglar.

New York, July 18.—The coroner's inquest into the death of Albert C. Latimer, who was shot in his bed room early on the morning of July 2 was begun yesterday in Brooklyn. Mrs. Sadie Latimer, the widow of the murdered man, was a witness. She declared that her husband was shot by a burglar.

District Attorney Clarke asked Mrs. Latimer if she had ever been in the company of W. H. Tuthill outside of her home. She replied that she met Mr. Tuthill on one occasion in New York, that he accompanied her to her home and that she told her husband about it. In reply to other questions she said she had never entertained a Mr. Elwell, whose home is in the rear of the Latimer house, in the absence of her husband.

C. R. Rich, who lives near the Latimers, said that when he went to the house on the night of the shooting Mrs. Latimer introduced him to a Mr Tuthill. Mr. Latimer was placed on the bed, Tuthill helping in the work and then, according to the witness Tuthill said to Mrs. Latimer, "Don't worry, he is all right."

Dr. Meagher, house surgeon at the hospital, where Latimer died, created a sensation when he said on the stand that the dying man exclaimed as he lay in bed on the third day: "The coward shot me in bed."

Miss Christine Russell, a nurse, testified that Latimer said: "A coward shot me in cold blood." Once, when Latimer's brother spoke about the search for the burglar, the wounded man said: "No burglar ever shot me."

Other witnesses gave damaging testimony.

Miss Margaret Vennig, niece of Mrs. Latimer, said she saw a man run from Mrs. Latimer's room and down the stairs. She was sure it was no one she had ever before seen.

FAILED TO FIGHT AMERICAN.

Captain Wester May Be Forced to Retire From Swedish Army.

Stockholm, Sweden, July 18.—A great senation has been caused here in military circles by the conduct of Captain Arvid Wester, who, after challenging an American, William Casper, to fight a duel, failed to put in an appearance at the place selected for the encounter, yesterday morning.

Wester will be undoubtedly forced to retire from the army.

AN EASY VICTORY.

How an Obstinate English Lord Was Outwitted In Naples.

Lord Charles Hamilton used to go about Naples attended by a large, ferocious bulldog. Having decided upon going to Rome, he proceeded to the station and took his place in a first class carriage, the "dawg" taking up a position on a seat opposite his master. The platform inspector, with many gesticulations, declared that the bulldog should not travel in a passenger carriage.

"Very well, then; take him out," was Lord Charles' rejoinder.

In vain the official expostulated. He merely reiterated his former reply, a piece of advice it is needless to say which was not followed, and Lord Charles, apparently master of the situation, threw himself back in his seat and calmly lighted a cigar.

But the Italians were not to be outdone, and, quietly detaching the carriage in which the English "milor" was seated, they made up the train with another compartment and started it off.

Lord Charles sat quietly smoking for about a quarter of an hour and then surprised at the delay, thrust his head out of the window and demanded when the train was going to start. His feelings when the situation was described to him may be imagined.—London Tit-Bits.

Subduing a Bully.

An experience on a Siberian train related by a writer in a Vladivostok paper reminds one of the early stage coach days beyond the Mississippi and seems even more violent because the participants in the adventure were not rough plainsmen and mountaineers but a lady and a nobleman.

When the train pulled up at Tsitikar, in Manchuria, a Mantchoo noble who had bullied all his fellow passengers alighted at the station restaurant after warning them that he would decapitate any of them who took his seat. During his absence a smartly dressed young Russian lady entered the car and, despite the alarmed expostulations of its occupants, calmly appropriated the seat.

When the noble returned, he flew into a passion and advanced threateningly with his curved saber drawn. But the young woman coolly covered him with a shining revolver.

"Do you take us for a pack of cowardly mandarins?" she exclaimed, and then, pointing to her feet, she remarked, "Here is your place, my hero."

The Mantchoo noble surrendered and sat at her feet for the rest of the journey.

Books and English Spelling.

Most people think when they see a book that has the English spelling—the "u" in "honor" and "odor," the "ise" for "ize," etc.—that the types were set up and the plates made in England, but as a matter of fact most important books that are written by English authors are set up in this country. When an important writer is to bring out a new volume, an arrangement is made for its simultaneous publication on both sides of the water. The manuscript is then sent to the American publisher, who gives it to his compositors marked "English spelling," and it is set up in that manner quite as accurately here as any London compositor would do it. After the plates have been made they are sent to England. This roundabout method of simultaneous publication is due to the intricacies of the copyright law.—Philadelphia Record.

Making It Simple.

The scholarly looking man with the big eyeglasses had been invited to address the Sunday school and was making a few remarks concerning the lesson.

"I see the word 'line' occurs here," he said. "Will some one give me a definition of 'line?'"

Nobody answered.

"It is very easy," he proceeded encouragingly, "though you may find it a little perplexing to convey the idea in simple terms. Try again. Well, the ordinary signification of the word is longitudinal extension, but here it denotes a predetermined boundary. I am sure, my young friends, you can remember that."—Chicago Tribune.

The Trouble With Poets.

"Trouble 'bout these here poets,' said the Georgia farmer, "they none of 'em make good field hands."

"Ever tried 'em?"

"Of course. They're dead set ag'in plowin' for fear they'll hurt a wild flower, an' they won't beat an' swear at a mule for fear he's got a soul."

"That's strange."

New Bark In Trees.

It is not a new fact, but yet a remarkable one, that if a fruit tree—apple, pear or cherry—be stripped entirely of its bark in the second week in June a new surface of bark will immediately take the place of the older one. It is believed that the chief growth of deciduous trees in our part of the world takes place at midsummer.

The Complacent Wife.

Mrs. Muggins—Your husband seems like a man of rare good taste and excellent judgment.

A Terrible Death Punishment.

In England, during the reign of Henry VIII., the public mind became greatly excited through several cases of poisoning, and parliament enacted a law making boiling to death the penalty. This law was on the statute books about sixteen years. It was made retroactive, so as to take in a case that chiefly prompted its enactment—that of Richard Rosse, otherwise Coke, the bishop of Rochester's cook, who poisoned seventeen persons, two of whom died. Coke was boiled at Rochester. The infliction was attended with peculiar cruelty, as Coke was put into a cauldron of cold water and gradually cooked to death.

A few years later, in March, 1542, a young woman named Margaret Davy was punished in a similar way on conviction of poisoning. The public were not satisfied as to her guilt, and, notwithstanding the comparatively slow travel of news in those days, the story of Margaret Davy's trial and punishment soon spread through the kingdom and aroused universal horror. Boiling to death remained on the statute books, however, as long as Henry reigned, perhaps because the monarch himself had a dread of being poisoned. Immediately after his death parliament repealed the law.

Sparing Her Feelings.

"You don't write," the treasurer of the savings bank said gently to the old colored woman. "Just touch the pen." She did so, her business was concluded and her feelings were spared. The official might have said, "You can't write," and that would have been true, but the difference between plain truth and considerate truth is sometimes as marked as the distinction between a boor and a gentleman.—Youth's Companion.

"They have discussed the idea, but each is afraid the other might get the best of the advertisement.—Washington Star.

NO GENERAL STRIKE.

None, If Voice and Influence of President Mitchell Shall Prevail.

CHANCES OF STRIKING REMOTE.

In a Speech, at Indianapolis Convention, the President Urged That Bituminous Men Continue Work and Assessments Be Levied.

Indianapolis, July 18.—If the voice and influence of President Mitchell, of the United Mine Workers, shall prevail with the members of his organization, there will be no general strike of the organization. The chances of such a step being taken now are very remote. In his speech in the convention yesterday afternoon Mr. Mitchell advised strongly against a strike and urged that the bituminous miners continue at work, and that a system of assessment upon the members of the order, which he outlined, be carried into effect as the best means of affording aid and support to the striking anthracite men in the east.

TOMLINSON HALL.

[Where miners convention is to be held.]

Might Have Ended Convention Then.

His recommendation, if it had been adopted by the convention yesterday afternoon, would have settled the entire question for which the convention was called, and an immediate adjournment would have followed. A motion to adopt the suggestions of President Mitchell provoked a long debate, in which the general sentiment was against the ordering of the strike. The men from the anthracite region finally made a request that they be allowed to hold a caucus to determine upon an expression of opinion as to what they thought the convention should do, and asked an adjournment of the convention for this purpose. Their request was granted and the adjournment taken.

Those Favoring Strike In Minority.

The men who were in favor of a strike were in a decided minority in the convention. Three speeches were made by members of the anthracite districts, asking that the soft coal men walk out, and twice as many were made by the anthracite men urging the soft coal men to continue at work.

TRACY ESCAPED AGAIN.

Posse Arrived Too Late—Chase From One Point Abandoned.

Black Diamond, Wyo., July 18.—Tracy has escaped again. He has cluded the sheriff of King county and many picked men, who had advanced on his hiding place, three miles from here, Wednesday night. The posse arrived at Tracy's hiding place six or eight hours after he had left. He had taken a rowboat and gone to the east end of Sawyer lake, presumably about 2 o'clock yesterday morning, accompanied by his two confederates. Sheriff Cudihee and the posse returned to Black Diamond yesterday afternoon. The chase from this point has been abandoned.

Lieut. McKinley to Go to Germany.

Washington, July 18.—The three general officers who will represent the United States army at the autumn manoeuvres of the German army have selected their aides as follows: Major General Corbin will have Lieutenant Colonel John A. Johnston, of the adjutant general's department; Major General Young will have First Lieutenant James F. McKinley, Fourteenth cavalry, a nephew of President McKinley, and Brigadier General Wood will have First Lieutenant Frank R. McCoy, Tenth cavalry.

Considered Glenn Court Martial.

Washington, July 18.—Secretary Root yesterday considered the verdict and findings in the case of Major Edwin F. Glenn, tried by court martial at Manila, on charges (growing out of the investigation by the senate committee on military affairs) that he ordered the water cure administered to natives. The trial was ordered by the president and the case is now being made up by the secretary of war to be sent to the president for final review.

To Arrange Republic Wage Scale.

Columbus, O., January 18.—President T. J. Shaffer and the vice president of the Ninth district of the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Tin Workers met here yesterday, with officials of the Republic Iron and Steel company and the Tennessee Coal and Iron company, to arrange a scale and foot notes for plate mills. The vice presidents were to discuss decisions relative to contentions at various mills, so that future decisions will be uniform.

AN INCREASE IN DEALINGS.

Fairly Crossed the Million Share Mark, In Stock Market Thursday.

New York, July 18.—The aggregate sales of stocks yesterday showed a further increase in the volume of dealings, which fairly crossed the million share mark.

Some of Wednesday's conspicuous low priced stocks were acutely affected by profit taking. This was notably true of the Chicago and Alton stocks. The evidence of profit taking in these and the sudden relapse of over two points in Colorado Fuel after a four-point advance had a decidedly chilling effect and put a sudden stop to the activity of the market, leaving it at a level which fairly averaged below Wednesday night.

The check thus brought about to the animation of the market was changed again by the heavy demand developed for the Reading stocks and the coalers. This demand was undoubtedly based upon the assumption that the coal miners' convention will decide against a general strike. Late in the day Chesapeake and Ohio renewed its strong advance to the extent of 2⅞, but without checking the selling to realize at other points and making the closing irregular.

King Made Rapid Improvement.

London, July 18.—Since his removal to Cowes the improvement of the king has been so rapid that his physicians have ordered a more liberal diet for his majesty. The fleet has been ordered to assemble at Spithead, Aug. 11, for the purpose of a review being held a few days subsequently by the king.

FEEHAN'S BODY RESTS.

Imposing Funeral of the Archbishop Held, at Chicago.

CARDINAL GIBBONS OFFICIATED,

At the Solemn Pontifical Requiem Which Was Conducted by Bishop Spalding—The Remains Viewed by Crowd Estimated at 75,000.

Chicago, July 18.—With much pomp and imposing ceremony and in the presence of the cardinal of the church and a great gathering of ecclesiastical dignitaries, the last rites of the Roman Catholic service for the dead were performed for Archbishop Patrick A. Feehan yesterday at the Cathedral of the Holy Name. Early in the day a series of masses was begun by the numerous visiting priests, ending in the great pontifical requiem mass.

During the funeral service crowds thronged the streets in the vicinity of the cathedral, which was filled to overflowing by members of the clergy and a favored few of the laity. Cardinal Gibbons, with his deacons, officiated at the solemn pontifical requiem, which was conducted by Bishop John Lancaster Spalding, of Peoria. Archbishop Ryan, of Philadelphia, delivered the funeral sermon. After the mass Cardinal Gibbons pronounced absolution. The body of the dead churchman was then borne to a vault in Cavalry cemetery, whence it will be removed later to its last resting place in the new cemetery of Mount Carmel.

The funeral cortege was probably one of the grandest and most imposing that ever passed through the streets of this city. It was estimated that 75,000 people viewed the body yesterday.

TWO SISTERS OF CHARITY SHOT.

Man, Believed Demented, Said Asylum Authorities Wouldn't Give Him Information of His Birth.

New York, July 18.—Henry F. King 30 years old, entered the office of the New York Foundling asylum yesterday afternoon and shot two Sisters of Charity. He then ran into the grounds of the institution and shot himself in the left breast, making only a flesh wound. King was taken to a police court, where he was committed without bail for examination Saturday. The injured Sisters are: Sister Angelo, 45 years old, shot in the right arm, and Sister Cecilia, 30 years old, shot in the left arm and side. Neither was fatally hurt.

King, who has been a frequent visitor to the foundling asylum, is believed to be demented. He suffered for some time from melancholia, according to the police, and on May 7 was arrested in the yards of the institution after he had attempted to commit suicide by taking carbolic acid.

When he was arraigned King said he had begged the authorities of the foundling asylum to give him information about his birth, but that they had refused to do so. This so angered him, he said, that he did not know what he was doing.

FOR REPLY TO TAFT.

Commission of Cardinals Is Convened to Consider One.

Rome, July 18.—After the pope had read the last American note on the subject of the friars and their lands in the Philippines, Cardinal Rampolla papal secretary of state, convened the commission of cardinals to consider a reply. So far no answer has reached Judge Taft, though in a personal letter to Cardinal Rampolla, Judge Taft said:

"As the document from Secretary Root is conclusive, and as I wish to leave Rome as soon as possible, I beg your eminence to secure me and the gentlemen accompanying me a fare well audience as early as his holiness will deign to grant it."

President to Decide Bragg's Fate.

Washington, July 18.—The first official step has been taken in the case of General Bragg, United States consul general at Havana. The state department has heard from Mr. Squiers our minister to Cuba, on this subject and also has heard indirectly from General Bragg. It is understood that the general takes the ground that this is a purely personal matter and that he is not therefore open to official criticism. An extract of a letter to his wife, in which he criticized the Cubans, was published recently. The papers in the case were sent to the president for a decision.

Former Legislator Placed on Trial.

St. Louis, July 18.—Harry A. Faulkner, former member of the House of Delegates, was brought to trial, yesterday, in the circuit court on the charge of perjury in connection with suburban railway legislation.

NEURALGYLINE FOR THE NERVES

relieves neuralgic and other nervous pains. It relieves them quickly. It is absolutely harmless. By quieting the nerves, it removes the cause of all nervous diseases. When your head feels as if thousands of pins were sticking in it, when your night's rest is broken by those awful neuralgic pains, when, on account of your awful suffering, you become morose and cross, when you are tired of your very existence, when, in short, you are in the grasp of that fiendish disease, Neuralgia, buy a box of Neuralgyline.

Take one pellet. Twenty minutes after you have taken it, your pains will have vanished as if by magic. You only have yourself to blame now if you continue to have Neuralgic pains, for Neuralgyline relieves pain permanently.

TESTIMONIALS.—Every sale of Neuralgyline insures a satisfied customer, who by telling of its merits, makes new customers. Mr. E. PELL, Druggist, Canton, Ohio.

I recommend Neuralgyline as a permanent cure for Neuralgia and neuralgic headache. W. SCOTT, M. D., Ormond, Florida.

NEAR TO DEATH FROM A FALL

Earl Brunt, Aged 14, Thrown to the Pavement From His Bycicle.

SKULL FRACTURE FEARED

While enjoying a bicycle ride on Fifth street above Jackson street last evening between the hours of 8 and 9 Earl Brunt, aged 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wililam H. Brunt, of Fifth street, met with a most deplorable accident, and it is feared that his life hangs in the balance.

Just how the accident occurred the unfortunate boy has been unable to tell, but Carl Cripps, a companion, who had been riding with him and who was near at the time, states that a rock in the street turned the front wheel abruptly and threw both the boy and the wheel to the bricks very forcibly.

Passersby were attracted to the boy and found him lying motionless on his right side and in a cramped position. For the time being it was thought that he was dead, he being unconscious. However, he was carried into the residence of Charles Craft, and his father and three physicians, Drs. Hobbs, Laughlin and Harrison, were summoned. The physicians were at the boy's side in a short time, and immediately pronounced him not dead, but recommended that he be taken to his home in a carriage. This done, a more rigid examination was made, and it was found that he was hurt seriously.

Dr. Laughlin stated this morning that although the wound, which is located on the back of the boy's head near the ear, may not prove fatal, the fact is not by any means assured. If his skull is fractured his chances for recovery are meager. This cannot be ascertained for a few days, owing to the flesh being badly swollen and it being impossible to make the examination desired.

Through the night and today the sufferer rested as easily as could be expected, and if he undergoes no changes for the worse within the next 24 hours, it is thought that he will speedily recover.

Dr. Hobbs stated this afternoon that he had detected no fracture of the skull and that he had reason to believe that the boy would recover in a few days.

CARS RAN AWAY

BRAKEMAN STANDING ON TOP OF ONE AT THE TIME.

He Jumped And the Cars Dashed Wildly Down the Horn Switch.

Two freight cars, one loaded with clay, got away from the shifting crew of engine No. 693 this morning at 10 o'clock near the brewery and began a chase down the Horn switch. A brakeman was riding the cars down, but lost control on account of defective brakes. When he saw he could not stop the runaway cars he jumped for safety and escaped injury.

The cars continued on down the switch and at the junction of the switch and the main line of the C. & P., in the rear of the base ball grand stand, jumped the tracks, landing sideways across them. Traffic was blocked for a few hours until the wreck train from Wellsville arrived and succeeded in clearing away the wrecked cars. The loaded clay car was the worst smashed of the two, and the tracks were torn up to some extent.

BIDS FOR SEWERS

Received By the Commission and One of Them Accepted.

The sewer commission got together yesterday and disposed of the business which had accumulated during the past few weeks. The bids submitted on Tuesday for the sewering of Rural lane, Thompson avenue and Ravine street were carefully considered, but only one contract was awarded. J. N. George had the lowest bid on the Rural lane work, and was given the contract. Harrison Rinehart and Mr. George differed so little in their bids on the other streets that the commission decided to further consider both bids before letting the contract.

Petitions from the property owners along Green lane, East Seventh and West Market streets, asking that sewers be laid, were accepted, and the clerk ordered to present them to council with the recommendation that the work be done.

CLEVELAND ATTORNEY

Another Sensational Chapter in the Salineville Minister's Suit.

Constable P. E. Spires, of Wellsville, went to Cleveland this morning. He had in his possession a warrant for the arrest of C. R. Penney, a prominent Cleveland attorney, who is charged by Rev. E. W. Rinehart, of Salinevillle, with writing slanderous letters to members of the Disciples church, of which he was pastor. The reverend gentleman alleges the letters were written for the sole purpose of blackening his character and that of his wife. It is claimed Penney wrote a letter to Rodney Griffith, who has been arrested. Rinehart, it is said, blames Penney more than Griffith.

The trouble between Penney and Rinehart is said to date back to their youth, when both were lovers of one young woman. Before Dr. Rinehart removed to this part of the state, he was arrested, tried and acquitted on charges preferred by Penney.

The minister himself vouches for the motives of Penney in bringing dishonor on his name. Both Griffith and Rinehart have arranged to have a number of witnesses on hand at next Monday's trial.

Both Dr. Rinehart and Mr. Griffith were in Wellsville yesterday. Griffith stated that he had given out a statement for publication, but was making an effort to have it withdrawn, as he had since decided to say nothing of the matter. Dr. Rinehart arrived on the noon train from Salineville and at once repaired to the office of his attorney, where they held a consultation. He had nothing to say for publication.

Among the witnesses for the plaintiff are: Theodore Kellogg, Mary Moore, William Randolph, W. F. Morrow, John Elliott, William Hoopes, Mitchell Brown and many others.

The Tombstones Defeated the C. A. C. By a Score of 12 to 4.

The C. A. C. base ball team might have defeated the Tombstones at Oak Grove camp grounds last evening had it played as fast in the first part of the game as in the last inning. But it did not, and is now lamenting over the fact. The final score stood 12 to 4, and it is said that the former made all of its runs in the ninth when the Tombstones gave up trying to field the balls, owing to the near approach of darkness.

Errors were numerous on the defeated side and hits were plentiful on the victorious side. The batteries were: Jarvis and Cripps, Deitz and Firth.

A QUEER GENIUS

Came From Ravenna, and Caused no End of Amusement on the Streets.

Charles Keppler, of Ravenna, who has been in East Liverpool for the past two weeks, is a queer genius. He appeared on the streets with a gaudily decorated cap, and attracted great attention on the Diamond last night by appearing in a ladies' hat. He has been treating the girls to all the delicacies of the season and sending his money in a most careless, trifling way.

The boys treated him to a dose of goose pasture, and gave him a good time generally. He appeared well satisfied with his reception in the city on taking his departure last evening.

EXAMINING ENGINEERS

District Deputy Miller Questions Candidates for Licenses.

Elmer E. Miller, district state examiner of stationary engineers, with headquarters at Canton, was conducting his regular examination at the Metropole hotel, Wellsville, today. Engineers were present from Wellsville, East Liverpool and Salineville.

Among those who took the examination are: John A. Forner, Lewis H. Morse, George W. Wright, N. P. Kerr, N. F. Warden and Michael McNewell.

And Although She Had not Been Within Seven Miles of a Smallpox Patient Neighbors Had Heard That She Had the Disease.

When Miss Mary Kline arrived in the city yesterday afternoon on the steamer Lorena and proceeded to her home in Dry Run, East End, a most exciting scene was witnessed. Hardly had she been seated under her parents' roof before the telephone bells were fiercely ringing and the wires were burning, a dozen or more making an attempt, all at the same time, to talk with Health Officer Burgess at the city hall.

The cause of the unusual proceedings was that, Miss Kline, while visiting at Friendly, W. Va., had written to her mother and told of a town nearby being afflicted with smallpox, and that she was afraid she would become a victim. The report was immediately circulated among the Dry Run neighbors, and of course when the young lady appeared in the vicinity all were up in arms. They wanted her arrested and placed in a pest house.

Officer Burgess went with all haste to the home and found that the girl had no symptoms of the disease and that she had not been within seven miles of the locality in which it is raging.

THE ELKS' CARNIVAL

Lodge Discusses the Question and Will Decide It Later.

The proposition to have a carnival at Rock Springs park in September or some other time in the fall, was given its first consideration at a meeting of East Liverpool lodge, No. 258, B. P. O. E., last evening.

It is stated that while the main promoters of the idea were absent from the meeting the proposition was favorably received. At the next meeting, which will be held on Thursday of next week, it is likely some definite action will be taken regarding the carnival.

As it is known that the local lodge never does things by halves, if it decides to hold another carnival in the fall, it will be even better than the first and last one they held. The holding of a carnival means an immense amount of work, but as that is what some of the members are noted for, the carnival, if held, is an assured success.

TO CINCINNATI BY BOAT

Party of Glass Workers From Pennsylvania Here on a Pleasant Voyage.

A party of glass workers from Breckinridge, Pa., 20 miles up the Monongahela river, captained by Michael Haumer, arrived by houseboat at the wharf this morning. They are making a floating trip to Cincinnati, and have already been on the way two weeks.

The boat is cosily fitted up with berths and household furnitrue, and they have an organ on board. They will fish and hunt along the way. They are thoroughly enjoying the trip thus far.

HUSBAND MADE THREATS

And Also Struck Her, She Says, And Sues for a Divorce.

Lisbon, July 18. — (Special.) — Mrs. Jennie Croft, of Lisbon, has entered suit for divorce against Oliver Croft, of Wellsville. They were married in 1895. She claims that on June 17, 1901, he struck her, called her vile names and threatened to choke her to death.

Took a Fit on the Street.

An unknown man took a fainting fit near the Diamond fountain last night at 9 o'clock. A physician who happened to be in the vicinity attended him and brought him around all right. He was unconscious for a time. A big crowd was attracted to the scene.

SUIT FOR $344,000 OVER MINING LEASE

C. A. Smith Defendant in an Action For a Large Amount.

Their Claims as Presented In a Petition to Court—The Defendant Makes Denial of the Allegations.

Lisbon, July 18. — (Special.) — J. G. English, of Danville, Ill., and J. F. English, of Sumter, Ore., have filed suit in common pleas court against C. A. Smith, of East Liverpool and Pittsburg, for $343,907.12 damages. The plaintiffs allege in their petition that Smith took an option on 980,000 shares of the Golconda Mining company, of Sumter, Ore., and that he agreed to pay for the stock $400,000. When he took this option the company was reorganized in Smith's interest and he elected president.

The agreement was that Smith was to contribute to the mining company the sum of $3,500 per month for one year from January 29, 1901, to be used in sinking the shaft 100 feet deeper and otherwise developing the mine.

The plaintiffs' claims are that he sunk the shaft only 90 feet and left the mine in a greatly damaged and unsafe condition; that Smith used the receipts from the sale of gold to develop the mine instead of declaring a dividend and that he did not contribute $3,500 per month to the company; that he never formally surrendered the option, but abandoned the mine on December 1, 1901, and that they took charge of the mine and declared the option at an end on March 5, 1902. They were put to much expense and were unable to sell the stock to as good advantage as they otherwise might and claim that they were damaged by Smith's failure to comply with the agreement.

Mr. Smith, on being interviewed, denied that the plaintiff had sustained any considerable damage and said that he had offered to reimburse them for their loss, but was unable to make a settlement.

SUDDEN INSANITY

Developed By a Well Known Wellsville Man in Pittsburg Yesterday.

W. A. Christy, who up to yesterday was employed in the department of maintenance of way in the C. & P. passenger station on Third street, Wellsville, went suddenly insane yesterday at Pittsburg, where he had evidently fled when the mania seized him.

Mr. Christy's home is in Cleveland. While in Wellsville he made many friends who highly respected him. He walked into the Pittsburg central police station yesterday and asked the authorities to protect him, as a score of men were seeking his life. The department of charities and correction furnished him transportation to Cleveland, and he arrived there this morning.

A DEMENTED GIRL

Arrested and Placed in Jail at New Cumberland—People Thought Her Dead.

Policeman Cameron arersted Maria Reynolds, demented girl from Penrith, below New Cumberland, who has become a nuisance on the street, and put her in jail. During the afternoon Maria went to sleep on a cot in one of the cells, and could not be aroused. People about the court house thought she was dead, as she seemed to be almost rigid.

Dr. Cramer was sent for and administered some remedies, and later Maria was restored to her usual energy and hilarity. It seems she had gotten hold of some opium or some kind of drug that put her into a sort of cataleptic state.

THE JAIL IS EMPTY

Duff Call Taken to Canton Workhouse—Gaskill's Fine Paid.

There was little doing around the city hall this morning. Every cell was empty and the mayor and other officials were enjoying themselves by the spinning of yarns. Officer McDermott left on the morning train for Canton in charge of Duff Call, who will visit the Stark county workhouse for several months. A friend of his appeared last evening and wanted to get him released by promising to pay 50 cents per day until the fine was eliminated, but it was thought best to give the young desperado a taste of soldier life.

Albert Gaskill, the young man who so brutally cut and beat James Johnston on Wednesday night, was spared the trip. His mother procured the $50 and costs and got his release.

WARRANTS ISSUED

Nowling's Orchestra Also Included. Interesting Case to Be Decided.

The warrants have been issued in the park cases. They are for Manager Smith, Supt. Maxwell, Ticket Seller Dorff and Collector Good, and Nowling's orchestra, the cases to be heard before 'Squire Johnston.

The warrants were sworn out based on the statutes of West Virginia, section 16 of the law against offenses, against morality and decency, as: "If a person be found laboring on the Sabbath day, at any trade or calling, or has servants in other business, except of necessity, he shall be fined not less than $5 for each offense."

The cases will be heard in Squire Johnston's court tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

The warrants read "that one Roy Young et al., did unlawfully labor on the Sabbath day and not of necessity, etc."

RINEHART RELEASED

'Squire Johnston Dismissed the Suit Brought By J. S. Paulley.

John Rinehart through his attorneys, Brookes & Thompson, argued a motion before 'Squire Johnston in Chester this afternoon to quash the charge against him filed by J. S. Paulley, general manager of the bridge. Attorney Ingram argued the case for Paulley. Attorney Jason Brookes filed in his motion to dismiss because there was not enough in the charge to constitute a misdemeanor.

The case was dismissed this afternoon by Squire Johnston, the plaintiff, J. S. Paulley, not appearing to prosecute.

Pottery Manufacturers' Dispute With Auditor Adams Likely to be Adjusted.

The dispute between the manufacturing potters of this city, at least a certain few, with the county auditor, bids fair to be settled in a very short time. Such was the information given out today, after a meeting of some of the manufacturers, held last evening. The proposed terms of settlement are not made known. It is said no cases will be presented to the courts.

The committee of manufacturers having this matter in charge is composed of W. E. Wells, H. N. Harker and W. L. Smith.

Will Probably End John Prudence's Stay In Jail at Lisbon.

Lisbon, July 18. — (Special) — A license to marry has been granted to John Prudence and Nora Haifhill, both of East Liverpool. Prudence is confined to the county pail on a charge of a delicate nature, preferred by Miss Halfhill. An effort is being made by his father to have him released from jail and marry the girl.

Judge Hole will probably consent to the agreement if she will sign a release of the action and he can secure $12.65 to pay the costs.

Is the Appointment Received by Ex-Deputy Sheriff Lawrence Allison.

Lawrence Allison, formerly deputy sheriff of Columbiana county, has been appointed yard master at Dennison, on the main branch of the Panhandle, and assumes his new duties tomorrow. The position is worth over $1,000 per annum.

Appealed to Common Peas.

Lisbon, July 18. — (Special.) — Albert Dinerstein sued F. J. Livingston in the court of Justice Daniel McLane, of East Liverpool, for $12, claimed to be due for labor and was given judgment for $5. The defendant has appealed to common pleas court.

AN AWFUL FALL FROM WINDOW

Young Lady Walked in Her Sleep and Was Very Badly Hurt.

HER INJURIES ARE INTERNAL

Screams of the Sufferer Attracted a Crowd at the Hour of Midnight.

SOMNAMBULIST FOR YEARS

Emma Morley, the 16-year-old daughter of Link Morley, brother of the late ex-Mayor Morley, who is employed as a kilnman in the Edwin M. Knowles pottery, of Chester, and who resides on Center alley in the rear of East Market street, had a frightful fall from the front window at her home last night at 12 o'clock.

Mr. Morley has lately moved from the East End to this city, occupying the home where the acident happened. He states his daughter has been subject to somnambulistic feats, and has a number of times been found by members of the family walking about the house in her sleep. Her feats have not particularly worried the family, but she has been watched to some extent for fear harm would befall her. On one occasion Emma arose in her sleep and performed the remarkable feat of lighting a lamp in her bed room before she was discovered and awakened by other members of the family. She has performed other similar feats, but has fortunately escaped injury thus far.

Last night she arose from her bed and walking to one of the front windows, climbed out on the window sill. From this perilous position she fell to the yard below, a distance of 12 feet, alighting on a chair, upsetting it. It is thought she was badly injured internally. Her screams not only attracted members of the family, but were heard by many on the streets, and soon a large number of people were attracted to the scene.

Dr. Ogden was hastily summoned and upon examination found that no bones had been broken, but he could not exactly determine the extent of her internal injuries at the time.

The father stated to a News Review reporter this morning that she was resting easily, and he hopes her injuries are not serious. She suffers quite a good deal from the effects of the fall, and complains of pain.

The father was first to reach her side and carried the almost unconscious form of the young girl into the house, where everything possible in the way of medical skill is being done to save the girl's life.

MUZZLE YOUR DOG

Then, If the Owner Does Not Appear, the Animal Will Be Killed.

In accordance with a city ordinance providing for the care of the canine family during what is known as "dog days," the mayor issued an order to the police this morning which he states must be carried out to the letter. The order follows:

"It shall be the duty of the marshal, police and night watchman to take up and impound any dog found in the city limits between July 20 and October 10 that has not been properly muzzled. The officers shall keep the dogs for 48 hours, and if the owner does not pay all charges, the cost of muzzling the dog and a fee of $1, the officers shall kill the dog."

The police are desirous that owners of dogs will take heed to the warning, and thereby prevent strife, which generally accompanies the killing of dogs.

THIRTY DAYS SERVED

And Vann and Strousse Who Once Ran Away Are Now Free.

Lisbon, July 18. — (Special.) — H. C. Vann and James Strousse, who have been serving a 30-day sentence in jail for pocket-picking at Salem, were released today. They ran away some time ago and attempted to reach West Virginia. They were captured by Sheriff Leonard near Highlandtown.

TWO REVOLVERS DRAWN UPON HIM

And Could Only Comply With the Request—Fifty Cents All the Highwayman Secured—Small Clue For Police to Work On.

A daring holdup of which Attorney W. H. Burgess was the victim and two unknown men the perpetrators occurred last night shortly before 12 o'clock on Fourth street a few doors above the postoffice.

Mr. Burgess, in reporting the matter to Chief Thompson, stated that he was walking down the street to his home, and after passing the Central school building he saw two men standing in the doorway of Rex & Dean's machine repair shop, but had no cause for alarm and walked without faltering toward them.

At a point nearly opposite them he was greatly surprised and more scared when one, the smaller of the pair, stepped out and, presenting a revolver, demanded a quarter. The accomplice chimed in and said: "No, we want a dollar."

Mr. Burgess admits that there was nothing else for him to do but put his hands up and let them have all that his purse contained, as by this time two revolvers were staring him in the face in a pleading manner.

Unhesitatingly, but with reluctance he allowed them to search his pockets. Fifty cents was all that they received for their boldness and trouble. After finding their attempt to become immensely rich in a moment's time had proved futile they gave Mr. Burgess orders to move on. He carried out the order in quick time.

Chief Thompson and the police are on the lookout for the highwaymen, but have little hope of capturing them, the description given being incomplete.

LOOKING FOR GOODMAN

Auditor of the Company He Worked For on the Man's Trail.

J. W. Elliott, of Columbus, who is traveling auditor for the Curmans' Mercantile establishments, went to New Cumberland and Toronto this morning to see if he could not apprehend James Goodman, whom, it is alleged, embezzled $173 worth of goods from the firm.

Mr. Elliott said that Goodman had been seen passing through Wellsville going south, by an officer of that city, driving a horse and wagon. The New Cumberland and Toronto authorities have been notified.

POTTERY TAX SUITS

Set For a Hearing Before Judge Hole on Monday, July 28.

Lisbon, July 18.—(Special)—Court will convene on Tuesday next, Judge Hole presiding. On Tuesday opinions wil be rendered on cases submitted.

On Monday, July 28, the suits of the various potteries of East Liverpool against County Auditor J. F. Adams on the proposed increase of personal taxes will be taken up.

Score 8 to 7.

The Imperials defeated the East Liverpool Athletics at Rock Springs park last evening in a well played game by a score of 8 to 7. Gray and Vaughn was the battery for the Athletics. Both teams are from East Liverpool.

EAST END

A Shut-Down of Ten Days at Sewer Pipe Works While Improvements Are Made.

The East End plant of the American Sewer Pipe company will close tomorrow evening for about 10 days. The plant has been in steady operation for quite a long time, and the coming shutdown will be the longest since the plant started under the new management. The cause of the temporary suspension is that a number of improvements are to be made at the works at an expense of fully $1,000. For this sum a good deal of repair work can be done, but no machinery will be purchased for the plant.

The clay elevators are to be extensively repaired, and also the grinding pans. The presses will be overhauled, and everything about the big plant that needs repairing will be looked after. A number of the kilns also will be repaired, floors of these being relaid, and in all the plant will be given a general overhauling. It will resume operations within two weeks and continue doing so until the new year. The quality of the pipe made at this plant is such that it is in general demand; in fact, more so than pipe made at other factories in the trust.

IN THE SQUIRE'S COURT

A Number of Small Suits Disposed of By Justice L. W. Carman.

Quite a lot of business was transacted in the court of Justice L. W. Carman yesterday afternoon. The case of Dr. R. J. Marshall against Mrs. Andrew Rattray for $94 and interest for services was heard, and judgment for $108.55 was given the plaintiff. In the case with the same plaintiff against R. J. Stenger, judgment for $119 with interest, all amounting to $136.85, was given.

In the case of Mrs. Maggie Azdell, of East Market street, against Miss A. Moore, for which judgment for $8.50 was given the plaintiff last Saturday, an appeal was taken to common pleas court yesterday, a bond for $50 being filed. It is alleged that the amount is due for boarding and lodging. The case was heard when the defendant was out of the city, but her attorney advised the court to render judgment and an appeal would be taken. This was done yesterday.

O. U. A. M. Installation.

The meeting held last evening by Ohio Valley council No. 23, O. U. A. M., at their hall on First avenue, was one of the most interesting held by that order for many months. The new officers elected last month were installed at this meeting by Deputy Lot Haney, and the work was of a public nature. A number of members from General Thomas council, of the city, were present at the meeting, after which an address was made by Rev. N. M. Crowe, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, a member of the order. Attorney A. H. Clark, chairman of the state committee upon laws and appeals of this order, was also present and made an address.

New Crossing to Be Built.

Measurements were taken this morning for a new railroad crossing which will be built to replace the one now in use at the intersection of the street railway and the Cleveland & Pittsburg road on Muiberry street. It seems that both companies have more trouble with this crossing than all the others which the street railway crosses.

EAST END AFFAIRS.

Mrs. Caroline White is planning a trip to East Palestine, where she will visit friends.

T. F. Anderson, of Pennsylvania avenue, was in Pittsburg today on business. He will return home this evening.

Miss Inez Howard, accompanied by her grandmother, Mrs. Field, left this morning for Chautauqua, where they will spend several months.

Mrs. Byron, of Adrian, Mich, accompanied by Mrs. Cal Smith, wife of ex-Postmaster Smith, of East Palestine, is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Stevenson, on Railroad street.

The services at the Second U. P. church Sunday morning and evening will be in charge of Rev. J. N. Swan, of the East End, for many years pastor of the Long's Run Presbyterian church.

VISITORS BEATEN BY A SINGLE RUN

Luck Was Against the Home Team Until Near End of the Game.

The Finish Abounded in Exciting Features—The Junction Team, One of the Strongest in This Section, Vanquished 6 to 5.

After nine innings of the hardest playing that they have engaged in during the season the locals walked from West End park yesterday afternoon with one more scalp under their belt.

Starting the game and continuing for six innings they were completely at the mercy of the Junctions—that famous aggregation from Pittsburg—the one that has downed every team in the Smoky City regions. But when the always lucky seventh arrived they made a wonderful spurt and did enough in the one inning to confuse the visitors to such an extent that victory was assured.

With the score standing 5 to 4 in favor of the visitors the eighth was opened and it ended with no change. Imagine the excitement which prevailed among the fans when in the ninth Davis, the first man up smashed one out for two bases and was closely followed by a single by Emmerling. The time was at hand. They must take advantage of the chance and that unflinchingly or the game was lost.

Maley tied the score and eased the minds of the enthusiasts when he made one of the prettiest bunts on record and allowed Davis to go sailing over the home plate. Maag gave them the same dose and advanced Maley to third base. Godwin ended all suspense by placing a high fly out in left field, Maley scoring on the throw in and thereby winning the game.

It seems that all of the bad luck floating around West End park centers on Godwin. He is undoubtedly one of the best players that ever entered a game with the local team, but fate seems to be against him in the most inopportune times. Had the game been lost yesterday he would have been credited with helping greatly in the defeat. It was in the sixth inning. Two men were out and the score stood very low—2 to 1. The third man up pounded out to him and he dropped it as though it were coated with Mount Pelee lava.

The crowd gave a sigh and commenced making excuses for the general favorite. What could they amount to when the visitors jumped on another one and finally succeeded in scoring two runs? It really looked bad, and all were about disgusted. Enthusiasm was revived immediately in the following inning when Godwin jumped sideways and while on the jump reached up and pulled down a swift one with his left hand. Every one was again in the game and from that on the excitement was intense.

Every game adds laurels to the crown of Maag, the chunky find from Canton. His skill in reaching first base cannot be excelled. In some way he gets there. He either walks, gets hit or makes a hit. To him is due the credit for the three runs made in the seventh inning. The majority of the men were out when he came to bat. Two men were on bases, and in using his judgment he, in a deceiving manner, allowed the ball to hit his arm. Of course, he walked and filled the bases. The rest was easy.

Webb came very near losing his reputations by making a rank error on second. He redeemed himself in a few minutes by taking part in a very clever double play.

Maley did pretty good work, but he has done much better. It probably can be accounted for as the result of his strenuous work while out on the trip.

If it were not for the fact that Berry almost holds the record for put outs, and that he is admired by all, even those on contesting teams, he would have been severely censured for a bit of poor judgment in the ninth inning when he held Davis on third and would not allow him to try to make home. Davis could easily have done so, but Berry did not think so and innocently made him stick to the base.

The Legend of Roquefort Cheese.

Roquefort cheese, like many other unique food productions, has its legend of accidental origin. A shepherd lad, having for once more luncheon than he could eat, while tending his flock of sheep, laid a large portion of his bread and cheese upon a natural shelf in one of the caverns nearby. Boylike, he forgot all about it until several months later on returning to that cavern he found his luncheon. The cheese, instead of being dried up or rotten, was rich, moist and creamy and streaked with greenish blue veins of mold, the remains of the bread which had lain on or under it. He probably told his mother of his discovery and shared his piece of cheese with others. The villagers were quick to recognize the improved texture and quality of the cheese, and henceforth all their cheeses were taken to these caves to ripen.

The caves are owned by a joint stock company, who employ about six hundred women to tend the cheese. Oak shelves on which the cheeses are placed and so arranged that each cheese may have one side next the cold wall of the cave give over 65,000 square yards of storing room.

One of Oswald's Jokes.

When a play written by a man who had roused Oswald's anger by reading a newspaper at a wedding of one of his friends was produced, he prevented its success by inducing 250 of his friends to attend it carrying great books. These young men, who occupied prominent seats, read their books while the performance was going on, and whenever there was any applause each one of them, as if moved by clockwork, turned over a leaf. The rustling of the leaves and the spectacle of the men absorbed in reading made the performance a complete failure.

A Hint on Spanking.

Father (to the seven-year-old son beside him in the dog cart, cutting the whip sharply through the air)—See, Tommy, how I make the horse go faster without striking him at all.

Tommy (in an eager tone of happy discovery)—Papa, why don't you spank us children that way?—New York World.

Octopus For Dinner.

Octopuses are pretty plentiful in Japanese waters and have been known to attack fishermen in their boats. When this hideous monster assumes the aggressive, the only chance the fishermen have is to lop off the tentacles of the beast. Failing this, the boat may be upset and the men dragged under. The octopus is highly valued in Japan as an article of food.

The Explanation.

Knox—I sat down in my easy chair last night and picked up that new novel of Scribbler's and I didn't get to bed until 4 this morning.

Cox—The idea! Why, I thought it awfully tiresome.

Knox—Exactly! It was nearly 4 o'clock when I woke up in my chair.

Only Jar of Its Kind.

Horace Walpole told a lively story of an old porcelain vender who had an exceedingly rare and valuable jar on which he set an almost fabulous price. One hot summer a slight volcanic shock, such as the British occasionally experience, jogged his house about his ears and split his porcelain vase. To an ordinary mind the accident would have been calamitous, but the china seller rose superior to fortune. He doubled the price of the article immediately and advertised it as "the only jar in the world which had been cracked by an earthquake." Nothing very slow about that; whether he got his money is not added, but certainly he deserved it.

The Cossack's Whip.

People who are unacquainted with Russia and who read of street disturbances being suppressed by the Cossacks with their whips have little idea of what formidable weapons these are. Made of hard leather and tapering to a fine point, they are triangular in shape, and the Cossack who knows how to bring the edge down upon his victim can inflict a wound that is not infrequently fatal. A favorite stroke is one by which the eye and a portion of the cheek are cut.

French Beards.

M. Maxime du Camp says in "Souvenirs Litteraires" that after the revolution of July, in 1830, the politics of Frenchmen were known by their beards. Supporters of Louis Philippe wore "mutton chop" whiskers, Bonapartists had mustaches and imperials, Republicans did not shave at all, and Legitimists wore their beards like a collar, with shaved lips and chin.

TRAINING OF HORSES

CAREFUL HANDLING TO FIT THEM FOR CIRCUS TRICKS.

The Candidate For Ring Honors Must Have Special Points Well Developed—Horses Can Be Coaxed, Like a Child, but Not Forced.

"A trainer must possess two qualifications before he can successfully educate a horse to do the tricks seen in a circus—he must possess kindness and perseverance.

"A veteran trainer selects his horses with as much care as a society woman plans a party gown. The candidate for the future applause of the circus going people of the world must be handsome in color, as near perfect as possible in conformation and possess an even temperament. His eyes must be large and devoid of the least trace of viciousness, he must hold his ears pointed slightly forward, and he must have a sensible looking head, broad between the eyes. Horses that lay back their ears at the approach of a man, who nip viciously at every passerby and whose eyes plainly demonstrate a mean disposition are discarded. A trainer will handle no animal of this kind.

"Once the candidate is selected he is shipped to the winter quarters of the circus and assigned to a comfortable stall in a large, clean, well ventilated barn tenanted by several hundred beauties of his kind. Good hay and oats are his in abundance, and for several days he is allowed to rest and become familiar with his surroundings. The trainer visits him daily and by speaking kindly and occasionally giving the animal a bit of sugar gains his confidence. After a time the horse begins to whinny at the approach of the trainer, and the bond of friendship is thus quickly cemented.

"Then comes the first lesson. The candidate is introduced to the training ring constructed near the barn and allowed to wander about at will. He smells the sawdust, the pedestals and the harness and ropes that will soon be buckled about his body and then, horselike, lies down in the center of the ring and enjoys a good roll.

"Next day he is led around and around the ring for several hours and soon understands that he is expected to encircle the ring of his own accord. Then a strap is placed around his right foreleg, and from this strap a rope is run through harness fastened around his body. The trainer grasps the free end of the rope in one hand and a pair of lines attached to the horse's bridle in the other. The animal is told to 'get up,' and after the ring is encircled a few times the command 'whoa' is given. If the horse refuses to obey, a quick pull on the rope draws his leg from under him, and he is forced to stop. Only a few demonstrations of this kind are necessary to show the horse that he must stop when the command is given.

"After these preliminaries are satisfactorily accomplished the equine pupil is taught to kneel first on one knee, then on the other and finally on both. All this is accomplished by drawing up the front legs, one at a time, thus forcing him down. His knees are padded to prevent injury, and every time he is forced down the command to kneel is given, and the animal is petted and reassured with kind words until finally he kneels at the word.

"It is in these preliminary lessons that a good performer is made or spoiled. The instructor must be firm and resolute, but kind, always kind. A horse is like a child; you may coax him, but you can't force without spoiling his disposition. The animal quickly notices any show of ill temper or roughness on the part of the instructor and resents it by becoming balky and obstinate. Blows or harsh punishment only make him worse. You frequently hear people assert that animals are beaten into submission in teaching them tricks. People who say this never saw the inside of the training quarters of a modern circus. A horse or any other animal conquered in this way is never reliable and is apt to spoil a performance by an outbreak of bad temper, besides being dangerous to handle.

"The next lesson for the horse is the art of lying down and remaining motionless until the word is given to rise. This information is imparted to the horse in a manner similar to the kneeling lesson. An ingenious harness makes it possible for the trainer to draw the horse down on a soft bed of hay without injuring him. When the horse willingly lies down at the word of command, he is taught to sit upon his haunches and then is gradually drilled into the other tricks that always draw applause from children and adults alike.

"It is usually an easy matter to teach a horse to stand upon a pedestal, to waltz, rear on his hind legs and march in unison with equine companions after these simple lessons are thoroughly learned and the horse understands the trainer is his friend and not his enemy. The horse of average intelligence learns quickly as soon as he realizes what is required of him. The main requisite on the trainer's part is patience, and if a man hasn't got this, and lots of it, he had better keep out of the business. If he gets excited or impatient and goes to hauling the horse about unnecessarily, the animal is sure to become uneasy and fretful, and a little experience of this kind will spoil him.

"The better bred a horse is the more intelligence it has and the more apt it is to make a good performer, provided it has been handled properly from colthood. All high bred horses, however are nervous and require kind treatment in order to insure good results."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

MACARTHUR'S NEW POST.

New Commander of Department of the East Has Brilliant Record.

General Arthur MacArthur, who will succeed General Brooks as commander of the department of the east, with headquarters at Governors island, New York harbor, has been in command of the department of the lakes at Chicago since last March. General Brooke reaches the age limit on July 7 and retires after forty-one years' consecutive service in the army.

General MacArthur is a volunteer soldier. He entered the service in the early days of the civil war as first lieutenant and adjutant of the Twenty-fourth Wisconsin infantry, which was recruited in the vicinity of Milwaukee, where his boyhood days were spent.

When young MacArthur's friends asked Governor Larabee of Wisconsin

to commission him as a lieutenant of the Twenty-fourth, the governor hesitated because he thought "a schoolboy should not be sent to the front." The applicant for the commission was then but seventeen years old. He got the position, however, and soon proved that he was made of fighting stuff.

Before he was nineteen he was a major, and it is said that General Grant would have recommended him for a brigadier generalship after the battle of Missionary Ridge except for his extreme youth.

For gallant action at Missionary Ridge MacArthur was awarded a medal of honor. He was struck down at the battle of Franklin, but a package of letters in his breast prevented the bullet entering his body.

After the battle of Franklin the Twenty-fourth Wisconsin was in command of young MacArthur, who had been promoted to be lieutenant colonel. He led the regiment until it was mustered out in 1865.

Young MacArthur entered the regular army the following year as a lieutenant. He was soon promoted and became the youngest captain in the service.

At the outbreak of the Spanish war MacArthur was a lieutenant colonel. He was appointed a brigadier general of volunteers and was sent to Manila with the first detachment of troops. His brilliant service in the Philippines is of too recent date to need rehearsal.

General MacArthur is now fifty-seven and has seven years of active service ahead of him before he will be retired under the age limit. In that time he is likely to achieve the highest command in the United States army.

Germany's Woods.

With the single exception of Norway there is no land in Europe whose area is so taken up by forests as Germany, more than a quarter of its surface being devoted to them.

LOSES ROYAL CROWN.

Only American Woman to Occupy a Throne Is Divorced.

Princess Alice of Monaco, from whom Prince Albert of Monaco has just secured a limited divorce, was formerly Miss Heine of New Orleans. Only a limited divorce was granted, because the prince is a Catholic and could not ask for an absolute decree.

The Princess Alice of Monaco and Monte Carlo, who may be said to be the only American woman who has really occupied a throne, was originally Miss Mary Alice Heine, the daughter of a New Orleans Hebrew banker.

Twenty-seven years ago, while visiting Paris, she became the wife of Duc Richelieu d'Aiguillon et Fronsa. After six years of life with the Frenchman, who claimed direct descent from the famous cardinal's sister, she was left a widow. In 1891 she became the wife of the Prince of Monaco.

Cows Worse Than Bulls.

It is said that the Spanish bullfighter refuses to face a cow, as being so much more dangerous. A bull makes a blind rush at his assailant, and this a little knowledge and experience will soon enable an active man to avoid, but a cow fences with her horns with a skill and quickness unexpected in such an apparently clumsy animal, and a man must be active indeed who can avoid the repeated attacks of an angry cow.

The bull, in a state of nature, fights to obtain the mastery of the herd and not to kill, but the cow only to protect her offspring, and, in her case, there is no quarter given. It would not be to the advantage of the herd that the bulls should kill each other in determining which was the stronger, and therefore they do not use their horns as lethal weapons, but it is, on the other hand, greatly to the advantage of the calves, and so of the future of the herd, that all enemies that dare to attack them should be slain.

Overstated.

In a well known Lancashire town there resides a man who is about as careful of a shilling or two as a man can well be and appear anything like decent. He is in business, in comfortable circumstances, and, being thrifty, honest and industrious, he was considered quite the most eligible bachelor of the neighborhood notwithstanding his painful exactness in matters financial. He finally married a widow worth in her own right some £15,000, and shortly after the ceremony an old friend met him.

"Allow me," he said, "to congratulate you. Your wedding was worth a clear £15,000 to you."

"No," he replied; "not quite so much."

"Indeed! I thought there was every penny of £15,000 in it."

"Oh, no," said the Benedict; "I had to pay £2 12s. 6d. for the marriage license!"—London Answers.

Commenting on the improved conditions of wage-earners in woolen mills a census bureau bulletin says that there has been a gradual evolution. After picturing the old condition, it says of the new conditions: "The rooms are large, lofty, well ventilated and lighted, and heated by steam. Electric lights make good the absence of daylight when required. The hours of labor have even been reduced to sixty per week, and in several instances to a smaller number. Wages are generally paid in cash, usually either every week or once in two weeks, and factory inspection laws prevent, to a great extent, the employment of children under 14 years of age, and insure the best sanitary conditions." These statements apply to American factories in general. Imperfect sanitary arrangements are now intolerable, both to manufacturers and men. There has been a veritable revolution in conditions in the last few years. It has also been learned that cheerfulness, light and healthy surroundings contribute to more and better work. Under the wise system of inspection now rigidly enforced in almost every manufacturing center death-traps for human beings ought speedily to become things of the past.

Minister Wu is a shrewd observer and has a happy faculty of expressing himself. Speaking of the American people and the qualities that make them great he said the other day: "You have no governing class. Men go about their business for years. Suddenly an emergency arises. You want a president, an ambassador, a lawyer to appear before some great international tribunal. You have no class trained and selected for such occupations. But the people always get the man they want and he performs his duty well. I imagine this adaptiveness of the American springs from the almost universal diffusion of education.' It isn't all education, Mr. Wu; that rare possession known as common sense is more abundant than most people think. That and honesty and fixedness of purpose fit a man for any emergency and almost any position he is likely to be called upon to fill.

All that poetry and romance have woven about the "army blue" is to become but ancient history. The new color of the American uniform is officially described as "olive drab." It is not quite yellow, not exactly brown, nor yet a green, but a mixture of all three. There is not that halo of heroism and romance about the boys in olive drab that there is about the "boys in blue," but give our soldiers time and they will give such associations to the new uniform color.

Professors have arisen to remark that Shakespeare's poems are not Shakespeare's; that Columbus did not discover America and that George Washington never owned a hatchet. Now comes a learned man from Harvard who wants to prove that the Monroe doctrine was not invented by Monroe and was not comprehended by him. It is a difficult matter for college professors to attract public attention, but some of them accomplish it.

General Edward S. Bragg, United States consul general at Cuba, has been saying uncomplimentary things about the Cubans. Democratic generals have an unfortunate habit of talking when silence would be more becoming.

Dr. Wiley, chief chemist of the agricultural department, wants about a dozen men to eat adulterated food products and see what effect it will have on them. Why not "try it on the dog?" There are scores of healthy curs in East Liverpool that might be made useful in this way. It is their only possible chance of usefulness.

In the canal treaty to be drawn between this country and Colombia will be incorporated provisions giving the United States rights to coaling stations in Colombian territory, probably one on the Atlantic coast and one on the Pacific. This is a matter next in importance to the canal rights themselves.

It is welcome news that there is to be no strike of soft coal miners. One miners' strike at a time is more than enough.

Bandit Tracy will not come east to lecture, that is one consolation.

William Waggle.

William Waggle, aged about 86 years, died at the home of his son in Summit lane at 8:30 o'clock last evening of paralysis, he suffering a severe stroke a week ago last Monday. The funeral services will be held at his late home tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, interment at Riverview cemetery. Mr. Waggle was well known in this city, having came here from Pennsylvania about six or seven years ago. He was born at Shippingport, Pa., and was also well known through Beaver county. For many years he followed the trade of shoemaking, but of recent years he has labored none.

James Normile.

James Normile, who has been on the retired list of old employes of the C. & P. railroad for several years, died at his home at Smith's Ferry this afternoon at about 1 o'clock. He had been ill for some time, and death was caused by old age. Mr. Normile was employed for many years as section foreman between Smith Ferry and Industry, and was one of the best known railroad men in this section. He has resided in Smith's Ferry for many years, and was quite well to do. The arrangements for the funeral have not been completed.

Melvin Jones.

Melvin, the two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Jones, of Thompson park, died last evening of pneumonia, with which he had been ailing for some time. The funeral services will be held at the home of his parents tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock, interment at Riverview cemetery. The funeral services will be in charge of Rev. J. H. Mason, of the African Methodist Episcopal church.

Both Twins Dead.

The second twin child of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Savage, of Avondale street, died last evening, aged two days. The first of the twins died Wednesday. The funeral service was held this afternoon. Interment at St. Aloysius cemetery.

WITH THE WORKMEN IN THE CLAY PLANTS

The announcement in this paper last evening of the fact that the committee from the Manufacturing Potters' association had secured a lower freight rate from this city to the south was read with interest both by manufacturers and also by operatives. It is of just as much interest to the operatives to have the freight rates reduced from this city as to the manufacturers. Increased orders from the south will result, increasing the output of the local potteries. Not many years ago the rate to the south was much lower than even that which was secured at the Chicago conference. A rate of 49 cents per hundred was in force from this city to the south, and the rate at present is quoted at 70 cents. If a rate of 50 cents could ce secured it would be a wonderful benefit.

A meeting of a committee composed of manufacturers from the association and a committee representing local union No. 9 will be held tonight for the purpose of trying to settle the dispute which has been on for many months relative to the biscuit kilnmen placing flat ware in the first ring in the kiln. The glost kilnmen are paid something extra for this work, and the biscuit kilnmen desire to have the same favor extended. It was decided at the last conference that this dispute should be settled by a joint conference, and now the time for the first session has arrived. Two of the members of the kilnmen's committee are George Smith and Richard Herbert.

William Henderson, of Wellsville, for several years connected with the sewer pipe industry of this section, but more recently affiliated with the management of the East End plant of the American Sewer Pipe company, has been made general manager of the plant by the Pittsburg office. This appointment was made several days ago when some of the officials of the company were in the city, and after the resignation of T. F. Anderson had been presented to the Pittsburg officials.

While there are many frame-fillers walking the streets, yet the saggermakers throughout the city claim they are unable to secure the proper help. A well known saggermaker said today that when a frame-filler had worked at the business for about six months, he is of the opinion that he is as good a saggermaker as any in the business. While he can secure a position as frame filler he refuses to work at any other trade than that of making saggers, or to take charge of a shop. That is why so many of the saggermakers are in need of frame-fillers. Some saggermakers in this city have sent to other towns for frame fillers.

John W. Hall was in Rogers yesterday looking after his interests in the National Furnace Brick company. He says that the plant has been operated steadily since its erection last year.

On Tuesday at Trenton the following important papers were issued: Spear & Mincke Pottery company; registered office, Millville; capital stock, $125,000; corporators, John N. Martin, T. Wilmer Gainson and John F. Mincke, of Millville.

Horatio Wareham, 54 years old, is dead at his home 29 Klagg avenue, Trenton, after an illness of about a week. He was a potter and was employed at the Morris & Willmore pottery. Mr. Wareham leaves a widow and five daughters.

Pittsburg capitalists have purchased this week near New Castle Junction 300 acres of land, and will found a new town called Movaria. A big steel mill will be one of the features as well as a pottery.

The sanitary pressers' union No. 45, N. B. of O. P., at a meeting at Trenton, decided to support only those political parties who have the referendum clause attached to their platforms.

The new Myers Clay Manufacturing company's new sewer pipe works at Toronto are nearly ready for roofing. The boiler and power house is complete.

The Taylor, Smith & Taylor is putting out seven car loads of ware this week. Four of them are bulk ware.

Michael Malone, a kilnhand at the Taylor, Smith & Taylor, has returned from a visiti to Trenton, N. J.

Nick Ferran, a saggermaker at the Laughlin No. 2, has been ill for several days and unable to work.

OXFORDS AT MELTED PRICES

Now is the time to wear oxfords. You can wear them until October or November, but we must sell the bulk of our's within the next three or four weeks, or carry them over until next season, a thing we object very muchto do. Our sale of tan shoes at half price was a big success, in fact we do not expect to carry over a dozen pairs of men's tan shoes. We have sold about 250 pairs the past three weeks.

WELLSVILLE

RAFAELLO'S RINGS

The Cause of Perplexity And a Suit Before the Mayor of Wellsville.

City officials are studying the Italian tongue and Mayor Fogo is having a peck of trouble with an Italian family named Buckley, living on Twelfth street. At the head of the household is J. E. Buckley, and he is the cause of the trouble. His brother, who is not yet one of Uncle Sam's citizens, and whose name is Rignor Raffaello Bucklino, came over from Italy a few years ago to join his brother of this city.

Not being blessed with the necessary lirae, his passage was paid by his brother, and to him Raffaello is also indebted for one month's board. He gave his brother two rings as a token of affection and light-hearted and happy, started out to hunt for work, leaving memories of passage money and board bills behind.

But work was scarce, and there was trouble for the Italian when he returned to Wellsville. He demanded his rings, but fraternal relations had no weight with Buckley, who refused to give them up until the board bill was paid. Raffaello appeared and charged Mary Buckley, his sister-in-law, with having $3.25, American money, which belonged to him, and also with having those rings.

Mayor Fogo sent Buckley, who came to city hall last night, smiling and innocent.

"What do you know about those rings?" was asked him. Buckley replied in broken English that he had given them away for luck. When queried further Buckley stated that a man whom he knew had promised to bring him good luck all his days for one of the rings, while the other had been sent to Italy for the same purpose. Raffaello placed a value of $5 each on the pieces of jewelry and wants $10 worth of justice. Mayor Fogo has doubts that the medicine man was a reality.

The whole bunch will appear in the mayor's court this morning at 7 o'clock, and the city officials will endeavor to straighten out the trouble with the aid of interpreters and a Latin dictionary.

THE SEWER DISPUTE

Designer of the System to Settle Difficulties With the Contractor.

H. E. Riggs, of Toledo, the man who designed the plans for the city's sewer system, is in Wellsville on business. Contractor Irwin and the city became involved in a difficulty over the payment of the money due, and it was said that the specifications had not been followed out. Mr. Riggs was summoned from Toledo to help unravel the trouble, and believes that after another day's conference, the matter can be adjusted to the satisfaction of all parties. Mr. Riggs went over the plans and a conference will be held today at the office of City Solicitor Boyd, and a conclusion will doubtless be reached between the contractor and the city.

Mr. Riggs is an authority on sewer matters. He stated last evening that, barring a few features that will soon be rectified, the city can boast of as good sewerage as can be found in the state of Ohio.

A PUBLIC DUMP

Mayor Fogo Considers It One of the City's Needs.

Mayor Fogo is strongly impressed with the need of a dumping ground for trash of all kinds in Wellsville, and gives out some strong arguments in favor of such a place. It is quite probable that he will see his wishes carried out.

He has his eyes on a suitable tract of ground in the West End, between the railroad and river bank. The surrounding sand is unsuitable for business or building purposes and as a residence district is not to be thought of. A place where trash, street sweepings and refuse of all kinds may be conveniently consigned is a necessity.

"We have issued notice after notice," said Mayor Fogo to a reporter, "calling on the citizens to have a general cleaning up, and all the time the city had provided no place where trash could be disposed of."

A CONCLUSION REACHED

Regarding Paving Work, But Committee Keeps It Secret.

The second meeting of the citizens' and council committee was held in the city hall last night. As at the previous meeting the session was executive and no one, save Engineer Leith and Solicitor Boyd, entered the star chamber.

That important discussions were held was evidenced by snatches of conversation that were heard from time to time. Wellsville is certainly in difficulty over the paving matter, and the necessity of decided and united action was manifest to every member of the committee.

"Oh, yes, we came to a conclusion," was the remark of Secretary Julius Goetz, immediately after the committee adjourned.

When asked for fuller particulars, Mr. Goetz said: "As to anything further I feel that I am not at liberty to say."

He said that the members of the committee had thought it best to keep the matter quiet until the report to council. Whatever the report the mere fact that so large a number of representative property owners could and did come to one conclusion should have decided weight with the city council at the next meeting.

BOARD OF HEALTH

Takes Action Upon a Number of Important Matters.

The board of health meeting last night was an interesting one. Numerous complaints were heard. It was decided to urge council to replace the sewer on Fifteenth street up to Twelfth street with first grade pipe, while the lateral sewer down Thirteenta, Fourteenth and Fifteenth streets should be removed entirely.

The garbage furnace question was discussed, but no action taken. It was recommended that action be taken to remove stagnant water from the fair ground addition.

ALL WORK HAS STOPPED

Improvement on Wellsville's City Streets Now at a Standstill.

All paving work in Wellsville has been called off and not a man is at work on the streets. The citizens' and councilmen's committee did not give publicity to their meeting, but the main things which were done leaked out.

A cessation of work must have been decided on, for today orders were issued from some unknown source for all work to stop. All municipal undertakings out of routine lines will be tied up, hundreds of men thrown out of employment.

NOTES AND NOTIONS

A VARIETY OF TALES PICKED UP ABOUT TOWN.

Opinions And Observations of Interest As Noted By News Review Reporters.

What might have been a terrible fight was averted by one man's coolness the other night at the corner of Cook and Broadway. Officer McDermott, while not on duty, was at the depot in readiness to leave for a few days' visit out of the city, when he heard a loud noise on the corner designated and he immediately repaired to the spot. He found a large crowd of men entering into a dispute which undoubtedly would have ended in a fierce quarrel. Part of the men were tin mill workers from Chester and the others were local pottery employes One crowd was making a rush at the other when the officer interfered and ordered the men to disperse. The gang from Chester did not recognize the protector of the peace and told him to move on or they would give nin' all that he was looking for. He began to think that he was "in for it." Then some one mentioned his name. That was sufficient. The Chesterites jumped aboard the next car and made their way home.

A trick pony is being kept by Doc McFarland at his stable on Sixth street. The pony is capable of about a hundred slick tricks. The other day Doc left him in the stable, locking the stable door and the stall door. The pony opened the stall door and stable door, sauntered leisurely about, and finally went out on Sixth street to view the sights and was especially attracted by the operation of the street cars. To see how the old things worked, he got in front of an approaching car and was taking in the method of propulsion so intently that he would not leave the track. The motorman was finally compelled to get out and oust him from the track. This was about the time the doctor found his charge. The pony looked quite sheepish when he was taken to the stable. The doctor says he can open almost any fastening and he has to watch him constantly for fear he will get out and be arrested for his numerous pranks.

A long distance fight, the sort for which East Liverpool is noted, occurred the other evening on Fourth street, near the alley leading up past the Presbyterian church. The participants are not known, but their peculiar way of scrapping was witnessed by a large crowd. They started when ten feet apart, and during the entire squabble never got closer together. One would call the other a vile name, and to it a similar name would be responded. This was continued until the heated and much angered men lost their power of speech.

The spectattors say the most comical part of the occurrence was when one of the men would start toward the other a short distance. As he would soon get tired and turn on his follower, the latter would immediately begin to retreat.

ENCAMPMENT ENDS TODAY.

Pennsylvania Guard May Be Away Tomorrow Afternoon—Review Yesterday—Root Expected Today.

Gettysburg, July 18.—Yesterday was "Governor's day" at Camp Meade, and it passed into history as the most successful in the annals of national guard encampments in this state. Nearly 10,000 soldiers passed in review of the commander-in-chief on the very ground where Pickett made his famous charge 39 years ago. The review took place at 5 p. m.

The troops were arranged in two long lines. In the first line were the Third and Second brigades, and the second line was composed of the First brigade, the Fourth corps of cavalry and the three batteries of artillery. The two troops of cavalry and the field battery of artillery of the United States army also participated in the review. Before the march began Governor Stone and staff rode along the line, the trip taking nearly an hour. After this the governor and his staff returned to the center of the field and the march began.

Adjutant General Stewart rode a horse for the first time yesterday since the accident to his leg last year. The homeward movement of the troops will begin this afternoon, and it is expected they will all be gone at 3 p. m. Saturday. Secretary of War Root and a number of United States army officials will visit the camp today.

MONUMENT TO CONFEDERATES.

One Dedicated on Valley Mountain, Near Elkins, W. Va.—Bishop Peterkin Orator.

Elkins, W. Va., July 18.—A Confederate veterans' monument was dedicated yesterday on top of Valley mountain, near here, in memory of southern soldiers who fell at the lonely spot. There was an immense parade, several thousand people being present. The money for the monument was raised chiefly by a number of wealthy English residents of Mingo Flats, W. Va. Bishop Peterkin, of the Episcopal diocese of West Virginia, was the orator of the day.

During the Civil War a half dozen or so of Confederates were killed in the skirmishes there and were buried in a lonely spot on top of the mountain, far away from any human habitation. The monument is not an imposing marble shaft, but is a plain slab of native West Virginia stone, nicely engraved and finished by an old Confederate veteran of Randolph county.

GOLD FOUND IN OHIO.

Discovered In Putting Down a Test Oil and Gas Well at Mt. Vernon, O.

Abraham Bashear, the leader of an Assyrian colony at Smithton, Pa., and whose home was burned recently, caused the arrest of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Dumal, on the charge of arson.

While in a crowded car at Cascade park, near New Castle, Pa., J. P. Carlisle, of Allegheny, was robbed of $50 and a check for $17. John Gray, alias Samuel Ross, and William Raney were arrested on suspicion.

John Gohn, a Somerset county, Pa. farmer, was swindled out of $550 by two men with an electric belt scheme. One of them proposed that Gohn take the county agency for the belts and deposit $550 in the hands of Judge Barker at Cambria county. Gohn agreed and gave the money to the second sharper, who impersonated the judge.

The ENGLISH SUCCESSION

YEARS ago when Prince Albert, eldest son of the then Prince of Wales, was a fine, stalwart young fellow, apparently destined to live the allotted years of man, the younger son, George, was not a leading figure in the affairs of the British empire. The chances of his ever succeeding to the throne were considered very remote, for the elder son was just at the marrying age—was, in fact, engaged to be married—and the line of succession would, it seemed, be certainly continued through him. But his untimely death made the second son the heir to the throne on the death of his father, and the "sailor prince," who had been of secondary importance, suddenly acquired a new dignity in the eyes of his countrymen.

George Frederick Ernest Albert, who is next in line of succession as monarch of Great Britain, is the second son of King Edward VII. and Queen Alexandra. His elder brother, Prince Albert Victor, died Jan. 14, 1892, leaving this young man in direct succession to the throne of England.

George was born just thirty-seven years ago and is a healthy and good looking man. While he has, since his marriage in 1893 at least, led a life entirely free from anything that savored either of folly or worse, he was from his early childhood a most mischievous boy. It was for this reason, it is said, that his father decided to send him to sea.

This royal scion was the "enfant terrible" of the family. He was much given to pranks and jokes and was always active and energetic. On his entrance into the royal navy, with his elder brother, the royal cadet was placed in the lowest class and had to work his way up like his fellow students. He took his turn in the work aboard ship without favor or privilege.

This method of training led to that love for the sea and the sailor's profession which has lasted throughout his career. It also served to inculcate that spirit of democracy and simple taste in dress and manner for which he is noted.

His life at sea also developed a good natured and convivial spirit. As a young tar he was pugnacious and liked to fight with his fists, and he did not disdain a glass of grog. In England he has always been known as "the sailor prince."

His years of strict naval discipline, however, undoubtedly had the effect of toning him down, and today the grave, quiet young man would hardly be recognized as the same sailor prince whose love of pranks and practical jokes endeared him to his people. He is still a good sportsman in the best sense of the word.

Prince George was promoted to be sublieutenant in 1884, when he joined her majesty's steamer Canada on the North American station, and in October of the following year, after passing his examinations with great credit, he became a lieutenant. In 1889 he received his first command, a torpedo boat, and the next year commanded a gunboat on the north Atlantic station. His latest command afloat was in 1898, when he visited many seaports in England and Ireland.

Prince George was created Duke of York, Earl of Inverness and Baron Killarney in 1892, in which year he became heir to the throne by the death of his elder brother. He was promoted to captain in the royal navy in January, 1893, and in the following May his engagement to Princess Victoria Mary, who had been affianced to the Duke of Clarence, was publicly announced, and the marriage was celebrated on July 6.

Last year, accompanied by the Princess Mary, he made a tour of the British dominions and arrived in Canada at the time of the death of President McKinley. On his return to England he was created Prince of Wales and Earl of Chester.

In appearance King Edward's successor has nothing distinctively British about him. His beard and mustache are almost red, and his hair is dark brown. He is about 5 feet 9 inches in height and weighs about 150 pounds.

As Prince George he married Princess Victoria Mary of Teck, popularly known as Princess May, on July 6, 1893. The princess is the granddaughter of the first Duke of Cambridge, Queen Victoria's uncle, and is therefore related by blood, though not closely, to her royal husband. Her mother married the Duke of Teck, and the Princess May was born in Kensington palace on May 26, 1867. Her girlhood was spent like that of any other young woman of noble birth, but owing to her close relations with her second cousin, the late Queen Victoria, with whom she was a prime favorite, she has always been popular.

Of the four children of the royal pair Prince Edward Albert, the eldest, will be king of England some day if he lives. He was born on June 23, 1894, and today is a healthy, well grown, sturdy boy of eight, whose childhood has been spent mostly out of doors with his brothers and sisters, the Princes Albert and Henry William Frederick Albert and the Princess Victoria Alexandra. Upon his father's accession to the throne this youngster becomes by right of birth Duke of Cornwall and York, and his father may at any time make him Prince of Wales also, for that title is not hereditary, although it can be held only by the eldest living son of the reigning monarch. The revenues of the duchy of Cornwall, which this little fellow will inherit, amount to over $400,000 a year.

The first official announcement of the death of a British sovereign is that which is made to the successor of the throne by the lord chamberlain, who at the same time acquaints the new ruler with the fact of his succession.

At the earliest possible moment the privy council convenes, and members of that body resign and are immediately reappointed and resworn. At their first meeting as advisers of the new sovereign the members of the cabinet formally give up their seals of office, whereupon they also are resworn to their respective departments. Both houses of parliament meet, and the announcement of the death of the sovereign and the accession of his or her successor is followed by each member of both houses, beginning with the royal dukes in the house of lords, taking the oath of allegiance to the new ruler.

YALE HONORS RILEY.

Degree of Master of Arts Conferred on Hoosier Poet.

Colleges this year seem to have paid more than usual attention to men who have made their marks in the field of popular literature, the literature that appeals to the great mass of people through the heart. Yale at its recent commencement conferred the degree of master of arts on James Whitcomb Riley, the Hoosier poet; Clyde Fitch, author and dramatist, was honored in the same way by Amherst, and several editors and writers were also recipients of honorary degrees from the great seats of learning.

James Whitcomb Riley is probably the most popular dialect poet of the country. His verse, sweet, gentle and easy flowing, has in it an element of infinite tenderness, a winning appeal to the homely and human side.

While much of Mr. Riley's verse is in western dialect, he can on occasion turn out extremely polished lines. Whatever the form, however, his verse is marked by a keen insight into human nature, a thorough appreciation of the homely side of life and frequently by deep pathos.

James Whitcomb Riley first saw the light of day at Greenfield, Ind., in 1853, and in that rugged little town the future poet learned about apple blossoms, running brooks, clover "knee deep" and other things in nature that he has written about so entertainingly. Riley's father was a country lawyer, and he tried to make a lawyer out of Jim, as he was called. Jim, according to tradition, was bright, but somewhat disinclined to exert himself, and law did not appeal to him in the least. He liked to write, however, and his homely verse began to appear in various newspapers in his native state.

Soon it began to be recognized that a real poet had arisen. Riley's reputation spread, and it was not long before his poems began to appear in the big eastern magazines. He has been a prolific writer, having published several volumes of verse and sketches.

Mr. Riley's prose is not to be compared in importance to his fame with his verse, but his sketches and stories are always entertaining and always well told. His work—dialect, serious verse and prose—is all of a piece. He is the poet of American life, the poet of the heart.

Mr. Riley has also been much in demand as an entertainer on the platform. At one time he made a tour of the country with Bill Nye, the humorist. Mr. Riley is a bachelor and lives in Indianapolis.

More than usual interest is being manifested in the new English embassador to Washington, Mr. Michael Henry Herbert, because of the fact that his wife is an American. Embassador and Mrs. Herbert will not arrive in this country for several weeks, probably not before fall.

Mrs. Herbert was Miss Leila Wilson, daughter of Richard T. Wilson of New York. The Wilsons are closely related to the Vanderbilts, Astors and the Ogden Goelets.

Mrs. Herbert is the second American lady to achieve the rank of embassadress in Washington. Miss Elverson of Philadelphia was married to M. Jules Patenotre, formerly French embassador at the national capital.

Mrs. Herbert, having already lived in Washington and won a large circle of distinguished friends, will be a brilliant addition to the high society of the American capital.

CHESTER COUNCIL

IMPORTANT QUESTIONS DEBATED BY THAT BODY.

Tax Levy to Be Same as Last Year. Grade Question Much Discussed.

Chester council tackled several important questions last night. Solicitor O. S. Marshall and councilman Johnston were the only absentees.

It developed previous to the meeting that the tax levy under the present proposed bond issue would amount to the same as last year, which was 40 cents on $100 and 20 cents road tax. The property owners would therefore be paying the same rate as last year.

Mr. Riley made no report from the property committee.

Health Officer Allison said he had seen Mr. Steadman about the pig pen and the gentleman would abate it.

The other nuisances had not yet been satisfactorily abated.

Mr. Riley, as chairman of the street committee, said that regarding the low grade on First street and First to Second street and property of Mr. Shrader were damaged he thought the street car line should attend to the matter of the grade. Damage suits had been threatened. Mayor Shrader thought the grade too low.

Mr. Wetzel said that Mr. Finley had said First street was on the proper grade.

Mr. Huff said that the street railway company had been instructed to put its line on the property grade, and it was too late to kick now. Mr. Wells thought the street should be viewed and the matter adjusted. Mr. Wetze. stated that Engineer Boyd had said that the grade was too low. He was in favor of getting a disinterested man to run the lines of the grade. He thought the grade lines of Engineer Boyd should be investigated and the exact depth of the grade be found.

Mr. Maxwell, of the street railway, asked if it was to be cut on towards the river. They could remedy it before tracks were laid.

Mr. Riley said he understood that the lower grade ran from Riley's news stand to the river, and from near that point to First street, giving fall enough to take the water both ways.

Mr. Maxwell said if the grade was three inches to the foot, it was wrong; the street railway people were desirous of following the exact grade.

Mr. Huff moved that the street railway company meet at the point with the engineer this morning and view the street. Carried.

Street Commissioner Severs reported that he was ready to file his bond, but the solicitor not being present the council could not accept it.

Mr. Wells reported a couple more frog ponds on private property and near the street on Carolina avenue between Fifth and Sixth. The property owners had been notified to remedy the matter, but it had not been done. The owners of the property reside at Irondale and Toronto.

Mr. Riley thought it about time for the mayor and chief to make their reports.

Mr. Mercer thought they should be made about August 1, the end of the first six months. Mr. Riley thought they should be made every month.

Mr. Huff wanted something done to keep teamsters from driving on sidewalks all over town. An ordinance existed, but was not enforced.

Mayor Shrader thought teams should have some place to pass along; matters would be better after paving.

Mr. Mercer said if a man's property was damaged he could make complaint and get redress. A fine of $5 existed.

Council adjourned.

New Superintendent.

It is reliably stated that James McKinnon, the oldest motorman in East Liverpool, will be the new superintendent of the Rock Springs street railway, and will shortly assume his duties.

Excursionists Arrested.

Two of the Pittsburg excursionists Charles Gray and Peter Devitt, were arrested by Officers Elliott and Hassey yesterday afternoon for intoxication and paid $3.90 each for their fun. Officer Elliott put another excursionist out of the park grounds last evening for drunkenness, and during the process his sweetheart kept up a constant screaming, attracting a large crowd to the scene, near the stairs.

Possible Mad Dog Victim.

A valuable horse, worth $150, belonging to William Allison, of Fairview street, died yesterday. The animal Mr Allison thinks was bitten by a mad dog some time ago. Dr. McFarland of East Liverpool, did all in his power to save the animal, but could not. The supposed mad dog certainly bit the horse. A number of persons chased it; but it escaped. It is feared other animals were bitten.

Postal Agent in Town.

A government rural route agent was in Chester yesterday in conference with Postmaster Rose in regard to the new messenger service. Rural free delivery was not considered, although the matter has been talked over a number of times. Such a service is badly needed by the rural residents in this vicinity.

Has Left His Home.

James Gibson, who was fined by 'Squire Johnston last week for abusing his wife, has disappeared, and it is alleged deserted his family. His mother has arrived from McDonald, Pa., but can give no information as to his whereabouts. Gibson's family live on Fairview street.

Mill Force Enlarged.

The workmen at the Chester mill suffered severely from heat yesterday, but none were overcome. New men are constantly being added to the mill force. Every department is running to its fullest capacity.

Trainload of Picnickers.

The Mt. Washington M. E. Sunday school, of Pittsburg, came in over the branch by special train this morning, occupying 10 coaches. They are having a fine time.

CHESTER NOTES.

The Steubenville Sand company, of Brownsdale, has moved its equipment to Brilliant, where it is running a large sand business.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Allen left by the steamer Greenwood for their home at St. Albans, W. Va., after a visit with Mrs. C. F. Paulley, First street. The daughter, Miss Lillie, will remain a few days.

Silas Mercer has purchased the Edwards property on Indiana avenue. Mr. Mercer has opened a wall paper store in East Liverpool.

There is a fishing job on the Ferguson well at the top of sand. The Gailey well on the Dawson farm, is a duster. These are at Ohioville.

Rev. Herbert M. Carnahan was called to Williamstown, W. Va., by the serious illness of his mother, who is suffering from a paralytic stroke.

J. S. Paulley is not a watchman on the bridge, but general manager for the bridge company. Mr. Paulley is also a duly authorized United States marshal.

William Hocking, manager of the toboggan, has brought his wife and family from Pittsburg for a two weeks' outing. They are stopping with Mrs. Riley, of Carolina avenue.

The street committee of council viewed the First street grade this morning, and decied to ask Mr. Thompson to raise his curbing on Virginia avenue, as they find the grade cannot be raised on this street.

Charles Hanlon, a roller, formerly of Irondale, purchased a residence from the Chester Rolling Mill Land company on Railroad street; price, $1,900. The company is having its new houses painted and improved for the big sale on Thursday, July 24.

NO CONFERENCE HELD

STATE OFFICIALS DID NOT MEET THE GOVERNOR.

Council on Code Bill Failed to Materialize—Revision of School Laws Wanted.

Columbus, July 18.—(Special)—The municipal code conference which was to have been held at Camp McKinley yesterday did not come off. The governor sat in his tent all day waiting for the state officials, but they had other business to demand their attention. Secretary Laylin was overwhelmed with public duties, Attorney General Sheets went to the lakes to join his family; State Auditor Guilbert had a business trip to make and Commissioner Bonebrake is working on a coke of his own. Assistant Attorney General Todd was the only state official who went to Newark unless Smith Bennett and Wade Ellis, who are drafting the code at Detroit, went there from their summer hotel.

Commissioner Bonebrake thinks that the school laws should be remodeled and codified and he wants it done right away. He had his whole office force at work yesterday drafting some Bonebrake ideas into a code for the government of all schools. He will have it introduced at the extra session, probably Representative Seese, of Summit county, chairman of the committee on common schools and a candidate for state school commissioner.

NEWS FROM CAMP

The Boys at Port Huron Having a Fine Time and Good Fishing.

J. E. McDevitt and James Johnson arrived yesterday from Port Huron, Mich., where they have been with the Gilt Edge Camping club. The boys are all well and enjoying camp life. Fish are plentiful and they are catching their share. They have a fine place to camp, at the mouth of the St. Clair river on the LaSalle beach.

This is their first year out. They are under good management. J. Helley is treasurer and Charles Pomeroy captain. It is the liveliest little camp in the country. They thank Chief Thompson for getting them such a pleasant place to go. They expect to break camp between July 24 and 28.

PIPE FELL ON HIM

An Italian's Hand And Fingers Mashed to a Pulp.

Joseph Pizzani, a laborer employed at the Wallace Sewer Pipe works, is carrying his arm in a sling as the result of an accident which occurred yesterday while he was at work. He had piled a row of pipe into the air and when not watching they all tumbled down, one of them crushing his fingers and hand into a pulp.

Suffering excruciating pain he was removed to the office of a physician who dressed the wound. While undergoing treatment he sank into unconsciousness as a result of the pain, but soon revived.

RIDING TO HOUNDS

SPORT FASHIONABLE IN WASHINGTON SOCIETY.

Social Influence of President Roosevelt's Family at the National Capital—Has Made Horseback Riding Popular—The Chevy Chase Club.

There is no mistaking the fact that the Roosevelts are the head and center of the social world at the national capital. Not in many years has there been a family in the White House that has been so completely the arbiter of fashion at the national capital.

This is especially noticeable in the popularity of riding. Nearly every member of the president's family is an enthusiast in this exercise, and so popular have they made it at Washington that any one who wishes to be considered at all in the swim must be seen on horseback. Just now, of course, Washington is almost deserted, but during the season cavalcades of young people gallop along the country roads in the neighborhood of the capital whenever the weather permits, and a fad for fox hunting and other rougher equestrian exercises is expected to capture society in the fall.

All this has given a special boom to the Chevy Chase Hunt club, which includes in its membership practically all of the rich or otherwise important people in Washington.

Several United States senators are members of the club. Lieutenant General Miles and Adjutant General Corbin belong to it, and Thomas Nelson Page is prominently connected with the organization. One-third of its membership is composed of ladies, whose participation in the amusements, including the hunting, makes them additionally attractive. Mrs. Miles and Mrs. Corbin both belong as a matter of course, the rule being that the admission of a man extends to his wife and daughters, if he has any, all the privileges of the club.

The club has a fine pack of foxhounds, but the chase is restricted to the aniseed bag, which, while surer and less troublesome than the fox, is almost equally amusing as a quarry. There are plenty of foxes in Maryland, and across the river in Virginia are to be found numerous descendants of the wily old fellows hunted by George

MISS RUTH HANNA.

Washington in his day, but the fashionable huntsmen and huntswomen would have to go too far to look for them, and so they content themselves with the aniseed bag.

Among the most daring women riders of the younger set is Miss Ruth Hanna, daughter of the junior senator from Ohio. Miss Hanna is a thorough sportswoman and is credited with having an abundance of nerve.

Senator Hanna plans to visit his game preserve at Melrose plantation, in Georgia, as soon as congress adjourns. With him will go Miss Ruth, who is already the heroine of an adventure with a wildcat. Three years ago, then a schoolgirl, Miss Ruth joined in a coon hunt, but instead of a coon she treed and shot a wildcat. At least that is how the story is told.

The home of the Chevy Chase Hunt club at Washington is the old Bradley estate, formerly one of the famous country places near Washington. It is about eight miles from the White House.

When first organized, the club consisted merely of a few riding men. Later they bought a pack of hounds, and from that time on it grew rapidly. Though at first it was purely and simply a hunting organization, to which only riding men belonged, it gradually assumed a broader development, and today a good deal of the attention of its members is devoted to golf. The links are not surpassed anywhere in the United States, and there are superb tennis courts.

Naturally the admission of women worked a notable change in the management and policy of the club. Many dinner parties are given there, and once a year there is a so called hunt ball at which the men wear pink coats with swallowtails and black facings, black and red being the colors of the club.

Among the ladies who belong to the club and who are numbered among the best riders are Mrs. H. Chatfield Chatfield-Taylor, famous for her skill at golf, and the daughter of Senator Mason, who rides astride. Pretty Miss Langhorne is also a member.

The father of the family had stepped into a bookstore to buy a birthday present for his fourteen-year-old son. "What kind of book would you like?" asked the salesman to whom he had confided his purpose.

"Something that would be useful for the boy," was his reply.

"Well, here is a very good one on 'Self Help.'"

"Self help!" exclaimed the father. "Ben don't need anything of that kind. You'd ought to see him at the dinner table!"

Vanilla For Mental Weakness.

Vanilla is one of the most powerful restoratives known in cases of weakened vitality, when a large dose is given. South America in general shows a much slighter tendency to madness than any of the countries which may be called civilized. Statistical authorities attribute this fact to the ignorance and thoughtlessness of the population, but they themselves give the credit to vanilla. At the first sign of mental disturbance they ply the sufferer there with.

The Way to Catch a Porcupine.

The porcupine climbs the tree as readily as a squirrel would, provided you don't slip up and cut his tail off while he is going up. Somehow or other he can't climb the tree without his tail, and he won't come down without it. If you catch one of these porcupines climbing a tree and chop his tail off, he will stop right where he is and will stay there until he starves to death unless he is taken away.

Brief Notes of a Personal Nature and of Matters About Town.

Labor Day Music—Manley's band has been engaged by Trades Council to play on Labor day.

Cut Its Hand Badly—A little child of John Langenbacher, of Jackson street, while playing in the yard yesterday very severely cut its hand with glass.

Sewer Extension—A continuation of the Tan Yard sewer is being built through Mrs. Morris' property to connect with the culverts under Walnut street.

Thumb Badly Hurt—Russell Heddleston is nursing an injured thumb on his right hand. It was struck by a base ball while he was engaged in the national sport.

Candidate Kennedy Here—Attorney James Kennedy, Mahoning county's candidate for congress, was in the city yesterday, accompanied by his cousin, Judge James B. Kennedy, visiting prominent Republicans.

Belmont Club Dance—The Belmont club members and their girl friends danced at Columbian park last evening. The dance, which was quite informal, was much enjoyed. McGraw's orchestra furnished the music.

Pleasantly Entertained—Miss Leona Jennings and Miss Edna Kaercher very pleasantly entertained a number of friends last evening at the home of the former on Robinson street. A trolley ride occupied the first part of the evening. Upon their return the company was entertained with music and games. Refreshments were served at a late hour.

Hay Ride to Smith's Ferry—A hay ride to Smith's Ferry was greatly enjoyed last evening by a number of young people from this city. From the zest with which the company blew their tin horns one might have imagined the campaign of '96 was again in progress. Upon reaching their destination the young people took supper at the hotel and after viewing the sights of the town returned home at an early hour.

GRAND AUCTION SALE

WITH FREE PRIZE LOTS

The Chester Rolling Mill Company and the South Side Land Company who own 90 per cent. of the desirable property

IN CHESTER, W. VA.

THURSDAY, JULY 24,

Beginning at 10 a. m. and 2 p. m.

When A Man Invests IN A LOT OR IN A HOME

He wants to feel reasonably sure that he is doing so where he has a reasonable chance of receiving fair returns for his money.

WHAT ARE THE CHANCES IN CHESTER, W. VA.?

A little over two years ago there was no such a town on the map. Today it is one of the busiest little cities in the great Ohio valley, with a population of 3,000 and growing at a rapid rate. In its location and its sorroundings, its present condition and future prospects it has the making of a great and prosperous city. Some of those who invested in Chester property at the start have realized as high as 100 per cent. on their money. These profits have not been the result of years of waiting, but of merely a few months.

Investigate For Yourself.

You will find that Chester is situated in almost the northern point of the Panhandle of West Virginia. It is reached by a branch of the Panhandle rail road, connecting with the main line at New Cumberland Junction some 18 miles southward. This line is shortly to be extended up the Ohio river to a connection with the main line of the Ft. Wayne Railroad and the great Pennsyivania system, reaching Pittsburg and the great eastern centers.

What are the Advantages?

A FEW OF THEM ARE LEVEL, STREETS PAVED, SEWERED AND ADORNED WITH FLAGSTONE SIDEWALKS, SEWERAGE AND BEAUTIFUL SHADE TREES; A SYSTEM OF WATER WORKS WHICH FURNISHES PURE, FILTERED WATER, ADEQUATE TO THE NEEDS OF ALL POLICE AND FIRE PROTECTION; A DOUBLE TRACK STREET RAILWAY WHICH IS EQUAL TO ANY IN THE COUNTRY. NATURAL GAS, CHEAP AND ABUNDANT. MANUFACTURING PLANTS:— A MODEL TIN PLATE MILL, FURNISHING EMPLOYMENT TO 800 PERSONS; TWO LARGE POTTERIES, EMPLOYING MORE THAN 400 PERSONS EACH, WITH OTHER INDUSTRIES ABOUT TO BE ESTABLISHED.

In addition there are good stores and all the minor industries of a prosperous city. There are also goodschools good churshes and good society. The scenery is unmatched for attractiveness in all the Ohio valley. Thousands of persons flock to the neighboring pleasure resort, the Famous Rock Springs Park, daily during the summer and strangers invariably go away voting it one of the pleasantest spots along the river.

Better Opportunities

Are presented for the realization of profits. Why? Land is still cheap, compared with the prices charged in other towns of the same size. Chester is not a boom town. It's growth, although rapid, has been substantial and along conservative lines. It is both a manufacturing town and a city of homes. Hundreds of new houses were erected last season; the same record will be repeated this year, probably on a greater scale.

THE CITY OF EAST LIVERPOOL!

The great pottery manufacturing center, with 20,000 inhabitants and growing faster than any other town in all the Ohio Valley, is directly opposite Chester, and connected with it by a new iron bridge which is crossed by street cars, vehicles of all sorts and by pedestrians. The center of East Liverpool, O., is less than a mile away and hundreds of persons who work or have business in East Liverpool find Chester a more agreeable place for residence. Taxes are not high, and the advantages are all that could be asked. None of these statements are overdrawn. Some of the most desirable property in this thrifty and beautiful spot is shortly to be sold at auction. There will be bargains for those who seek them. At sales of this character no one can have an advantage. Lots will be sold to the highest bidders; those who buy will know what they are getting and if they see no bargain in the property offered they are not asked or expected to bid. We do not desire to have customers unless they are satisfied.

A Fortune Is Not Needed

to enable you to have a share in the advantages and the profits. You can start with a few dollars now and you will not need to wait long to double your money.

CHOICE LOTS FREE

with every 100 lots sold, one lot will be given away absolutely free, to some one person among those who have made purchases of one or more of the lots at this sale. One purchaser stands as good a chance as an other of securing this prize, it matters not whether he has purchased one lot or ten. A committee of reputable citizens will be selected and they will decide to whom the prize lots shall fall.

Choice New Property

will be offered at the coming sale—not lots which have been hawked about, vainly seeking a purchaser. There are over 800 of these lots which are now offered for the first time; everyone of them desirable either as residence property or as a location for business.

Remember the Date of this

Beginning at 10 a. m. and 2 p. m.

The undersigned invite friends from all this section to come and be their guests on that date. Come and see what we have, then you can decide whether you care to invest. Depend upon it, there is money in Chester property and if you become an invester you will be satisfied with the returns.

THERE is always more or less enjoyment in seeing others made happy. In case you do not see your way is clear to become a buyer get a trolley ticket and come over to the sale anyway, listen to the good music which we shall furnish. Regale yourself with the refreshments served and see your neighbor made happy in his new possessions. But after all the terms of this sale are so easy, a deposit only of $10 on each lot at time of purchase. That there is not one thrifty person in all of this section who will not become an owner of some portion of this excellent property. MOVING IN SCOTLAND

One Day In Each Year When Furniture Vans and Chaos Reign Supreme—An Odd System, Built Up on the Caution of the Landlords.

In Scotland May 28 is annually given over to a perfect carnival of "flitting."

In England houses of the higher rents are taken by the year at any quarter day and the lower rented ones by the month or even by the week. The flitting is thus spread over the year, and no confusion arises. The Scottish system is to let houses by the year from May 28. Even the smallest, consisting of only one room, are so let. On the great day in any large town the sights afforded range from the laughable to the pathetic.

As soon as it is daylight the vans previously "trysted" begin their work; the goods are loaded up with more haste than care and to the accompaniment of the good housewife's lamentations as some cherished household god is roughly flung into the van.

Arrived at the destination, further troubles are in store. Perhaps the new house is not yet vacated, and, as the van is required for other removals, the goods are dumped down in the street, and there the poor family is left stranded for the time. Occasionally some streets—in Glasgow, for instance—present an appearance of wholesale evictions.

So numerous are the demands that vans cannot always be obtained, and every kind of vehicle, including horseless carriages, popularly known as "hurleys," are pressed into the service, supplemented by father, mother and the children, each carrying pictures, mirrors or other cherished articles too precious to trust to the tender mercies of some ramshackle conveyance.

These processions are moving along all day. The representative of law and order, upon this day at least, is very lenient, his gruff "Move on!" is less in evidence, and his ready notebook gets a rest. There are no "cases" of obstruction reported, although often loaded vans have to remain in a street all night.

It may be that the "policsman" grasps the humors of the situation, or perhaps a fellow feeling influences him. No doubt his own flitting is in progress, and he retires off duty to some strange abode, there to assist in carrying in his goods, to sup off a crust of bread and cheese and sleep on the floor, as others have to do.

A stranger naturally inquires the cause of this one day given over to chaos. It is to be found in the caution of the Scottish landlord. It is difficult to obtain a house at any other time than the lawful removal day, and the canny house owner has prudently secured his rent a fortnight previously—May 15.

"Moonlight" flittings are thus practically unknown, and there is little loss of rent from that cause. The rents being payable half yearly only, the cost of collection is reduced, as is the risk of loss, to a minimum. The system entails great hardship to workingmen compelled to change the scene of their labors. They frequently cannot obtain a house until term day and have consequently to take lodgings and support their family in another town.

If fortunate enough to obtain a house, the landlord steps in and requires his full year's rent to be paid or deposited in bank before he allows the goods to be removed. The unfortunate head of a household is also responsible for the full year's rates of his "new" house, although he may have paid in full at his vacated house.

The only advantage to the tenant is security of tenure for twelve months and the certainty of being accommodated at the expiry in the general scramble. Of course it happens sometimes, through new houses being erected, that some one is able to start the ball rolling a day or two before term, to the comfort of all involved in the particular circuit; but, generally speaking, May term day in Scotland is not an institution to be admired and copied.

Strange to say, Sandy not only takes this day philosophically, but is much more addicted to "flitting" than people south of the Tweed, some families moving regularly every year without any apparent necessity. One would scarcely expect the worry and discomfort of the day and succeeding temporary chaos to be voluntarily undertaken, but the fact is so.

The continuance of the system itself is a standing monument to the British long suffering and law abiding nature.—Pearson's Weekly.

The widest possible publicity should be given to the fact that summer diarrhoea in children and cholera infantum can always be cured by the judicious use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It never fails. When reduced with cold water and sweetened it is pleasant to take, which is very important when a medicine must be given to small children. For sale by Alvin H. Bulger.

SNUFF TAKING REVIVAL.

King Edward Said to Be Responsible For Society's Latest Fad.

The revival of the ancient custom of snuff taking is said to have been brought about by King Edward VII., who carries a box of the pungent powder and takes a pinch after his meals. The king's example is being followed by fashionable London, and the fad is due to reach this country shortly.

Following the English fashion, the jewelers on this side of the water are already showing beautiful snuffboxes, both ancient and modern. At Tiffany's, the famous New York jewelry house, a collection of jeweled snuffboxes has lately been put on exhibition. Notable in this collection is the jeweled snuffbox presented by the German emperor to Rear Admiral Kirkland of the United States navy and which is said to have cost $5,000.

The box was given to Admiral Kirkland when he represented this country at the opening of the Kiel canal. It is of large size and made of gold worked into a beautiful and intricate design by Zehngraf, the artist. On the cover is a miniature of the emperor, surrounded by a frame composed of twenty-nine diamonds. On each side of the ellipse are three larger gems.

It is interesting to note the steps by which snuff taking first rose to fashion. Given to King Charles of France by a leading diplomatist, Nicot (whence nicotine), it finally came within reach of the multitude and from first to last has played an important part in the world's history.

Catherine de' Medici is said to have been the first woman to take snuff. Gibbon, the historian, was an inveterate taker of snuff. Frederick the Great took it by handfuls and had all his pockets made of leather and without corners so that they served as snuff pouches.

Napoleon I. was another great snuff taker, or, rather, snuff waster, as history relates that he spilled most of it over his clothes, little of it reaching his nose. Von Moltke during the three weeks' siege ending with the battle of Sedan is said to have used a pound of snuff.

In this country snuff manufacturing is a large industry. In 1899 18,000,000 pounds were manufactured, and the average for several years has been 14,000,000 pounds. So there is plenty of snuff in the United States. Who takes it? Few nonsnuffers know any snuff takers, but that is due perhaps to the fact that they are without the circle.

Spinning an Egg.

One of Lord Kelvin's favorite experiments while teaching natural philosophy at the University of Glasgow was to spin an egg which was suspended in the air. If the egg were hard boiled, it would spin a long time; otherwise, owing to the friction between its contents and the shell, its motion would soon cease. Lord Kelvin inferred from this that the interior of the earth cannot be a fluid, or the globe's rate of rotation would have been checked long ago. Once the students substituted raw eggs for the hard boiled ones provided for the experiment. Not one would spin properly, but Lord Kelvin was not to be fooled. "None of them boiled," was his only comment.

The first bell of the grand circuit will tap at Detroit July 14, and the light harness game will be set merrily going, not to stop until the last big meeting of the year closes the season at Memphis late in October.

On the second day of the Detroit blue ribbon meeting the classic M. and M. stakes of $10,000 will be decided, the starters for which were recently named. Eighteen horses are eligible to start, and it is more than probable that a big field will line up for the word. The only eligibles from New York are Edgar Bronk's black mare Princess Derby, by Charles Derby, and Harry Dykeman's bay mare Kozy, by John G. Carlisle.

Thomas W. Lawson's representative is Juntorio, bay mare by Alturo—Jennie Benton. She has been showing enough speed to be named as a starter. Ted, a black gelding, with a record of 2:24¼, by Norval—Love Knot, named by W. H. Potter, is a Michigan candidate and will undoubtedly start.

A Browning Anecdote.

In the Cornhill Magazine, in an interesting paper entitled "On a Few Conversationalists," the writer tells an amusing story of Browning and how he received certain flowers from a lady, who, on being pressed to give their English names, shyly confessed they were called "bloody noses." I happened many years ago to be staying in a country house when Browning told this story in his inimitable way, and he ended with the following lines, which I then and there committed to memory, and which will, I think, interest your readers:

I'll deck my love with posies,
I'll cover her with roses;
Should she protest
I'll do my best
To give her bloody noses.

THE MAN OF THE HOUR

LORD KITCHENER THE MILITARY IDOL OF GREAT BRITAIN.

Likely to Become Commander In Chief of the Army—John Bull Feels That the War Office Needs Shaking Up—Task Too Much For Roberts.

With the return of Lord Kitchener to England as the conqueror of the Boers he becomes the man of the hour throughout the British empire. Indeed there are many who think that Herbert Kitchener is the strongest and most prominent man in all the British dominions. Mixed with the hurrah of the populace over his return there is an element of dread in the British war office. The dry bones there fear a shaking up if Kitchener is made commander in chief, and this is extremely likely to happen.

The dread of him felt by the military organization is due to the refusal of Lord Kitchener to allow any political or partisan consideration to affect him in any military problem he may have to solve. Men of this type are not acceptable to the governing class in Britain. Mr. Chamberlain in the civilian and Lord Kitchener in the military arena are the most conspicuous illustrations. Both reach their ends by methods quite alarming to bureaucracy and the red tape regime.

On top of a campaign that was brought to a close by sheer hard grinding, without anything spectacular and without much help from luck, he got a sudden piece of good fortune that came in the guise of a grievance.

Instead of the grant of $500,000 that everybody expected he was going to get, parliament was invited to appropriate only half that sum for him, although Lord Roberts had received $500,000. Instead of the earldom bestowed on Lord Roberts, Kitchener got only a beggarly viscounty.

All of which was one of the best bits of luck this extraordinary man ever had, because for once the taxpayer actually objected to the smallness of the grant, and the public had a feeling that it was still under a considerable obligation. In consequence Lord Kitchener returns to England more of a hero if possible than he otherwise would have been.

This man, who in six years has risen more rapidly in the British army than any one ever did before except Wellington, seems likely to be an active storm center in the immediate future. It has been said repeatedly in parliament that the reason he received just half the reward given to Lord Roberts was that the nation had some big work cut out for him to do and wanted to save some prizes for him to try for. It comes pretty straight from parliamentary lobbies that the "big work" is nothing less than a job that proved too much for Kitchener's predecessors as national military idols, Lord Wolseley and Earl Roberts.

Here at last is the man, all England believes, who can clean out the war office regardless of the personal considerations that have proved an insurmountable obstacle to Wolseley and Roberts, a man who can knock the heads of fussy civilian officials together without compunction and who doesn't care a rap how many society ladies are offended by rough treatment for their proteges.

There is no doubt that it is the wish of the king and his cabinet to make the Duke of Connaught, the king's only brother, commander in chief of the army on the retirement of Lord Roberts, whose resignation is expected to come any day.

Kitchener, it is understood, is slated for the post of commander in chief of the forces in India. But the public has to be reckoned with. If the powers that be think that John Bull will stand it, the royal duke will be made commander in chief. If, on the other hand, the temper of the public demands Lord Kitchener, into the war office he will go forthwith.

That Kitchener would be an ideal man at the war office is freely admitted by those who have not always appreciated his methods of warfare. Even those who described him as "the butcher of Omdurman" see in him the only possible man for commander in chief, for he combines three great essential qualities—he has proved himself to be a soldier, a statesman and a business man—and if he were put in control of the war office he would turn the place inside out.

Coeducation at Chicago University Proves Unsatisfactory.

After ten years' trial of coeducation in the Chicago university President W. R. Harper favors a separation of the sexes. He is of the opinion that the best results are not obtained by training young men and young women in the same classes and in the same environment. He is moving to bring about a separation of the sexes.

Years of observation have convinced Dr. Harper that healthy young men and women cannot meet in classes and on the campus without heart and sentiment obliterating the academic.

Dr. Harper has observed that in everyday life the Yale, Harvard or Princeton man stands better and does better than the "coed man." Mr. Rockefeller is of the same opinion as Dr. Harper. He believes in a university for the greatest good, but wants man paramount.

The gifts received by the University of Chicago since it was founded now aggregate over $16,000,000, of which $11,000,000 has been given by John D. Rockefeller.

What Borax Is.

One of the most desirable articles in the laundry or the washroom and valuable in many purposes connected with the household economy as well as in scientific use is the simple salt known to every one under the name of borax, but probably not much known as to its constituent elements or its nature by most of those who use it more or less frequently. Biborate of sodium, to use its chemical name, first comes as a natural product from Tibet by way of India under the name of tincal, the salt being covered with a green crust of a soapy nature which requires removal before the borax is available for use.

Medicinal Properties of Cabbage.

In olden times cabbage was supposed to be endowed with marvelous medicinal virtues. Among other things, it was considered as being the only radical cure for drunkenness. Cato, writing of the cabbage, said: "By the use of the cabbage alone Rome has done without physicians for 600 years."

The English Cook.

According to the Lancet, the average English cook "utterly declines to weigh materials for cooking; she will not roast meat, but prefers to put it in the oven, or if as a great favor she puts it in front of the fire, she is too lazy to baste it or to put a screen round it."

Cooking Ham.

Ham is frequently too salt to fry without previous preparation. Put the slices in tepid water and let them stand on the back of the range to soak out the salt, not to boil, for about half an hour. Drain dry between towels, then fry in a hot spider.

When a whole ham is to be baked or boiled, let it stand overnight covered with cold water.

FOURTEEN DROWNED.

Sudden Squall Capsized a Sailboat Near Portsmouth, N. H.

2 WERE ATTEMPTING RESCUES.

Three Out of Seventeen In the Boat Were Saved—Most of the Women Victims Were School Teachers. Nearly All Waiters and Waitresses.

Portsmouth, N. H., July 18.—A 19-foot whaleboat, containing 16 waiters and waitresses, employed at the Oceanic house, Star Island, Isle of Shoals, who had gone out in the bay yesterday afternoon on a pleasure trip in charge of Skipper Fred Miles, was capsized during a sudden squall and 14 of the occupants were drowned. The other three, including the skipper, were rescued by fishermen, who put out from the shore in their dories.

The bodies of five had not yet been recovered last night. All the others were taken from the water by fishermen and then to the island, where they were worked over for a long time by two doctors, bu twithout success.

Two of the drowned were law students at Harvard university, rooming at Forsyth hall. Both were good swimmers, and lost their lives in trying to rescue the others.

The victims were all young people, whose ages would not average over 20 years. Most of the Massachusetts girls were school teachers, who have passed their summer vacations here for several years in serving as waitresses in the hotel.

ODD FELLOWS OPEN HOME.

Thousands of Members Visit Grove City, Pa., For Dedication.

Grove City, Pa., July 18.—Between 25,000 and 30,000 people came to this city yesterday from all parts of Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia to take part in the opening of the new Odd Fellows home.

The program was opened by the ringing of "America" by the entire assemblage. The invocation was then made by the grand chaplain of Pennsylvania, Rev. William S. Neill. An address was made by Edwin Ritter, grand master of state grand lodge. The keys of the institution were then presented by the board of directors to the grand master of the grand lodge and officers.

The address of the day was made by Past Grand Master Wilson K. Mohr, of Allentown. The closing speech was made by Past Grand Master Chalfant, of Danville, Pa., followed by the benediction, pronounced by Chaplain Neill.

Following these services an informal flag raising was held. The children from the Ben Avon and Meadville homes were the donors of the flag, which was raised over the farm house now being used as the home. In the afternoon a general celebration was held. Many bands were in attendance from all over the state, and the afternoon was made lively with concerts and sports.

THE PARADE A SUCCESS.

Feature of Elks' Carnival at Beaver Falls Witnessed by Many.

Beaver Falls, Pa., July 18.—The industrial parade of the manufacturers and business men of Beaver Falls took place as a part of the Elks' carnival yesterday. It was a great success, requiring an hour to pass a given point. Fully 25,000 people witnessed it.

The floats and decorated vehicles were pretty, and many of them were of the most elaborate description. The fire departments of the different valley towns participated, and the burgess, councilmen and other city officials occupied a prominent position.

In the parade were the old soldiers and secret societies. Yesterday was the fourth day of the carnival, and thus far it has been a success. It closes Saturday.

BALTIMORE BASEBALL MUDDLE.

Franchise Forfeited—Enough Players to Play Today.

Baltimore, July 18.—According to the plan of Ban Johnson, president of the American league, the franchise of the Baltimore team was forfeited yesterday by its failure to have a team in position to play the St. Louis club. Under the by-laws all rights of Baltimore in that respect yesterday afternoon passed into the hands of the American league.

Mr. Johnson was in the city all day in consultation with stockholders of the club who have been friendly to the American league and is sanguine of successfully organizing a new company to place a team here. Outfielder Selbach has been made captain and enough players have been secured to insure a game today.

Man Lynched For Wife Murder.

Owensboro, Ky., July 18.—Josh Anderson was hanged by a mob early yesterday morning. He was taken from jail. Last Thursday night Anderson went to the home of his wife three miles below town, called her out, and shot her three times, instantly killing her.

FOR NATIONS' WAR ON TRUSTS.

Russia Said to Have Proposed a Conference—Sugar Bounties Principal Subject.

London, July 18.—Details of an important move by Russia, which have evidently been suppressed hitherto by the censor, have transpired in London. This move is no less than a proposal by the imperial government for an international conference to deal with trusts.

Baron de Staal, Russian ambassador in London, about 10 days ago presented to the British government a note from M. De Witt, the Russian minister of finance, which note was sent also to all the powers that signed the Brussels sugar convention, proposing that these powers should consider, in common, means to protect international commerce against the artificial depression of prices, not only by government measures, such as export bounties or the control of production, but also by much more dangerous processes adopted by trusts, private undertakings or cartels, which tend artificially to influence the international market.

This explains the mysterious reference made in the Financial Messenger, of St. Petersburg, early this week to a recent note of M. De Witt, which the paper said, "is an application, in the economic domain, of the principles of The Hague conference."

Further explanation by the paper shows that sugar bounties are the especial burden of Russia's desire for an agreement.

MRS. LATIMER HEARD.

QUESTIONED AS TO FRIENDSHIP FOR OTHER MEN.

Declared Husband Shot by Burglar. Witness Testified He Said It Wasn't Burglar.

New York, July 18.—The coroner's inquest into the death of Albert C. Latimer, who was shot in his bed room early on the morning of July 2 was begun yesterday in Brooklyn. Mrs. Sadie Latimer, the widow of the murdered man, was a witness. She declared that her husband was shot by a burglar.

District Attorney Clarke asked Mrs. Latimer if she had ever been in the company of W. H. Tuthill outside of her home. She replied that she met Mr. Tuthill on one occasion in New York, that he accompanied her to her home and that she told her husband about it. In reply to other questions she said she had never entertained a Mr. Elwell, whose home is in the rear of the Latimer house, in the absence of her husband.

C. R. Rich, who lives near the Latimers, said that when he went to the house on the night of the shooting Mrs. Latimer introduced him to a Mr. Tuthill. Mr. Latimer was placed on the bed, Tuthill helping in the work and then, according to the witness, Tuthill said to Mrs. Latimer, "Don't worry, he is all right."

Dr. Meagher, house surgeon at the hospital, where Latimer died, created a sensation when he said on the stand that the dying man exclaimed as he lay in bed on the third day: "The coward shot me in bed."

Miss Christine Russell, a nurse, testified that Latimer said: "A coward shot me in cold blood." Once, when Latimer's brother spoke about the search for the burglar, the wounded man said: "No burglar ever shot me."

Other witnesses gave damaging testimony.

Miss Margaret Vennig, niece of Mrs. Latimer, said she saw a man run from Mrs. Latimer's room and down the stairs. She was sure it was no one she had ever before seen.

FAILED TO FIGHT AMERICAN.

Captain Wester May Be Forced to Retire From Swedish Army.

Stockholm, Sweden, July 18.—A great sensation has been caused here in military circles by the conduct of Captain Arvid Wester, who, after challenging an American, William Casper, to fight a duel, failed to put in an appearance at the place selected for the encounter, yesterday morning.

Wester will be undoubtedly forced to retire from the army.

JUST IN TIME

Mr. B. L. Updegraff, of No. 169 Fifth street, East Liverpool, O., says: "As a general and nerve tonic I can recommend Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills I got at Larkins' drug store. I was at the time feeling run down and nervous, not up to the mark in health, and needed a tonic. The medicine did its work nicely and I regained tone, strength and energy again."

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills are sold at 50 cents a box at dealers or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Company Buffalo, N. Y. See that portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M. D., are on every package.

AN EASY VICTORY.

How an Obstinate English Lord Was Outwitted In Naples.

Lord Charles Hamilton used to go about Naples attended by a large, ferocious bulldog. Having decided upon going to Rome, he proceeded to the station and took his place in a first class carriage, the "dawg" taking up a position on a seat opposite his master. The platform inspector, with many gesticulations, declared that the bulldog should not travel in a passenger carriage.

"Very well, then; take him out," was Lord Charles' rejoinder.

In vain the official expostulated. He merely reiterated his former reply, a piece of advice it is needless to say which was not followed, and Lord Charles, apparently master of the situation, threw himself back in his seat and calmly lighted a cigar.

But the Italians were not to be outdone, and, quietly detaching the carriage in which the English "milor" was seated, they made up the train with another compartment and started it off.

Lord Charles sat quietly smoking for about a quarter of an hour and then surprised at the delay, thrust his head out of the window and demanded when the train was going to start. His feelings when the situation was described to him may be imagined.—London Tit-Bits.

Subduing a Bully.

An experience on a Siberian train related by a writer in a Vladivostok paper reminds one of the early stage coach days beyond the Mississippi and seems even more violent because the participants in the adventure were not rough plainsmen and mountaineers but a lady and a nobleman.

When the train pulled up at Tsitikar in Manchuria, a Mantchoo noble who had bullied all his fellow passengers alighted at the station restaurant after warning them that he would decapitate any of them who took his seat. During his absence a smartly dressed young Russian lady entered the car and, despite the alarmed expostulations of its occupants, calmly appropriated the seat.

When the noble returned, he flew into a passion and advanced threateningly with his curved saber drawn. But the young woman coolly covered him with a shining revolver.

"Do you take us for a pack of cowardly mandarins?" she exclaimed, and then, pointing to her feet, she remarked, "Here is your place, my hero."

The Mantchoo noble surrendered and sat at her feet for the rest of the journey.

Books and English Spelling.

Most people think when they see a book that has the English spelling—the "u" in "honor" and "odor," the "ise" for "ize," etc.—that the types were set up and the plates made in England, but as a matter of fact most important books that are written by English authors are set up in this country. When an important writer is to bring out a new volume, an arrangement is made for its simultaneous publication on both sides of the water. The manuscript is then sent to the American publisher, who gives it to his compositors marked "English spelling," and it is set up in that manner quite as accurately here as any London compositor would do it. After the plates have been made they are sent to England. This roundabout method of simultaneous publication is due to the intricacies of the copyright law.—Philadelphia Record.

Making It Simple.

The scholarly looking man with the big eyeglasses had been invited to address the Sunday school and was making a few remarks concerning the lesson.

"I see the word 'line' occurs here," he said. "Will some one give me a definition of 'line?'"

Nobody answered.

"It is very easy," he proceeded encouragingly, "though you may find it a little perplexing to convey the idea in simple terms. Try again. Well, the ordinary signification of the word is longitudinal extension, but here it denotes a predetermined boundary. I am sure, my young friends, you can remember that."—Chicago Tribune.

The Trouble With Poets.

"Trouble 'bout these here poets," said the Georgia farmer, "they none of 'em make good field hands."

"Ever tried 'em?"

"Of course. They're dead set ag'in plowin' for fear they'll hurt a wild flower, an' they won't beat an' swear at a mule for fear he's got a soul."

"That's strange."

New Bark In Trees.

It is not a new fact, but yet a remarkable one, that if a fruit tree—apple, pear or cherry—be stripped entirely of its bark in the second week in June a new surface of bark will immediately take the place of the older one. It is believed that the chief growth of deciduous trees in our part of the world takes place at midsummer.

A Terrible Death Punishment.

In England, during the reign of Henry VIII., the public mind became greatly excited through several cases of poisoning, and parliament enacted a law making boiling to death the penalty. This law was on the statute books about sixteen years. It was made retroactive, so as to take in a case that chiefly prompted its enactment—that of Richard Rosse, otherwise Coke, the bishop of Rochester's cook, who poisoned seventeen persons, two of whom died. Coke was boiled at Rochester. The infliction was attended with peculiar cruelty, as Coke was put into a cauldron of cold water and gradually cooked to death.

A few years later, in March, 1542, a young woman named Margaret Davy was punished in a similar way on conviction of poisoning. The public were not satisfied as to her guilt, and, notwithstanding the comparatively slow travel of news in those days, the story of Margaret Davy's trial and punishment soon spread through the kingdom and aroused universal horror. Boiling to death remained on the statute books, however, as long as Henry reigned, perhaps because the monarch himself had a dread of being poisoned. Immediately after his death parliament repealed the law.

Sparing Her Feelings.

"You don't write," the treasurer of the savings bank said gently to the old colored woman. "Just touch the pen." She did so, her business was concluded and her feelings were spared. The official might have said, "You can't write," and that would have been true, but the difference between plain truth and considerate truth is sometimes as marked as the distinction between a boor and a gentleman.—Youth's Companion.

NO GENERAL STRIKE.

None, If Voice and Influence of President Mitchell Shall Prevail.

CHANCES OF STRIKING REMOTE.

In a Speech, at Indianapolis Convention, the President Urged That Bituminous Men Continue Work and Assessments Be Levied.

Indianapolis, July 18.—If the voice and influence of President Mitchell, of the United Mine Workers, shall prevail with the members of his organization, there will be no general strike of the organization. The chances of such a step being taken now are very remote. In his speech in the convention yesterday afternoon Mr. Mitchell advised strongly against a strike and urged that the bituminous miners continue at work, and that a system of assessment upon the members of the order, which he outlined, be carried into effect as the best means of affording aid and support to the striking anthracite men in the east.

TOMLINSON HALL.

[Where miners convention is to be held.]

Might Have Ended Convention Then.

His recommendation, if it had been adopted by the convention yesterday afternoon, would have settled the entire question for which the convention was called, and an immediate adjournment would have followed. A motion to adopt the suggestions of President Mitchell provoked a long debate, in which the general sentiment was against the ordering of the strike. The men from the anthracite region finally made a request that they be allowed to hold a caucus to determine upon an expression of opinion as to what they thought the convention should do, and asked an adjournment of the convention for this purpose. Their request was granted and the adjournment taken.

Those Favoring Strike In Minority.

The men who were in favor of a strike were in a decided minority in the convention. Three speeches were made by members of the anthracite districts, asking that the soft coal men walk out, and twice as many were made by the anthracite men urging the soft coal men to continue at work.

TRACY ESCAPED AGAIN.

Posse Arrived Too Late—Chase From One Point Abandoned.

Black Diamond, Wyo., July 18.—Tracy has escaped again. He has eluded the sheriff of King county and many picked men, who had advanced on his hiding place, three miles from here, Wednesday night. The posse arrived at Tracy's hiding place six or eight hours after he had left. He had taken a rowboat and gone to the east end of Sawyer lake, presumably about 2 o'clock yesterday morning, accompanied by his two confederates. Sheriff Cudihee and the posse returned to Black Diamond yesterday afternoon. The chase from this point has been abandoned.

Lieut. McKinley to Go to Germany.

Washington, July 18.—The three general officers who will represent the United States army at the autumn manoeuvres of the German army have selected their aides as follows: Major General Corbin will have Lieutenant Colonel John A. Johnston, of the adjutant general's department; Major General Young will have First Lieutenant James F. McKinley, Fourteenth cavalry, a nephew of President McKinley, and Brigadier General Wood will have First Lieutenant Frank R. McCoy, Tenth cavalry.

Considered Glenn Court Martial.

Washington, July 18.—Secretary Root yesterday considered the verdict and findings in the case of Major Edwin F. Glenn, tried by court martial at Manila, on charges (growing out of the investigation by the senate committee on military affairs) that he ordered the water cure administered to natives. The trial was ordered by the president and the case is now being made up by the secretary of war to be sent to the president for final review.

To Arrange Republic Wage Scale.

Columbus, O., January 18.—President T. J. Shaffer and the vice president of the Ninth district of the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Tin Workers met here yesterday, with officials of the Republic Iron and Steel company and the Tennessee Coal and Iron company, to arrange a scale and foot notes for plate mills. The vice presidents were to discuss decisions relative to contentions at various mills, so that future decisions will be uniform.

AN INCREASE IN DEALINGS.

Fairly Crossed the Million Share Mark, In Stock Market Thursday.

New York, July 18.—The aggregate sales of stocks yesterday showed a further increase in the volume of dealings, which fairly crossed the million share mark.

Some of Wednesday's conspicuous low priced stocks were acutely affected by profit taking. This was notably true of the Chicago and Alton stocks. The evidence of profit taking in these and the sudden relapse of over two points in Colorado Fuel after a four-point advance had a decidedly chilling effect and put a sudden stop to the activity of the market, leaving it at a level which fairly averaged below Wednesday night.

The check thus brought about to the animation of the market was changed again by the heavy demand developed for the Reading stocks and the coalers. This demand was undoubtedly based upon the assumption that the coal miners' convention will decide against a general strike. Late in the day Chesapeake and Ohio renewed its strong advance to the extent of 2⅞, but without checking the selling to realize at other points and making the closing irregular.

King Made Rapid Improvement.

London, July 18.—Since his removal to Cowes the improvement of the king has been so rapid that his physicians have ordered a more liberal diet for his majesty. The fleet has been ordered to assemble at Spithead, Aug. 11, for the purpose of a review being held a few days subsequently by the king.

FEEHAN'S BODY RESTS.

CARDINAL GIBBONS OFFICIATED,

At the Solemn Pontifical Requiem Which Was Conducted by Bishop Spalding—The Remains Viewed by Crowd Estimated at 75,000.

Chicago, July 18.—With much pomp and imposing ceremony and in the presence of the cardinal of the church and a great gathering of ecclesiastical dignitaries, the last rites of the Roman Catholic service for the dead were performed for Archbishop Patrick A. Feehan yesterday at the Cathedral of the Holy Name. Early in the day a series of masses was begun by the numerous visiting priests, ending in the great pontifical requiem mass.

During the funeral service crowds thronged the streets in the vicinity of the cathedral, which was filled to overflowing by members of the clergy and a favored few of the laity. Cardinal Gibbons, with his deacons, officiated at the solemn pontifical requiem, which was conducted by Bishop John Lancaster Spalding, of Peoria. Archbishop Ryan, of Philadelphia, delivered the funeral sermon. After the mass Cardinal Gibbons pronounced absolution. The body of the dead churchman was then borne to a vault in Cavalry cemetery, whence it will be removed later to its last resting place in the new cemetery of Mount Carmel.

The funeral cortege was probably one of the grandest and most imposing that ever passed through the streets of this city. It was estimated that 75,000 people viewed the body yesterday.

TWO SISTERS OF CHARITY SHOT.

Man, Believed Demented, Said Asylum Authorities Wouldn't Give Him Information of His Birth.

New York, July 18.—Henry F. King, 30 years old, entered the office of the New York Foundling asylum yesterday afternoon and shot two Sisters of Charity. He then ran into the grounds of the institution and shot himself in the left breast, making only a flesh wound. King was taken to a police court, where he was committed without bail for examination Saturday. The injured Sisters are: Sister Angelo, 45 years old, shot in the right arm, and Sister Cecilia, 30 years old, shot in the left arm and side. Neither was fatally hurt.

King, who has been a frequent visitor to the foundling asylum, is believed to be demented. He suffered for some time from melancholia, according to the police, and on May 7 was arrested in the yards of the institution after he had attempted to commit suicide by taking carbolic acid.

When he was arraigned King said he had begged the authorities of the foundling asylum to give him information about his birth, but that they had refused to do so. This so angered him, he said, that he did not know what he was doing.

FOR REPLY TO TAFT.

Commission of Cardinals Is Convened to Consider One.

Rome, July 18.—After the pope had read the last American note on the subject of the friars and their lands in the Philippines, Cardinal Rampolla papal secretary of state, convened the commission of cardinals to consider a reply. So far no answer has reached Judge Taft, though in a personal letter to Cardinal Rampolla, Judge Taft said:

"As the document from Secretary Root is conclusive, and as I wish to leave Rome as soon as possible, I beg your eminence to secure me and the gentlemen accompanying me a fare well audience as early as his holiness will deign to grant it."

President to Decide Bragg's Fate.

Washington, July 18.—The first official step has been taken in the case of General Bragg, United States consul general at Havana. The state department has heard from Mr. Squiers our minister to Cuba, on this subject and also has heard indirectly from General Bragg. It is understood that the general takes the ground that this is a purely personal matter and that he is not therefore open to official criticism. An extract of a letter to his wife, in which he criticized the Cubans, was published recently. The papers in the case were sent to the president for a decision.

Former Legislator Placed on Trial.

St. Louis, July 18.—Harry A. Faulkner, former member of the House of Delegates, was brought to trial, yesterday, in the circuit court on the charge of perjury in connection with suburban railway legislation.

relieves neuralgic and other nervous pains. It relieves them quickly. It is absolutely harmless. By quieting the nerves, it removes the cause of all nervous diseases. When your head feels as if thousands of pins were sticking in it, when your night's rest is broken by those awful neuralgic pains, when, on account of your awful suffering, you become morose and cross, when you are tired of your very existence, when, in short, you are in the grasp of that fiendish disease, Neuralgia, buy a box of Neuralgyline. Take one pellet. Twenty minutes after you have taken it, your pains will have vanished as if by magic. You only have yourself to blame now if you continue to have Neuralgic pains, for Neuralgyline relieves pain permanently.

TESTIMONIALS.—Every sale of Neuralgyline insures a satisfied customer, who by telling of its merits, makes new customers. Mr. E. PELL, Druggist, Canton, Ohio.

I recommend Neuralgyline as a permanent cure for Neuralgia and neuralgic headache. W. SCOTT, M. P., Ormond, Florida.
